Tribune Arranges Week's Racing for Charity

EXTRA MEETING TO START NOV. 2 IN SPORTSMAN'S

Three Big Agencies Will Benefit.

BY ARCH WARD.

Chicago's horse racing season, scheduled to end Oct. 31, will be extended one week at the request of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

The special meeting will be conducted at Sportsman's Park from Nov. 2 to Nov. 7, inclusive, and all profits from the six day program will be contributed to Chicago Tribune Charities. THE TRIBUNE, in turn, will donate the money to various Chicago charities—United Charities, Catholic Charities, and Jewish Charities—to reimburse them for the revenue they normally receive from the All-Star football game.

The extra week of racing has been approved by the Illinois racing commission, by Gov. Dwight H. Green, and by Attorney General George F. Barrett. Executives of Sportsman's Park have promised their full coöperation in guaranteeing the same caliber racing as will be offered in their regular meeting, which will end on Oct. 31.

Formerly Aided by Games.

Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., divided all profits of the All-Star game equally among the United Charities, Catholic Charities, and Jewish Charities of Chicago from the inception of the event in 1934 thru the 1941 contest. The sum totaled $244,285.69. The net proceeds of this year's contest, played before 101,100 at Soldiers' field Aug. 28, will be given to Army Emergency Relief and Navy Relief. The donation is expected to exceed $155,000. Army Emergency Relief already has been presented with a check for $111,600, the revenue from distribution of 50 yard line tickets.

Last year the three Chicago charities received $12,544.81 each from the All-Star game. Racing officials predict that the sum which will accrue to Tribune Charities from the special program at Sportsman's Park will far exceed that figure. Estimates of profits range from $50,000 to $100,000. Chicago Tribune Charities reserves the right to aid other charity groups, if the revenue from the extra week of racing should amount to more than $37,634.43, the sum which last year was donated to the United, Catholic, and Jewish Charities.

Attorney General's Opinion.

THE TRIBUNE on Sept. 15 directed its application for a week of charity racing to Maj. Ednyfed H. Williams, chairman of the Illinois racing commission. Maj. Williams, who personally indorsed the request, asked an opinion from Attorney General Barrett as to the legality of the proposed extension of the season. This was the attorney general's answer:

"When our nation is at war all of its resources are taxed to the utmost. The facilities of industry, labor, and government are utilized to the extent of their capacities. In direct proportion to the additional burdens placed upon labor, industry, and government increased demands are made upon charitable organizations created for the purpose of relieving suffering.

"The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., is to be commended for its proposal of a plan which will enable the United, Catholic, and Jewish Charities to carry out their full program of charitable work.

Called "Laudable Endeavor."

"I consider the proposed plan of Chicago Tribune Charities, its acceptance by the National Jockey club, and the desire on the part of the Illinois racing board to authorize the same an extremely laudable endeavor for the relief of suffering among the poor and needy of Chicago and its environs.

"In view of the high and unselfish purpose of the proposed plan I have made an examination of the statutes with reference to the powers and duties of the Illinois racing board.

"You are hereby advised that it is my opinion that the Illinois racing board is empowered by law to grant a license to the National Jockey club upon application therefor to conduct the special six day meeting which is contemplated.

"You are hereby advised that under

NEW DEAL SEEKS COMPROMISE ON FARM PRICE BILL

Ready to Base Parity on Labor Costs.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Charts on page 12.)

Sen. Brown.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—A compromise amendment taking into consideration farm labor costs in the establishment of farm price ceilings was proposed by senate administration leaders today in an effort to avert a "collision" between the President and the congress of the United States. The senate adjourned without acting on the proposal.

Sen. Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.], manager of the administration's price control bill, gravely warned the senate that the two coordinate branches of the government are "headed for a collision" at a time when the need for national unity is imperative.

The Michigan senator asserted that "men who repeatedly have stood on platforms and said 'I am going down the line with the President of the United States' today are joining in giving him the greatest jolt that any President of the United States ever has received in a time of stress, turmoil, and trouble."

Adds Billions to Food Bill.

This statement referred to senators and representatives who are supporting a proposal by Sen. Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.] to include "all farm labor" costs in the computation of parity for maximum farm prices. The new parity formula, which would permit farm prices to rise 12 per cent above existing parity levels and add an estimated 3½ billion dollars to the nation's food bill, was adopted yesterday by the house of representatives by a vote of 205 to 172.

Facing certain defeat by perhaps an even greater majority in the senate, administration leaders offered a compromise today which appealed to some farm state senators. Some of them pronounced it a substantial victory for the farmers.

Notwithstanding an adverse vote of 13 to 0 by the agriculture committee, which held a special meeting to consider the new proposal, well informed members of the senate believe that something like it will be adopted tomorrow, or perhaps next week if a vote is not reached tomorrow.

Provisions of Compromise.

The compromise formula, based on language originally suggested by Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] and Sen. Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.], provides that "modifications shall be made in maximum prices established for any agricultural commodity and for commodities processed or manufactured in whole or substantial part from any agricultural commodity . . . where by reason of increased labor or other costs to the producers of such agricultural commodity the maximum prices so established will not reflect such increased costs."

Proponents of the amendment insisted that it is sufficiently mandatory in its phraseology to make certain that maximum price ceilings for farm products will take into consideration the farmer's increased labor costs, attributable to the draft and the competition of war industries.

Indorsed by Vandenberg.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] told the senate that the language "specifically, consistently, and in a mandatory fashion requires that the farmer's increased cost of labor shall be recognized in price controls."

"So when I vote against the Thomas amendment—as I intend to do, because I do not believe this is any time to rewrite the parity formula—I shall not be voting against a full recognition of the farmer's

SPAT OVER RENT GOES UP AND UP

Develops Into Problem for U. S. Government.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

Robert Paul, a Lake Bluff war worker, had an arrangement with his landlord, Stefan Miutescu, an ice man. The arrangement worked for a year. Then, on Sept. 10, they had a row.

In the "old days" the quarrel might have been resolved amicably. If not, Miutescu might have gone to court and asked for the eviction of the Pauls from the second floor apartment on Railroad avenue in Lake Bluff.

As of today the spat became a matter for the federal government, which has assumed supervision of relationship between landlords and tenants. In fact, the quarrel between the Pauls and Miutescu has become the problem of a new federal agency—the rent division of the Office of Price Administration, headed by Leon Henderson.

Paul first took his case to the Waukegan branch of the federal rent office for the Chicago area. Oscar Soderquist, OPA supervising rent inspector for Lake county, listened for three hours.

Complains He Spanks Children.

Paul said the landlord had turned off the heat. Miutescu, who was a boarder with his tenant, groused about Mrs. Paul's cooking and the children's noisy play. Paul's wife, Virginia, complained that Miutescu spanked the children.

Paul said Miutescu shut off the gas, water, and electricity services. He denied that he locked Miutescu out of the house. Miutescu insisted he was forced to make his way to his second floor room by climbing a rickety ladder.

Unable to settle the matter, Soderquist called the Chicago office, which has 150 employés administering the rent control law, their salaries averaging more than $2,000 a year each. The enforcement staff consists of 10 lawyers, 9 investigators, and 10 stenographers.

Investigation Grind Begins.

In response to Soderquist's plea an investigator from the Chicago office went to Lake Bluff and interviewed the Paul family and Miutescu. The federal official spent hours at that task.

Back in Chicago the investigator prepared his report. A stenographer typed it. The report was read by the chief investigator and then by a rent attorney. There was a conference.

The rent office took notes and issued its ruling. Miutescu would have to restore the utilities. If he desires to evict the Pauls he can do so only if he petitions on the ground that he desires to occupy the apartment himself. If he does use this process he is prohibited from renting the apartment again for six months.

Hires Armored Car to File His Petition for Legislature

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Turbulence in the 2d legislative district on the west side was spotlighted yesterday by the arrival of an independent candidate for the legislature at the county clerk's office in a Brinks Express company armored truck. Out stepped the battered and bandaged opponent of State Representative James J. Adduci to file his petitions of candidacy a few minutes before the deadline.

Scott J. Vitell, 31 years old, handed sheets containing about 1,800 signatures to Daniel A. Carey, election clerk for County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. These were for the candidacies of Vitell, A. C. Cope, 37 North Paulina street, and Harry Teune, 1244 South Ashland avenue.

The political stew in Adduci's district, which includes parts of the "bloody 20th," the 25th, and 27th wards, has been boiling for about a year. In the November, 1941, judicial election physical clashes were reported between Adduci and William John Granata, 27th ward Republican committeeman.

Granata entered the April primary legislative race against Adduci despite the fact that he had been made the G. O. P. organization choice for nomination for Probate court clerk at $9,000 a year. Adduci beat him 11,377 to 7,574, while Granata won the county-wide nomination without trouble.

Recently it became known that Granata would support Vitell as an independent in continued efforts to unseat Adduci. Until this development Adduci and two Democrats had had a clear field for reëlection to the three house seats.

At the Riverview park Republican picnic Sept. 13, Vitell said yesterday, Rep. Adduci and others pummeled him. No complaint was made to police.

Last Monday afternoon, Vitell said, Adduci and two other men sauntered into the office of the Chicago election board and warned him and his helpers to halt work on the independent petitions.

Late that night Vitell was clubbed with a baseball bat and billiard cue as he entered the vestibule of the home of Rep. Peter C. Granata, brother of William, at 771 Arthington street. Taken to Mother Cabrini hospital, he first told Maxwell street police he did not recognize his two assailants.

"Adduci's program is a reign of terror," said W. J. Granata, who holds a $5,000 a year job as member of the state industrial commission. "We have no killers or sluggers to match his gang, and we don't want any."

Out for Sheriff

A Polish radio program comedian, Ted [Bartek Bieda] Kantor, surprised and displeased the Democratic organization yesterday when he delivered petitions bearing 113,000 signatures to put him on the Nov. 3 ballot as an independent candidate for sheriff.

"The regular Democratic organization has promised the office of sheriff to a Pole for 10 years, but never made good," Kantor said last night at his tavern and restaurant at 6845 Milwaukee avenue. "I'm absolutely serious about this, and I'm going to get a quarter of a million votes."

3 Belgian Leaders Escape, Join Government in Britain

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Three prominent Belgian politicians at the time of the German invasion—Antoine Delfosse, communications minister, Auguste de Schrijver, economic minister, and M. Balthazar, labor minister—have arrived in London after their escape from Belgium. Announcing their arrival, the Belgian government in exile said De Schrijver and Balthazar will leave soon for the United States and Canada. Delfosse has been given the portfolio of justice.

TELLS HORRORS OF CIVILIANS IN BESIEGED CITY

MOSCOW, Sept. 25 [Friday]—(AP).—"The sky flames above your head and the earth quivers under feet in Stalingrad," Konstantin Simonov, Russian author and newspaper man, wrote today in describing his visit to the besieged Volga river city.

"There is wreckage everywhere, and everywhere the choking smell of smoke and high explosives," he said. "On the river beach are the bodies of women and children killed by German bombs. The Stalingrad water front is a great patch of ruins.

"By night fresh soviet troops cross the river on barges and boats. The wounded are removed the same way.

Medical Service Difficult.

"The medical service is working under conditions of tremendous strain. Young nurses are crossing the perilous passage from east to west bank incessantly, running the gantlet of bombs and shells, and attending to the collection of wounded among the burning houses of the front line.

Civilians Burrow for Shelter.

"To some extent the center of the town still exists. A bakery still functions.

"Many civilians have been evacuated but it is impossible to remove all of them. Large numbers of human beings have burrowed like moles along the sides of a deep ditch, covering their earth dugouts with bits of charred boards, and stuffing the cracks with rags to protect children from the cold winds and rain.

50 Planes Downed

MOSCOW, Sept. 24.—Adm. E. K. Boddam-Whetham, commodore of a great convoy of British, Russian, and American ships which recently fought its way to Russian ports, disclosed today that between 50 and 60 enemy planes were destroyed in the eight day battle by British fighter planes and anti-aircraft guns. He said that no escort vessels were hit and that the convoy was never forced to scatter.

San Carlos, Cal., Sept. 24 (AP).—The terrible fury of continuous day and night German air attacks on a Russia bound convoy in the icy Arctic was described today by Second Mate John Cassin Dyer, U. S. N. R., home on leave.

The convoy was his first assignment after his previous ship was torpedoed and sunk in the Caribbean.

[Several times in recent months Germany has claimed the sinking of large numbers of allied ships in convoys en route to Russia. On July 7 Adolf Hitler's headquarters said that an American heavy cruiser and 28 allied merchantmen in a convoy of 38 had been sunk in Arctic waters between Spitzbergen and the Norwegian North cape. There was no confirmation of the German claim from any other source.]

Bombers, U-Boats Strike.

It was a big convoy, Dyer said, "and just off the coast on the other side thick fog set in." Whenever the fog cleared slightly the ships could see they were under observation by German Dornier planes. Finally after several days the sun broke out.

Immediately Stuka dive bombers and submarines struck simultaneously. Within a minute, two ships in the convoy had been put out of the fight, but in the ensuing 40 minute battle the convoy guns had sunk one sub and downed five planes. The next

MOSCOW, Sept. 25 [Friday]—(AP).—The Red army cracked German lines northwest of Stalingrad yesterday for the second time in 24 hours in an incredible burst of offensive power springing from the smoking depths of a still unconquered city beginning its 32d day and second month of siege.

[Reports reaching London said the Russians were making "a serious dent" in the German flank northwest of Stalingrad and that the Red army was plentifully supplied with tanks and artillery in its assault.]

The Red high command said these gains were slight, but it also reported that Russian boulevard bastions inside the battered city were still holding firmly under furious Nazi assaults reported to have cost the Germans approximately 12,000 men in five days and more than 150 tanks in two days.

Balk Nazi Attempts.

The midnight communique said seven German attempts to retake a hill site captured by the Russians northwest of the city on Wednesday failed with "heavy losses" for the invaders. Thirty-five German tanks were destroyed in this single series of assaults and a battalion of enemy infantry was wiped out.

In other sectors of the ruined city the Russians said two battalions [about 1,000 men] were annihilated by Russian mortar crews; another Red army unit wiped out 250 Germans and destroyed three Nazi tanks.

The amazing Russian defense of exposed Stalingrad found the Volga river warships still using their long range guns to cover important road junctions and rake German troop concentrations along the river bluffs.

Destroy 8 More German Guns.

The communique said these ships had destroyed eight more German guns and a large group of enemy troops in yesterday's fighting, and semiofficial front line dispatches said the Red marines thus far had suffered damage only to one armored speedboat.

Red marines were using these speedboats for disruptive river-land raids on German supply lines and artillery sites, the dispatches said.

The Russians emphasized that Stalingrad still was in peril because of the Germans' disregard of "colossal losses."

The Germans began their direct assault on the city on Aug. 25. They announced a penetration of the southern part of the city as long ago as Sept. 13, but the Russians first acknowledged fighting on the northwestern outskirts on Sept. 17.

Withdraw in Mozdok Area.

In the Mozdok area of the mid-Caucasus the Russians acknowledged a withdrawal from one populated place. Soviet gun crews were credited with destroying 12 Nazi tanks and a German cavalry company before that took place. The Germans presumably still are some 50 miles west of the Grozny oil fields.

Admit Strong Counterattacks.

BERLIN, Sept. 24 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German high command said today that "during the course of strong soviet counterattacks from the northern direction 34 soviet tanks were destroyed" in the battle for Stalingrad.

"Street fighting in Stalingrad is continuing with undiminished bitterness," the communique said. "The German air force again heavily bombed the supply lines of the soviets and the railway lines east and west of the lower Volga."

The Berlin radio quoted "competent quarters" as saying: "It is once more stressed that a general assault regardless of losses is deliberately avoided by the German high command, which prefers to take the city by a systematic gradual advance, altho the fall of the city may thus be delayed for some time."

Deeper inroads in the mountainous northwest Caucasus and along the valley of the Terek river, with the capture of Prishibskaya, also were reported by the communique.

CANNON DRAFTED TO SERVE NATION ON SCRAP FRONT

1,700 Building Managers Are Enlisted.

Old cannon were drafted for another war yesterday. Loop building managers, Girl Scouts, and the drug industry were enlisted in the scrap drive. Also, first scrap collection reports from salvage chairmen in Chicago communities were made to William L. McFetridge, Chicago metropolitan area salvage director.

Seven cannon weighing 15 tons came from the campus of the Morgan Park Military academy. Cadets helped load them on salvage trucks for their trip to the steel mills. Three of the weapons dated from the first World war. Of the others two were muzzle loaders of uncertain age.

The Great Lakes Naval Training station contributed a number of relics of other wars, among them eight Civil war naval guns, weapons captured in the Spanish-American and first World wars and naval gun depth charge throwers used in 1917.

Wardens Will Be Named.

Earle Schultz, civilian defense division chief for the downtown division, issued a bulletin to 1,700 loop building managers requesting that they appoint building salvage wardens and establish depots for scrap collections. He said the State Street Council and the Building Managers association have pledged their coöperation.

Mrs. Victor C. Milliken, chairman of the Girl Scouts defense activities committee, asserted that 9,000 girl Scouts will participate in the scrap collection drive.

The Chicago Drug and Chemical association was the first industrial group to start a campaign among its members. At a luncheon meeting in the Union League club, Harvey T. Hill, regional industrial salvage chief of the War Production board, told 80 members of the association of the need for scrap.

Report on Collections.

Thomas J. Gannon, salvage director of division six [north side] of the civilian defense organization reported the following scrap collections:

By community 16 [Clark-Devon district]—19,940 pounds of paper, 7,105 of iron, 1,177 of mixed metals, 3,575 of books and corrugated paperboard, 8,030 of tin and galvanized iron, 1,970 of rubber, 1,297 of rags, 7,350 of steel, and 5,914 of assorted materials. The report was made by Mrs. Hugh Scott, salvage chairman, and covered eight weeks.

By community six [west Lakeview district]—297 tons of scrap metal, 11 of rubber, 211 of paper, and six of rags. The report was made by Robert E. Jeske and covered three weeks.

Offers Complete Elevator.

An offer of an elevator with all equipment was made to McFetridge by Arthur Bernstein, owner of a building at 115 North Clark street, which is being remodeled. The availability of the scrap from the remodeled building was discovered by William Gallauer, captain for the block in which the building is located.

ADMITS PERJURY BEFORE JURY IN LEWD FILM QUIZ

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 24 (AP).—Screen Actor Lionel Atwill pleaded guilty to perjury charges today, acknowledging that he testified falsely before a federal grand jury that he never had possessed or exhibited lewd motion pictures.

The actor said he testified as he did in order to protect from embarrassment certain British friends of his who were visiting here at the time of his arrest. The alleged exhibition purportedly occurred in Atwill's Las Tunas home.

Atwill is at liberty on $1,000 bond pending a hearing for probation and passing of sentence Oct. 15.

More Contributions to the Scrap Pile

START FIVE DAY DRIVE TO BOND GOAL TOMORROW

Thousands of volunteer war bond salesmen will start tomorrow a "V-Days" campaign in an effort to meet the Illinois quota of $57,500,000 in war bond sales during September. The drive will continue five days.

Norman B. Collins, administrator of the Illinois War Savings staff, said that unless the "V-Days" campaign speeds up bond purchases the state will fail to meet its quota for the fourth consecutive month. Since last May sales have averaged about 10 per cent below the quotas, yet Illinois has come nearer to meeting its quotas than most states.

It was disclosed that the 9th naval district has qualified for the special naval honor flag for sales of war bonds. The flag is awarded where 90 per cent of naval employés devote at least 10 per cent of their earnings to war bond purchases. In the 9th district, consisting of 13 midwest states, 93.38 per cent of th' eemployés signed up for 11.56 per cent of their pay.

BOY, 11, COLLECTS 800,000 POUNDS OF SCRAP MATERIAL

Gueydan, La., Sept. 24 (AP).—Warren Breaux, who is 11 years old and weighs 72 pounds, has collected 800,000 pounds of scrap since April, which works out at 11,111 times his own weight.

Gueydan civilian defense officials are hailing the young sixth grade student as the national schoolboy scrap champion. His record has inspired the town's 2,000 residents, who already have dug up more than 2,000,000 pounds of scrap.

The lad spent his summer vacation collecting scrap, averaging 6,000 pounds daily. Now he is working before and after school. He has picked up $2,736 worth of scrap, most of which he discovered, collected, and paid for, handling his own accounts with a cigar box for a cash register.

Young Breaux's record is being cited to inspire 6,500 school children of Vermillion parish in the nationwide scrap drive.

Steal Gas Ration Books Covering 692,800 Gallons

Hillside, N. J., Sept. 24 [Special].—Police today disclosed the theft of 2,450 gasoline ration books with a total coupon content equivalent to 692,800 gallons of gasoline. The books were stolen from a steel cabinet in the office of the Hillside rationing board.

TELLS U. S. NEED OF FIVE MILLION WOMEN WORKERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Five million women not now employed must be trained and added to the nation's labor force by the end of 1943, Raymond Rubicam, special assistant to the chairman of the war man power commission, said today.

"For the most part this means housewives," Rubicam told the Advertising Club of Washington. "It is estimated one out of every three or four women over 14 must be at work by the end of 1943, either in war industry or in essential civilian industry or service."

He said that betwen July, 1942, and the end of 1943 the number of workers in direct war production must be increased by approximately 7½ million to a total of 20 million and the job of getting that number will be made more difficult because the armed services will be withdrawing several million men.

Col. O'Neill, Chanute Field Commander, Is Promoted

Rantoul, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP).—Chanute field officials announced today that Raymond E. O'Neill, commanding officier of the army air forces' technical training command school, had been promoted from colonel to brigadier general.

ARMY WILL USE CCC CAMPS FOR TRAINING WORK

Abandoned Civilian Conservation corps camps will be rehabilitated for use as army training centers, Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding general of the sixth service command, asserted yesterday.

The first step in this general program was the establishment of a military instructor training school at Camp Skokie Valley, near Glenview. He said other CCC camps will be utilized to train various specialists required by the army services of supply.

The Skokie Valley school will train officers of the military police of the regular army, officers and key enlisted men of the state guards, and officers and key men for plant protection assignments.

Major Says Nation Needs 200,000 Airplane Pilots

Maj. Floyd M. Showalter, army air examining board chief in Chicago, told 125 Evanston youths last night that the nation needs 200,000 plane pilots. He spoke at a rally sponsored by Evanston post of the American Legion at 1026 Central street, Evanston. Maj. Showalter said that those who enter the air service now will find careers open in the postwar expansion of aviation.

DOWNSTATE LAG IN REGISTRATION SPURS LEADERS

Both Parties Dissatisfied with Voters' Response.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24.—Downstate leaders of both parties today expressed dissatisfaction with the response to the new permanent registration law now in effect for the first time in all of Illinois. Cook county and nine downstate cities have been operating under it several years.

With only about 1,200,000 out of a prospective 2,124,000 now registered and the Oct. 6 deadline less than two weeks away, leaders and workers foresaw great difficulties in getting voters in rural districts on the books in time to cast ballots in the critical Nov. 3 election.

G. O. P. Rushes Special Drive.

So precarious is the situation considered that the Republicans, under the direction of Gov. Dwight H. Green, have set up a special committee and thrown between 5,000 and 10,000 workers into the field with orders to devote all their spare time to getting nonregistered voters on the lists.

This committee is headed by Ben L. Berve, chairman of the Republican state central committee, and Alfred F. Schupp of Joliet, downstate patronage dispenser for the Green administration. Members are George F. Barrett, attorney general, and Howard Leonard, state director of agriculture.

The Democrats have no comparable organization, but E. P. Allen, Democratic state chairman, said the county leaders have been urged repeatedly by letter and telegram to get the voters registered.

Predicts 85% G. O. P. Total.

Schupp, chairman of the Republican County Chairmen's association and co-chairman of the governor's special registration committee, said he believed the G. O. P. organization will get 85 to 90 per cent of the possible voters on the books by 9 p. m., Oct. 6, when registrations close.

However, he placed possible registration at only 1,800,000, instead of the 2,124,000 who voted in the 1940 election. He said:

"Somewhere between 8 and 15 per cent of those who voted in 1940 now are in the armed forces. I am putting the figure at 10 per cent. That would mean that we must get some 1,800,000 on the registration books if we expect the same vote comparably as in 1940.

Believes 1,250,000 Signed.

"I figure conservatively that we now have 1,250,000 registered, counting those on whom we have not yet received reports following last Saturday's general registration. That leaves 550,000 who are not yet registered and it is our job to get those in by Oct. 6, if possible."

Both Democratic and Republican leaders said they had appealed repeatedly on patriotic grounds to the voters who are failing to register, telling them that they must exercise the franchise in this important wartime election.

Stress Branch Registrations.

The general registrations are at the offices of the county clerks, but it has been pointed out constantly to prospective voters that they may register any time between now and Oct. 3, either at the county clerk's office or thru deputies appointed by the clerks to conduct registrations in branch offices.

Attorney General Barrett ruled on Aug. 24 that branch registrations are legal, and since then both Republicans and Democrats have been getting rural voters on the books thru them.

It is reported that in some counties deputies even have gone from house to house getting voters registered. In such cases the deputy, it is said, considers the registrant's home the "branch" in which he happens to be operating.

Both sides have charged that partisanship is at work in connection with such registrations—in fact, with all registrations. The Republicans have said the Democratic deputies are making certain to register only those who will vote their way . . . and vice versa.

Both Democrats and Republicans have said they were out to get the voters registered, no matter how they will vote, but the Republicans point out that there are Democratic county clerks in 40 southern counties. They are eyeing registration activities thruout the area with distrust. On the other hand, the Democratic county clerks have suggested that they are operating no differently than the Republican clerks in the big Republican upper counties.

RED PAY ROLLERS UNCHECKED, DIES TELLS CONGRESS

Texan Charges Biddle Is Ignoring Job Quiz.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee on un-American activities, replied today to recent smear attacks aimed at himself and his committee by high administration officials and organizations branded as subversive. He charged, among other things that the department of justice, headed by Attorney General Francis Biddle, has deliberately avoided reporting or taking any action against government employés belonging to organizations which the department itself regards as part of a communist front.

Dies gave the house the names of 19 pay rollers who are members of the Washington Committee for Democratic Action, a subsidiary of the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties. These organizations, he disclosed, were described by Biddle in a confidential memorandum recently as Communist controled and Communist dominated. Both groups have long been on the Dies committee blacklist, records show.

Discloses Source of Funds.

The broad shouldered Texan also introduced an amazing report showing that a large part of the funds with which Communist front organizations are financed are derived from the estate of a once well known New York lawyer. He was the late Louis Marshall, whose son, Robert, died within the last few years leaving an estate of $1,534,070, largely inherited from his father.

Under Robert Marshall's will, the report explained, one-half the estate was set aside for "the promotion and advancement of an economic system in the United States based upon the theory of production for use and not for profit." This money was used, the Dies committee found, to establish the Robert Marshall Foundation, which has been a contributor to various Communist dominated groups.

The report lists 16 of these organizations, including the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, with the amounts they have received since early in 1941.

$87,425 Paid Out.

Total contributions of $87,425 are shown, the two largest amounts having been $22,500 given to the Farmers Educational and Coöperative Union of America and $14,250 handed over to the Federation for Constitutional Liberties. The link between these and the other beneficiaries the report explains, is the American Peace Mobilization, remembered for picketing the White House in an attempt to prevent passage of war preparedness legislation.

Dies took the floor of the house on a question of personal privilege to answer attacks in a pamphlet distributed by the Federation for Constitutional Liberties. He spoke for an hour and a half and at the end received a stirring ovation from his colleagues.

He declared that attempts are being made to discredit the work of the committee on un-American activities by those "who desire a free hand to blacken congress, intimidate the people, and organize innumerable organizations to stir up racial and religious hates."

Branded by Biddle.

It was in replying to the smear by the federation that he disclosed that organization has been stigmatized by Biddle as Communist dominated, despite which the 19 federal employés who are members have retained their jobs. The majority of these were on the list of 1,121 pay rollers which the committee gave the department of justice months ago as being members of subversive organizations and worthy of inquiry by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Biddle reported to congress earlier this month that out of the Dies list only two employés had been dismissed for subversive activities. However, members of the house expressed wonderment today that those named by Dies as members of the Constitutional Liberties federation and the Washington Committee for Democratic Action, who were on the earlier list, had survived the investigation.

Kenneth Crawford, Washington correspondent for Marshall Field's little smear sheet, PM, is a member of both the federation and the Washington Committee for Democratic Action, it was learned. He is a member of the executive committee of the Union for Democratic Action, which has been denounced as the spearhead for the nation-wide smear campaign against congress and administration opponents.

Charges Mandate Ignored.

Biddle's report, which was regarded as a direct attack on the Dies committee, drew a scathing rebuke from the Texas congressman. He charged that the attorney general had ignored the mandate of congress and made a farce out of the $100,000 investigation which congress had ordered to be made.

He said only 601 employés out of the original list had actually been investigated, the justice department ruling that the other 520 were outside its jurisdiction. In many instances, he said the employers of various departments were themselves on the list and had urged those working under them to join the organizations.

Nevertheless, he continued, they were allowed to pass on the cases of the subordinates when the results of the Federal Bureau of Investigation inquiry were submitted to them. The only reports submitted to the attorney general were those of the department heads, who, according to Dies "were relieved of the embarassment" of passing on their own cases.

Could Have Forgotten Election.

"The attorney general had a wide field before him, a splendid opportunity to demonstrate whether or not he could forget the approaching elections and deal under the constitution fearlessly with all these groups and elements," Dies said.

Another cabinet officer who drew a sharp retort from the Texan was Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, whom he charged with slandering him in a recent article "with the venom which is characteristic of his whole makeup." The Ickes "slander," Dies observed, contributed nothing to the war effort or to national unity.

High Officials Listed.

In his list of the names of the federal employés now on the pay roll who belong to the Federation for Constitutional Liberties and the Washington Committee for Democratic Action, there was given the position each holds with the government and the salary paid by taxpayers that goes with it. Following is the list:

Hugh Miller, senior attorney for the bituminous coal division of the department of interior, $4,600.

Alice Barrows, specialist in school buildings for the Office of Education, $4,800.

Harry C. Lamberton, chief attorney for the Rural Electrification administration, $6,500.

Jay Deiss, senior editor writer in the radio and information service of the Federal Security agency, $4,600.

Milton V. Freeman, assistant solicitor for the Securities and Exchange commission, $6,500.

Woodrow J. Sandler, assistant attorney of the Nation Labor Relations board, $3,200, on military leave since Aug. 22, 1942.

Helen Watson, law clerk for the Reconstruction Finance corporation, $2,200.

Merle Vincent, director of hearings branch in the department of labor, $7,250.

Gardner Jackson, principal economist for the department of agriculture, $8,600.

Henry T. Hunt, special assistant to the general counsel of the Federal Works agency, $5,600.

A. C. Shire, director of the technical division of the Federal Public Housing authority, $7,500.

E. Franklin Frazieer, division of American Negro studies, $2,400.

CLINNIN SAYS RAIDS ON FRENCH COAST WASTE MAN POWER

Commando raids on the French coast are without value and a waste of man power, Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin told members of the Illinois-Eastern District convention of Kiwanis International yesterday in Hotel Sherman. He declared:

"It is my opinion that our strength should be concentrated in Australia. Our air forces and navy must blast the Jap navy, and forces and lines of communications while we systematically recapture the Dutch Indies, Philippines, Indo-China, and help the Chinese drive the Japs out of China. Let us whip the Japs and we shall be ready to help England and Russia. In the meanwhile, send our allies all the equipment we can spare."

The convention voted to meet next year in Danville. Harry Fulks of Peoria was elected district governor and P. C. Summerville of Bloomington district treasurer.

FIND 12 BODIES IN FIERY WRECK, HUNT 8 OTHERS

Majority Were Trapped in Sleeping Car.

Dickerson, Md., Sept. 24 (AP).—Toiling rescue crews tonight had removed 11 bodies from the twisted wreckage of two passenger trains and a fast freight in which 20 persons were believed to have died.

State police and railroad officials said nine of the twelve perished in a flaming Pullman car. Eight still were unaccounted for and feared dead, they said.

Meanwhile Magistrate William D. Clark of Montgomery county said that State Police Sergt. John J. Cassidy had sworn out a warrant charging that Raymond Rufus McClelland of Baltimore "did feloniously kill" J. M. Gilhart, identified as one of the victims. Clark said McClelland had been released under $3,000 bond for a hearing on Oct. 16 on the technical manslaughter charge.

Baltimore and Ohio railroad officials previously had said McClelland was the engineer of the Ambassador, one of the trains involved in the accident.

In the eerie light of spotlights and carbide lamps, wrecking crews attacked the Pullman, pulling it away bit by bit until the twisted hulk bore no resemblance to a railroad car.

Identification Impossible.

The entire area was encircled by rifle-bearing Maryland state guardsmen who challenged any one approaching the wreckage.

The bodies which had been taken from the wreckage were so badly burned that immediate identification was impossible.

The sleeper car carried most of the victims when the trains collided this morning in a gully along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks. One passenger express plowed into another and tossed the Pullman into a freight train which was roaring by on an adjoining track.

Wreckage of the three trains was jammed into a heap of crumpled steel in the narrow pass and fire from spilled fuel oil spread quickly thru the tangled mass.

Flames licked at the wreckage for more than six hours and water from firemen's hoses sizzled on the steel girders and plates as workers endeavored to cool the wreckage sufficiently to permit a search for bodies.

Nine Taken to Hospital.

Nine injured were taken to a hospital in Frederick, Md., and an undetermined number of others were treated at the scene.

The wreck occurred 35 miles northwest of Washington, D. C. Rail officials said it happened this way:

The Cleveland night express, which was bound for Washington, stopped to repair some engine trouble. A flagman was sent out and recalled when the trouble was fixed. Then, just as the Cleveland train was starting, the Ambassador, a passenger express from Detroit, Mich., also bound for Washington, came piling into the rear.

The Pullman was telescoped and set afire and the car ahead of it was damaged. The Diesel locomotive tipped over on its right side and burst into flames. Fifteen box cars of the freight jumped the track and some were wrecked, their cargo of steel piping being piled up like a log jam.

The baggage car on the Ambassador overturned and caught fire. Flames spread to débris of the freight cars.

Mechanic Tells of Rescue Efforts.

Fire trucks and ambulances and civilian defense medical units from nearby towns were sent to the scene, and a hospital train from Washington brought more medical help.

J. E. McCurdy of Pittsburgh, Pa., a mechanic, was on the engine which plowed into the Pullman.

"I picked myself up and crawled out a window to look for the others," he said. "I saw the engineer and fireman, and they were all right. We tried to get others out, but the wrecked freight started to burn and the fire spread. There was nothing we could do."

Sergeant's Twins

Sergt. Peter Harlib of the Town Hall police station was receiving congratulations yesterday on the birth to his wife of twin sons at the American hospital. The babies, both of whom weighed eight pounds, will be named Louis and Samuel. They were the first infants to occupy the hospital's new nursery, which was opened Wednesday. The Harlibs live at 850 Irving Park road.

Craft Burst Into Flames at 1,000 Feet; Crash.

Crash Victims Listed.

The dead were announced as:

Second Lieut. W. B. Shea, Kansas City, Mo.
Second Lieut. Robert T. Ross, Port Huron, Mich.
Second Lieut. D. J. Gibson, Valley City, N. D.
Second Lieut. William T. Owen, Magnolia, Ark.
John H. Cwik, Johnstown, Pa.
Robert E. Cote, Woonsocket, R. I.
Mathew Farrell Jr., Lynn, Mass.
Wilbur C. Harter, Delaware, O.

Shea was the pilot and Ross the bombardier instructor in one plane, with Cwik and Cote as students. The other craft was piloted by Gibson, with Owen as instructor and Farrell and Harter as students.

Dies as Plane Burns.

Newfoundland, N. J., Sept. 24 (AP).—An army pursuit plane carried its pilot to a flaming death when it crashed three miles northwest of here today in a wild section of northern New Jersey.

The pilot was identified by the eastern defense command as Second Lieut. Edward J. Schreiber, Rochester, Minn.

The flyer apparently was trying to set his falling plane down in the Clinton reservoir, but missed the water by feet and crashed into a boulder. The plane burned.

Exploding machine gun bullets and blazing gasoline made rescue of the pilot impossible.

Converting Your Heating Plant to Burn Coal?
Read This Important Message!

IF YOUR heating plant burns fuel that is rationed by government order and you are faced with the problem of converting it to burn coal, here is the way to get straightforward answers to your questions.

Simply telephone a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association—he will arrange for you to receive expert advice without charge to you.

Members of this Association have long been backed by an expert engineering service which enables them to send a qualified engineer to make a thorough examination of your heating plant, report regarding its condition and suggest to you the best steps to take to convert it to burn coal. He will also advise you as to the best type of coal to burn and show you how to increase the efficiency of your plant.

There is no Shortage of Coal

Most homeowners can store enough coal for an entire heating season, and coal is not only the least expensive form of heat, but, there is no shortage. There are, however, serious transportation problems. The nation's war needs must have first call on the railroads—already heavily burdened by the task of transporting weapons for Victory, and food and equipment for ourselves and our allies. So if you order enough coal to fill your coal bin—and keep it filled—and further, make arrangements to store all the additional coal you can find room for, you will not only be doing your part to help win Victory, but you will assure yourself of clean, even, economical heat in the cold days to come.

To find out whether or not the coal merchant you select is a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association Telephone STAte 9723.

ALLIED PATROLS CONTACT JAPS IN GUINEA JUNGLES

Air Force Blasts Bases; Bombs Ships.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Sept. 25 [Friday]—(AP).—Allied patrols have made contact with the enemy in the Owen Stanley mountains of New Guinea, a communique reported today, but the "general situation" in that area is unchanged.

The report of renewed activity in the mountain jungles thru which Japanese have advanced upon Port Moresby was the first in more than a week. There was no indication whether it presaged a large scale resumption of the enemy push southward against the big allied base.

Air Forces Press Attacks.

While the land fighting was reactivated, Gen. MacArthur's air forces continued to press their relentless attacks on Japanese centers behind the front in New Guinea and outlying islands.

Bombers probably sank a medium Japanese merchantman at Rabaul, New Britain, the high command said, while other allied planes bombed and strafed Buna and Kokoda on New Guinea, as well as Buka at the northern tip of the Solomon Islands.

Bomb Ship at Dilli.

Striking also toward the west for the first time in recent days, the allies raided Dilli in Portuguese Timor. There, the war report said, another Japanese cargo ship was bombed by a reconnaissance unit "with unknown results."

Seize 4,000 Rumanian Jews In Paris Raids, Say Nazis

BERLIN, Sept. 24 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—A Transocean news agency dispatch today said Paris police arrested some 4,000 Rumanian Jews last night—men and women alike—and searched all dwellings where Rumanian Jews lived. Most of those arrested were taken to an internment camp at Drancy. Other foreign Jews in occupied France had been rounded up starting three months ago, but action against the Rumanian Jews was delayed until the Rumanian government enacted a special law under which they could be arrested.

Offers Alaskan Film

The Rev. Bernard R. Hubbard.

The Rev. Bernard R. Hubbard, known as the "Glacier Priest," will appear at the Chicago Civic Opera house Wednesday evening, Oct. 7, with a new film called "Alaska, Our Arctic Fortress." Father Hubbard, who is head of the geological department of Santa Clara university, has spent many years in the exploration of Alaska from the Aleutians to the northernmost reaches of the peninsula. Father Hubbard is serving as civilian advisor to the army because of his extended knowledge of the topography of Alaska and the territory's weather and atmospheric conditions.

FIGHTING FRENCH FLAG FLIES OVER NAPOLEON TOMB

New York, Sept. 24 [Special].—The flag of "Fighting France" now flies over Napoleon's tomb and that portion of Britain's St. Helena Island which is French soil, because Georges Collins, caretaker of the site where the emperor died in exile, and his wife—the only two French citizens—could not be loyal to the Vichy government, the British radio said today.

According to the broadcast, Collins wrote to "Fighting French headquarters: "I cannot support the humiliation of being in direct contact with the government of traitors which tramples on the honor of France and the will of its people." A "Fighting French" ship called at the South Atlantic island and the tricolor with the cross of Lorraine, Gen. Charles de Gaulle's standard, was raised.

Napoleon died on St. Helena on May 5, 1821, and was buried on the island. His remains were removed to France in 1940 and placed in the Invalides in Paris.

FIRE ROUTS TWO ILL PERSONS.

Fire in the basement of their home at 2136 North Newland avenue yesterday forced Michael Felming, a retired police sergeant, and his grandson, Joseph Roberts, 11, to leave their sickbeds to escape the flames. Damage was estimated at $500.

U. S. DESTROYER VANISHES AFTER SOLOMONS FIGHT

Presumed Sunk by Japs; Transport Also Lost.

Lieut. Comm. W. W. Graham.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—The 1,500 ton destroyer Jarvis, with possibly 172 men aboard, has vanished in the southwest Pacific and is assumed to have been sunk by Japanese submarines or aircraft, the navy announced today, and the speedy auxiliary transport Little also has been lost. The casualty list of both vessels was believed to total about 250, since, in addition to the men who disappeared with the Jarvis, the navy said that approximately half of those on the Little died. The Jarvis' normal complement was 172 and the Little, a converted destroyer, usually carried 150 to 200 crew members and troops.

Both ships had been engaged in operations in the Solomon Islands offensive. Their destruction raised announced United States naval losses in that campaign to five ships sunk and five damaged, as against at least 22 Japanese vessels sunk or damaged.

Hit in Air Attack.

Before her disappearance, the Jarvis was hit during enemy air attacks off Guadalcanal Island. She set out for a repair base to the south. That was several weeks ago and somewhere en route she disappeared.

In the case of the Little, the navy reported only that she had been "sunk by the enemy in recent operations in the Solomon Islands area" and that about half of the personnel aboard were saved.

Previously it had been revealed that the destroyer Blue, the auxiliary transport Colhoun, and an unidentified cruiser had been sunk in the Solomons.

Both Skippers Lost.

Lieut. Comm. William Walter Graham Jr., 39 years old, of Phoenix, Ariz., skipper of the Jarvis, and Lieut. Comm. Gus B. Lofberg, also 39, of Santa Cruz, Cal., skipper of the Little, were both lost with their ships.

The Jarvis was a comparatively new vessel. Built at the navy yard at Puget Sound, Washington, she was launched in 1937 and commissioned later that same year. The Little was built as a destroyer during the first World war, being commissioned early in 1918. Until the armistice she served on escort and patrol duty in the war zone. In 1940 she was converted to an auxiliary transport.

CHICAGO FLYER SHOT DOWN OFF NEW GUINEA REACHES JUNGLE BASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lieut. G. E. Erb.

WITH UNITED STATES FORCES IN NEW GUINEA, Sept. 24.—Lieut. Gilbert E. Erb, 6329 South Kedzie avenue, Chicago, a member of the crew of a Flying Fortress which was shot down into the sea off the north coast of New Guinea Sept. 12, turned up today at a jungle base. Altho without food for several days, Erb seemed little the worse for his experience. Erb made his way to shore when his plane broke up upon hitting the water. In his walk thru the jungle he dodged several Japanese patrols. Five members of his crew still are missing.

HITLER EARNINGS ON MEIN KAMPF SEIZED FOR U. S.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Leo T. Crowley, alien property custodian, announced today his office had seized American copyrights covering Hitler's Mein Kampf and the royalty contract and license agreement governing American publication of the volume.

Crowley's office said that "about $30,000 in royalty payments due the author and his German publishers" had accumulated since the last payment was made Sept. 1, 1939. These royalties, together with those from future sales, will be credited to the alien property custodian.

NURSE SINGS 'OLD GRAY MARE'—ON HORSE MEAT DIET

Food Terrible on Bataan, Diary Reveals.

BY LIEUT. RUTH STRAUB.
As told to
MARCIA WINN.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

It was only desperation that enabled us to eat the food in Bataan. It was rice and salmon, rice and carabao, rice and horse meat, rice, rice, rice, sticky and unpalatable.

We were running low on everything except the invaluable sulfa drugs and anesthetics. Our quinine was almost gone, and before we left Bataan, 85 per cent of our nurses had had malaria.

It was strange to find ourselves turning to the boys for moral support. Their courage and hope was beautiful. They would lie there and never whimper or complain. [Ten words deleted by censor.]

Two Bombs at a Time.

They only had a few rickety old planes, but they took used car parts and made bomb racks for them. They would load two bombs into one of those crates, go up, drop the two on the Jap lines and come back for more, again and again, two at a time. It was heart-breaking.

Some of this is in the diary:

March 8—Three months ago today, the bombing of Clark field and our trip to Fort Stotsenburg. It seems a nightmare. I wish it had been. . . . Rain drenched the beds and all our things under the trees this afternoon. Now it is sticky. . . . Cases of malaria increase day by day. . . . Our newly converted medical ward is a mess. Have many Igorots. Try to make them understand by sign language. . . . Several new rumors: One that a convoy has arrived; the second that our fleet is waging a fight with the Japs somewhere between Guam and the Philippines. . . . Our quinine is running low. Wonder how much longer we'll be able to carry on.

* *

March 11—O, O! Dorothy Scholl [Ten words deleted by censor] dropped by to say that tomorrow we are to move into old buses. At least we won't float down the river when the rains come. . . . Bombing this a. m. Only danger was shrapnel which sang as it whizzed by us. . . . The song, "The Old Gray Mare," keeps buzzing thru my head. We had horse meat for supper. . . . A few pessimists say we'll be Jap captives after the rainy season. All this idle talk brings to mind MacArthur's speech at Quezon's inauguration back there in the tent outside the tunnel at Corregidor. Never will I forget [eight words deleted by censor] when he said, "God help these people." . . . I still think all will be well. Rome wasn't built in a day.

* *

Reads of Archy, Mehitabel.

March 12—Had a note from Lieut. McCann [a member of the signal corps] today. He's been a patient at Corregidor in a body cast since the war began. He's getting along beautifully. Poor kid, he surely went thru a lot and never whimpered a bit. Hope he'll be able to walk some day. . . . The food is becoming worse. Carabao stew [and bullets] for supper. . . . Last night a group of us got together and had coffee and toast. Later I read Mehitabel to the gang [Don Marquis' story of the adventures of the alley cat, Mehitabel, with Archy, the cockroach]. Where the copy came from no one knows.

* *

March 13—What next? This place now looks like a traveling circus. I'll never be able to understand how they managed to drive these "gay 90" buses into the jungle here. They are old Pambusco buses fitted with long wooden seats and chicken racks on top. We are to sleep in these. They are taking out the seats and putting three or four beds in a bus. The bus is jacked up to keep the animals away and save the tires, but the motors are intact so that we can drive away if the rains come. I had a sign painted for ours. We call it Shangri-La. . . . MacArthur and his staff left for Australia, and it is rumored he will be in command of the allied forces in the far east. The Australians contend they will take the offensive in the battle which is expected there before long.

* *

Hot but Dry.

March 14—We are cramped like sardines in our buses. Can't stand up in them, and it is hot as h——, but we are having protection from the rain. Malaria continues to claim the nurse corps. . . . We carry kerosene lamps painted blue thru the wards at night.

Today two Jap barges were sunk right out here in the bay. How our boys yelled and cheered at the direct hits of our guns!

* *

March 15—The ward is still busy. We now have several cases of cerebral malaria. Found worms in my oatmeal this morning. I shouldn't have objected because they had been sterilized in the cooking, and I was getting fresh meat with my breakfast food. . . . I'm still losing weight, and so are most of us. . . . I have only two pieces of underwear left. . . . Drugs are rapidly being used up. No new supplies have arrived. We need quinine terribly.

* *

March 18—We have two Igorot patients in the ward. One is illiterate. The other is a fairly intelligent betel chewer. When we told the latter he was going back to duty, he turned to me: "Mum, will you let me stay to take care of my uncivilized friend?"

Dine on Mine Sweeper.

Tonight we drove to Sisiman Cove, a lovely spot on the ocean beach, boarded a little life boat and went over to a volcanic cave fixed up into a hide-out. Later we boarded our little boat and went to the Pigeon, a naval mine sweeper, where we had dinner in the captain's salon.

* *

March 20—A little shelling from Corregidor today. Photo Joe [that was what we called the Jap observation plane] flew overhead and dropped propaganda leaflets. We didn't open fire. He was flying too high.

* *

March 22—Photo Joe appeared on the scene with anti-aircraft fire heavy on his tail just as the preacher had said: "Christ is up there in the heavens above us." . . . Jap planes fly so high our anti-aircraft doesn't reach them.

[The seventh instalment of Miss Straub's diary will appear in tomorrow's issue.]

Mrs. Roosevelt wearing suit dress purchased in New York yesterday.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—With the comment that "I find the new slim silhouette as complimentary to the woman as it is to the young girl," Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt selected a soft blue wool suit dress cut to conserve materials needed in the war effort at a New York store today. The suit dress has a simple gored skirt and the lined jacket has frog-effect embroidery at the three button holes. Mrs. Roosevelt selected a hat of stitched matching fabric and black accessories.

BRITISH WORK HARD, TALK LITTLE, SAYS NEW CONSUL GENERAL

People in Great Britain don't talk about the war much—they merely concentrate on their individual rôles in it, William H. Gallienne, who has just flown from England, said yesterday upon taking up his duties as consul general here. He asserted every Britisher is working from 60 to 80 hours a week and that in some aircraft factories 80 per cent of the workers are women.

W. H. Gallienne.

No one in Britain expects a short war and every one guards against loose talk because he is conscious of national security, Gallienne said. Members of the American expeditionary forces complained very little, he said, of their food and quarters in England, altho both are vastly inferior to those in the United States. He said voluntary rationing of alcoholic drinks has reduced drunkenness to a minimum.

Gallienne, who is 45 years old, has been vice consul at Marseilles [1918], at Algiers [1922], and at Chicago [1924], and consul at Santo Domingo, Los Angeles, Detroit, and in Guatemala and Honduras. He was one of the youngest British officers in the last World war.

NAVY AID TELLS U.S. TO REALIZE WE ARE LOSING

Calls on Nation to Stop Whistling in Graveyard.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, said today the nation should come to grips with reality by understanding that we are losing the war instead of whistling in a graveyard to keep from facing reality.

Bard told a convention of the Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America [CIO] that the warning that America could lose the war often had been made, but "we think of this as pure rhetoric, part of the old pep talk."

"How about, for a change, just saying that we are losing a war, and realizing that we damn well mean it?" he asked.

"Will Take All We've Got," He Says.

Bard emphasized the same point again at the conclusion of his prepared talk when, after reviewing what he considered to be the weaknesses of America's prosecution of the war, he declared that "at this point in the speech I should shift gears and wind up with predictions of a glorious finish of our uphill fight.

"But I am not going to do it," he continued. "We are still losing this war. It will take all we've got to win—what are you going to do about it?"

Bard said the nation was afflicted with an "insufferable and materialistic pride" which has blinded it to the desperate nature of Germany's fight.

Percentages Called Deceptive.

He said the nation is hampered by persons who, misled by "the amiable self-deception of using percentages" about munitions production, assume that "we can't lose the war."

The self-deception of percentages was a form of compensation developed after the blow to the national egotism at Pearl Harbor, Bard said, and meant that "if two tanks in a 10,000 tank program rumbled out of a factory where one had before, we gloated that production was up 100 per cent.

"We have been wrangling for months over a tax bill for 1942, which, in plain language, means that we have been fighting over who is going to pay how much for this catastrophe which has engulfed us," he asserted.

"The pressure of rival economic groups, each armed with unassailable statistics to show how much that group will suffer injustice if thus and so happens, has ebbed and flowed like the tides for 10 months. I fail to detect a spirit of sacrifice in these groups before congress.

"I see no fundamental grasp of our predicament in anti-union employers who sabotage production committees for fear that industry will be sovietized, nor in labor union leaders who examine the war with regard to their own puny fortunes.

ASSERTS JAPS SHOOT WOUNDED MEN GOING DOWN BY PARACHUTE

Maj. H. T. Wheless.

Maj. Hewitt T. Wheless, 28 year old air force hero, told a luncheon audience in the Union League club yesterday that he has seen Japs shoot down wounded allied pilots who had baled out and were dangling from parachutes.

Maj. Wheless beat off 18 swarming enemy Zero planes, downing 6 of them, when the Japs attacked his crippled Flying Fortress in an air battle near the Philippines shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The fight lasted 25 minutes and covered 75 miles. Wheless' radio operator was killed, his engineer lost his right hand, and one gunner was crippled. The remaining gunner, tho shot thru the hand, kept both side guns in operation with deadly results to the Japs.

When Wheless reached his base it was found that most of his controls had been shot away. His gas tank had been hit by both shell and machine gun fire, two engines and a wheel were smashed, and his radio and oxygen system had been put out of commission. Yet he set his ship down safely.

Australia Studies Heavy 'Black Market' Penalties

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 24 (AP).—Minimum penalties of three months' imprisonment for individuals and $50,000 fines for companies are proposed in a bill introduced in the Australian parliament today to curb "black market" dealings. All goods involved in transactions resulting in convictions would be forfeited to the crown under the proposed measure, which would be retroactive to February.

DUTCH GOVERNOR SAYS JAPS MUST BE HIT AT HOME

Holds Only Invasion Will Make Them Crack.

Dr. Charles O. van der Plas, a member of the Netherlands Extraordinary Advisory Council of London and governor of East Java until the Japanese invaded the province, predicted yesterday that only an invasion of Japan would cause the Japanese to "crack."

In an address before the Institute of Public Relations, 84 East Randolph street, Dr. van der Plas said the Indonesians were loyal to the cause of the united nations.

Jap Propaganda Fails.

"Japanese propaganda among them has completely failed by overstatement," he said. "The Indonesians always had the example of the Japanese activities in China before them. Prior to the invasion the Japanese assumed an overbearing manner toward the Javanese. They did not have the gift to make themselves trusted or beloved.

"In commercial transactions the Japanese always tried to squeeze the last drop of profit out of the natives. They demanded that every commercial transaction—shipping, wholesaling and retailing—be placed in the hands of Japanese, and they insisted on complete freedom of immigration, altho Java is already overpopulated with 918 inhabitants per square mile.

Seized Fishing Rights.

"Japan demanded that she create industries in Java which would destroy the small industries of the Javanese. She seized Javanese fishing rights, practically exterminating the fish. We found it necessary to shoot the Japs to make them quit fishing."

At 6:30 last evening Dr. van der Plas was interviewed by John Holbrook over station W-G-N.

BRITISH GENERAL FIRST TO FIRE GARAND; TEST YANK REPAIRED TANK

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 24 (AP).—Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Britain's middle east commander, became the first member of his forces today to fire the United States' Garand rifle and the first to make a test drive of a Gen. Grant tank repaired in American workshops in the desert. The tank itself was a first—the first out of the newly completed shops built by American forces.

Alexander, accompanied by Maj. Gen. Russell W. Maxwell, commander of American forces in this theater, was inspecting a vast new American ordnance depot and training center which is almost completed.

Bouncing along in jeeps thru rough desert, the British commander visited technical schools for small arms and artillery training, tank proving grounds, and the big new tank repair shop. "We have fine weapons here," Alexander said. "It's important we should know how to use them. That's the job the American technical schools are doing—teaching us to use them."

P. S.: The general scored five bull's-eyes with the Garand and wheeled the repaired tank around with impressive skill.

NOTABLES EXTOL SOVIETS AT HOME OF MILLIONAIRE

Davies Host for Word of U. S.-Red Congress.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—An audience of notables sat on a wooded knoll on a multimillionaire's estate today and heard the soviets' battle against the axis extolled by Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, a Supreme court justice and men in the senate and the house of representatives.

Luidmila Pavlichenko

The scene was the estate of Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to the U. S. S. R. and his wife, heiress to breakfast food millions. The occasion was the announcement of a two day congress of American-soviet friendship to culminate in Madison Square Garden in New York on Nov. 8 with a big rally.

The high point was the speech in Russian by Lieut. Luidmila Pavlichenko, 26 year old Red army sniper, credited with the death of 309 Germans. In uniform, her youth and earnestness brought her audience to its feet in tribute.

Lady Halifax Present.

In that audience were Lady Halifax, wife of the British ambassador; Mrs. Henry Wallace; Mrs. Cordell Hull, wife of the secretary of state; Mrs. Jesse Jones; Mrs. Thomas Connally, wife of the chairman of the senate foreign relations committee; Paul V. McNutt, man power administrator, and his wife, and numerous representatives of the capital's official and diplomatic set.

Vice President Wallace said he believed "we are over the hump altho the tangible evidence may not be evidence for some time yet." He predicted that the time is coming when the Germans will know in their heart of hearts that the jig is up.

'We'll Be Coming.'

Davies, in opening the program, said:

"The most decisive battle in all civilization is occurring at this moment—street by street—life by life—the fight goes on in Stalingrad." He added: "God helping us we'll be coming, fighting beside them for the freedom of the world."

Sen. Connally [D., Tex.] said he prayed to the God of battle—he could see the national cathedral on a nearby rise as he spoke and evening carols came thru the still air—that Napoleon's defeat of 130 years ago in Russia would be repeated.

Secretary of Commerce Jones related it had been his privilege to have had business dealings with the soviets and "I'm glad to say they've never been one day late in any commitment."

BRITISH READY TO MOVE SOUTH IN MADAGASCAR

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP). — British troops were ready to push on southward in Madagascar today after virtually completing conquest of the northern half of the island by the quiet occupation of Tananarive, the capital.

Lieut. Gen. Sir William Platt, head of the British East African command, announced that the last remaining garrisons west of Tananarive surrendered unconditionally yesterday. The Vichy government acknowledged Tananarive had fallen. Platt's communique also reported Antalaha, 200 miles south of Diego Suarez, on the northwest coast, was occupied early yesterday.

Local French officials who elected to continue under British military jurisdiction are remaining in office and the British announced that the French flag would continue to fly over British-occupied cites. They said British military control was necessary to prevent the axis using the island.

PLAN TWO DAYS OF TESTIMONIALS TO SOVIET PEOPLE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 [Special].—Plans for a two day congress of American-soviet friendship, to be held in New York and cities thruout the country, were announced today by Joseph E. Davies, former United States ambassador to Russia. It is designed as a testimonial by the people of this country to the people of the soviet union.

Discussion panels on the soviet people and their science, industry, labor, medicine, and arts will be led by government officials and experts in New York on Nov. 7. The congress will conclude with a massmeeting in Madison Square Garden at which Davies will preside as honorary chairman. Government leaders will speak.

NAZI BLITZKRIEG MEETS MASTER IN VOLGA RIVER

Germans Forced to Revert to Frontal Attack.

BY WIDE WORLD SERVICE.

When historians tell of the defense of Stalingrad chief credit, besides that to Russian valor, will go to Mother Volga, the great river that flows below the cliffs on which the blood bathed city stands. It is the shelter of her broad channel, bordering Stalingrad from north to south, that has balked Nazi striking power so long and forced Nazi reversion to the bloody business of frontal attack.

Elsewhere in this war except when it reached the North sea and English channel that Nazi juggernaut has relied on panzer [armored force] breakthrus to spread confusion and cripple communications far in the rear of the main objective, be it fort or city. Mother Volga has prevented that at Stalingrad.

Balks Blitzkrieg Pattern.

In Poland, Denmark, Norway, the Low Countries, France, and the Balkans the Nazi war technique has never varied. It was: Cut off, confuse, and capture. The German march across Russia saw that pattern develop time after time against other well defended river lines, against cities and against Russian armies in the field.

On the Volga at Stalingrad, however, that Nazi victory pattern has not availed. They could not surround the city. Tho it lacked natural defense terrain to the north, the west, and the south, it was and still is secure to the east.

Mother Volga offers more than a broad water hazard. East of the wide stream lie the islands of the Volga bend. They are low lying for the most part.

Inundated in Flood Season.

In the flood season, when the whole drainage flow of central Russia comes down the Volga, they are virtually submerged. Even in the dry season they are crisscrossed by minor channels, bordered by swamps.

There is no hamlet of any consequence east of the river in the vicinity of Stalingrad except the village of Krasnaya Sloboda, and almost no roads. The Volga islands are virtually uninhabited.

That the river is a tremendous obstacle to the Germans is further emphasized by Moscow reports that the Volga naval flotilla has joined in the conflict to shower Nazi attack lines with shell fire. Those gunboats or light cruisers deny the German claim of having choked off Volga traffic wholly by air attack even without capture of Stalingrad.

REDS PLY WILLKIE WITH QUESTIONS ON SECOND FRONT

Hands Roosevelt Note to Josef Stalin.

BY EDDY GILMORE.

MOSCOW, Sept. 24 (AP).—Wendell Willkie will take back to President Roosevelt a deep and disturbing impression of Russian dissatisfaction over the failure of the western allies to establish a second front in Europe.

That was obvious here today, after Willkie's audience in the Kremlin with Josef Stalin.

The President's emissary talked briefly to reporters about the disappointment and coolness he has noted among Russians everywhere on the matter of the second front.

"I feel it," he said, "and you must."

After seeing Stalin, and presenting to him a fat, square envelope containing Mr. Roosevelt's message, Willkie said nothing to indicate he did not discover disappointment, too, in the leader of the Russians.

To those Americans who have been working here since announcement was made of the Washington and London agreements on the "urgent tasks" of creating a second front in Europe in 1942, it is no secret that they have been getting cooler treatment from Russians, both officials and private citizens.

It may be a very, very cold winter in Moscow, and the weather will not be the only reason for the frigidity.

One learned Russian, who for several years has been lecturing on the United States and Britain, remarked: "Recently I have stopped talking on these two countries. My audiences ask me too many questions that I cannot answer. One of the foremost is why the United States and Britain cannot start a second front."

Talks with All Classes.

Willkie has talked to the highest officials of the government and with workers in the factories he visited. They all expressed appreciation for American and British aid, but, Willkie said, it was evident that the thing they really want is a second front. Unless one is created they are going to feel terribly let down.

More and more, there is outright criticism of the United States and Britain in Moscow—casual friends and bare acquaintances bring up the question of the second front and ask in no uncertain language why there isn't one.

Pictures in Soviet Press.

Willkie and those who accompanied him were surprised at this feeling. The German advance in the Caucasus and upon Stalingrad has been a hard blow for the Russian people, and they feel and say that they are shouldering the burden of the war against Adolf Hitler.

Report Stalingrad Women Drive Tanks Into Battle

New York, Sept. 24 [Special].—The British radio reported today that when the Germans were battling in the outskirts of the city women workers in a Stalingrad tank factory leaped into tanks still in the factory yard and drove them straight against the advancing Nazis. These tanks were said to have held the enemy back until nightfall, when Red army reënforcements arrived.

DESCRIBES FURY OF AIR ATTACK ON ARCTIC CONVOY

day there was another battle and the enemy was driven off.

The third day found the convoy under the midnight sun. "From 9:30 that morning to 10:30 p. m.," the mariner asserted, "the waves of Focke-Wulf high altitude bombers and torpedo planes came over hourly. . . . God, it was awful—ships going down, men swimming in icy water, ships burning and exploding. We had 28 hours at the guns without rest."

For the next three days there was more of the same. Just off the Russian coast, "a stick of bombs exploded right against the starboard side, below the water line. The dynamos went out of commission and the engineers in the blackness of the engine room were frantically trying to stay the inrush of water from several holes in the engine room bulges." The planes meanwhile had been beaten off, and finally the crew made such temporary repairs as enabled the ship to take its place with the convoy.

87 Raids in 20 Days.

Finally ships of the convoy made port. But, Dyer stated, during the 20 days the convoy was at anchor in the Russian port the city underwent 87 air raids.

On the homeward voyage there was an almost continuous general alarm.

"The night before we were to make a landfall [sighting of land]," he said, "there was a high wind and a heavy sea running. Terrific concussions shook our ship from stem to stern.

"Ships were being blown clear from the water by the explosions, often breaking into two or three pieces. Vessels were traveling in all directions to avoid collision with stricken ships. . . . The water was so cold that a man could expect to live only half an hour in it.

"There was a terrific explosion under our stern. Our gun, loaded and ready to fire, went off with the force of the explosion and was irreparably damaged. We got ready to abandon ship but found that, altho taking water, we were not in a desperate condition, so we put on full steam and got clear away in the fog. . . . I do not know what it was that we ran into. Personally I think it was a mine, perhaps laid from German subs ahead of us."

Silent on Nazi Claims.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The British admiralty withheld comment today on Adolf Hitler headquarters' latest claim that U-boats had sunk nine allied ships and damaged two others in a convoy homeward bound between Spitzbergen and Iceland to United States and British ports from Russia.

In some navy circles, however, it was said "there isn't any reason for believing these claims are any less exaggerated than the recent German ones have proved to be." The German version did not say when the supposedly new convoy clash occurred, but related it lasted for days. Three destroyers, five cargo vessels, and either one auxiliary cruiser or corvette were sunk, the Nazis asserted.

Going Hitler's headquarters one better, the Berlin radio said today that, in addition U-boats had sunk 19 allied ships totaling 125,000 tons in the last 24 hours in the Atlantic, the Caribbean, and off the African and North American coasts.

2 MORE VESSELS SUNK BY U-BOATS IN U. S. WATERS

have sunk two more vessels in the Atlantic ocean. One, an American freighter, was sunk in July with 1 dead and 48 rescued. The other, a Panamanian freighter, was sent to the bottom last month.

The attacks brought to 475 the number of vessels sunk in the western Atlantic area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation by the Associated Press. The sinkings have cost the lives of 3,154 men, 1,799 are missing, and 14,488 were rescued.

The announcement said survivors of both ships have been landed at east coast ports.

Seven Alaska Pilots Get Medals for Aleutian Raids

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 24 (AP).—The Alaska defense command added the names of seven first pilots today to the list of fighting men in the far north who have been awarded air medals for flights to attack the enemy in the distant Aleutian Islands. The citations said the awards were for "meritorious acts essential to the service in making repeated day and night overwater instrument flights, during icing conditions, to attack the armed enemy in the western Aleutians." The first pilots honored included Capt. Leonard N. Palmer, Council Bluffs, Ia.

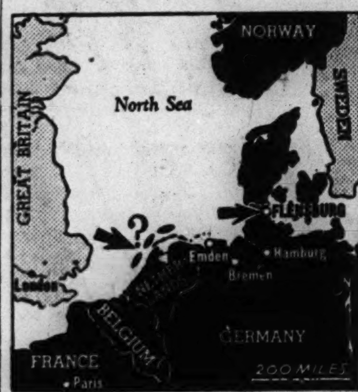
EDWARD SALES CO. HAMMOND, INDIANA

Bomb U-Boat Base



Arrows indicate Flensburg, attacked by British planes, and approximate point of attack on German convoy.

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP).—Royal air force heavy bombers flying at housetop levels dumped huge loads of explosives on the heavily reënforced German submarine works at Flensburg last night in a renewal of the British campaign to stamp out the U-boat menace at its source.

The air ministry announced 10 bombers were lost, but the British considered this a small price for a heavy blow at this U-boat nest.

The Flensburg attack was accompanied by a raid of coastal command planes, manned by Dutch flyers, on an axis convoy along the Dutch coast. Three ships were hit.

Two Beaufighters of the coastal command shot down two Geerman bombers in the Bay of Biscay this morning, the air ministry reported.

This afternoon bombs were dropped in three places on the coast. A number of casualties and some damage were reported.

CHILDREN INSPIRE SHIP SURVIVORS ON RAFT 3 WEEKS

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, B. W. I., Sept. 24 (AP).—Seventeen American men, women, and children of missionary families have reached safety here after drifting on a raft from their torpedoed ship for nearly three weeks, every day of which they prayed and sang hymns led by children. A mere announcement of the arrival of 17 fatigued survivors last Friday night was made Saturday, but not until tonight did authorities identify the group, whose full stories were not available until they had convalesced several days in the local hospital.

Four children kept spirits from flagging during the days of drifting. At times the party's plight seemed hopeless, but the children did not falter. Hymns and prayers kept them going. Mrs. Ethel Bell of the Missionary alliance, New York City, was one of the group, and with her were her children Mary and Robert.

"They kept us going," one member of the crew said of the children. "They sang every day and were always completely cheerful, and they maintained faith in God all the while."

Carol Shaw, 7 years old, and her brother, Richard, of Pawnee City, Neb., lost their mother and a sister as their vessel went down after the torpedoing. Their father, too, is missing but was believed safe on another raft.

REPORTS 110,000 GREEK CHILDREN STARVE TO DEATH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Of the 300,000 children in Athens and Piræus when Greece was invaded, 110,000 are now dead from starvation, malnutrition, and epidemics, Dr. A. W. Cawadias, chairman of the Greek Red Cross society, said today. In two months, 9 out of every 10 new-born children in Athens have died of starvation, he added.

All cattle, according to Dr. Cawadias, have been slaughtered by the occupying armies and there is no milk for babies or children. He urged that the British permit the transportation of dried and condensed milk from Argentina.

Cawadias said that the bread situation was improved as a result of the monthly shipments of wheat from Canada in Swedish vessels.

ALASKA HIGHWAY TO BE PUT IN USE BY ARMY DEC. 1

Vital Supply Route Months Ahead of Schedule.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The 1,600 mile military highway, which was undertaken early this year to give a vital supply line to Alaska and a chain of air bases in western Canada, will be ready for use Dec. 1, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced today.

A steady flow of trucks will begin carrying supplies several months ahead of schedule to bolster Alaska against invasion threatened by Japanese occupation of three Aleutian islands.

Thaws in the spring will make the highway impassable for heavy traffic for two months then, but by that time it is expected that thousands of tons of war supplies will have passed over the route to Alaska.

Highway Well Drained.

American engineers have been building the road, which is known as the Alcan highway, since last March. Instead of a rough "pioneer" road, they have constructed a well drained and well graded highway which will accommodate two way traffic over large stretches of its 1,600 miles.

"Muskeg, the bog moss, which was expected to give the highway an unfirm foundation along great portions of the route and provide the worst problem of the undertaking proved to be only a minor problem," Stimson said.

Proposals for the construction of the road began to receive serious consideration a dozen years ago. Congress passed legislation on the subject in 1930, 1935, and again in 1938, and investigations were conducted by a number of American commissions, but the Canadian government showed little interest in the project.

On March 6, however, announcement was made in Ottawa that both the Canadian and American governments had approved the recommendation for immediate construction of the military highway.

Crews Racing Winter.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 24.—It is now a race with winter at several points on the new highway to Alaska. One day toward the end of November the northern crews working south from Fairbanks will meet the southern crews heading north from Dawson Creek, Fort St. John, and Fort Nelson. Civilian contractors from the United States and Canada are coöperating with United States engineering personnel in a program laid out with the highest technical precision to complete what is known as the tote road thru dense bush to enable heavier supplies and machinery to be pushed along to Alaska this winter.

NAZIS SCRATCH EUROPE TO FIND MORE WORKERS

Seek to Meet Output Challenge of U. S.

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 24 [Wide World].—Germany has an estimated 6,000,000 foreign workers in her industry—that would be an increase of 3,000,000 since March—and is scratching Europe for still more laborers to meet the challenge of United States production.

Germany has been obliged to increase her deliveries of war material, the Journal de Geneve said, because "the reich must calculate on American production . . . a factor which Nazi directors know cannot be neglected and which is already felt in many theaters of operation."

Motive for Laval Law.

One in every four workers in Germany now is foreign, but Fritz Sauckel, who is in charge of labor recruiting, recently told a Weimar conference that more were necessary.

Sauckel said the additional workers can be found only in the west and this, said the editorial writer of the Journal de Geneve, is the reason for Pierre Laval's obligatory labor law in unoccupied France.

La Liberte, a Catholic newspaper of Fribourg, said German comment on the new French law "confirms that the aim is to supply man power for the war factories of the reich." Laval was forced to "this extreme," the newspaper said, to complement the enrollment of more or less voluntary workers for Germany. It appears that the call for workers to be exchanged for war prisoners produced fewer than 30,000 responses and only half of these had the technical qualifications demanded by Germany.

Meets Nazi Demands.

The new law, the newspaper said, arms the French Government with the means to requisition man power to "satisfy the more pressing demands of Germany." The paper also pointed out that the law meets the German conception of the duty of peoples of occupied, conquered countries: to supply the reich with labor.

A Berlin dispatch to the Tribune de Geneve said the current theme in the Nazi capital is that "any one in Europe not actively in the war has at least the duty of contributing labor." The Frankfurter Zeitung said all peoples "enjoying the protection of German armies" against Russia have an obligation to supply the reich with labor."

KILL 3,000, SEIZE 4,000 IN BOSNIA, GERMANS REPORT

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—A Berlin broadcast containing the tacit admission of the extent of patriotic resistance in old Jugo-Slavia declared today that in two weeks ending Sept. 8 axis occupation forces killed 3,000 persons and captured 4,000 more in the mountainous Bosnia district.

The German broadcast referred to the patriots only as brigands, vagabonds, bandits, and criminals. It gave no clew to the fate of those captured. "Mopping up operations were successfully continued last week," the broadcast said, indicating that even the death and capture of 7,000 Jugo-Slavs had not broken the resistance to Nazi rule.

STIMSON DENIES BRETT WILL GET ARNOLD'S POST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today denied reports that Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the army air forces, is about to be replaced by Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, former commander in chief of the army air forces in the South Pacific.

"There is not a word of truth in the reports," Stimson said. "Gen. Brett will be given an assignment, as he is very useful, but I am not prepared to say what he will do."

Brett has been without assignment since his return from Australia. It had been reported that he was returned home as a result of differences with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander in Australia.

Several Reports of Changes.

The report of the replacement of Gen. Arnold was one of numerous rumors of a change in the army and navy air forces. The increasing importance of the airplane in modern war had led to expectations of reorganization of the high commands of both services.

The navy department already has appointed a new chief of aeronautics, replacing Rear Adm. John H. Towers, pioneer navy airman, with Rear Adm. John S. McCain. The latter is what is known in the navy as a "Pensacola admiral" having learned to fly in 1935 at the naval air station at Pensacola, Fla., when he was 51 years old.

Adm. Towers, a flyer since 1911, was promoted to vice admiral and placed in charge of all air activities in the Pacific under Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

Report Towers Sought Voice.

It is the general belief in aviation circles that Towers was kicked up stairs because he was demanding a voice in naval operations which reactionary battleship admirals would not give him.

Arnold has been in the center of a storm of criticism, with many believing he is seeking to unify the army and navy air forces into a single air command. Those opposed to such a union are bent on his removal. Others believe that the step should be made and regard him as the logical commander of an air force comparable to the royal air force of Great Britain.

Various factions opposed to Arnold have been seeking a congressional spokesman to undertake an attack on his administration of the army air forces.

They have urged that Arnold's statements to congressional military committees be analyzed, insisting that the examination will show that Arnold blocked air force modernization by clinging to obsolete planes and engines.

Reports have been numerous that Arnold has clashed with Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, and with various generals. These reports have been denied repeatedly, but crop up with increasing persistence in aviation circles.

It also is reported that navy officers have charged Arnold with hamstringing development of heavy naval bombers by securing the entire output for the army. Recently some heavy bombers, intended for the army, have been released to the navy.

NEW DEAL SEEKS COMPROMISE ON FARM PRICE BILL

Ready to Include Labor Costs in Parity.

"The pending bill takes care of the farmer," said Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], who contributed some of the language of the compromise. "The bill for the first time contains a provision which makes it mandatory on the Office of Price Administration to modify those prices upward, if the necessity arises. . . . Furthermore, let us not forget in the face of this mandatory direction the responsibility for production will lie wholly upon those who are administering the act. The responsibility will not be upon congress."

Thomas Blocks Way.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky asked Sen. Thomas to withdraw his amendment, designed to rewrite the parity formula, and permit a vote on the compromise. Thomas refused.

Barkley told the senate that the compromise will be offered later as a substitute, even if the Thomas amendment is adopted. Well informed members of the senate believe the Thomas amendment will be adopted and then replaced by the compromise.

The White House has been represented during the developing governmental crisis by Harry L. Hopkins, former relief administrator and now Mr. Roosevelt's closest adviser on war strategy and domestic affairs. When congressional leaders have called the White House, they have been told by Marvin H. McIntyre, one of the President's secretaries, that Hopkins is directing operations.

In his ultimatum to congress on Sept. 7 President Roosevelt said he would impose maximum farm prices without regard to the limitations of the existing price control law unless congress should revise the law by Oct. 1.

Biddle Defines Powers.

The President is said to have been advised by Attorney General Francis Biddle that the second war powers act superseded the limitations of the price control law and that it gives the President ample authority to impose such price ceilings as he may deem necessary.

Apparently aware of the attorney general's opinion, Sen. Brown revealed in the senate today that the second war powers act is the basis of the President's assertion of authority to act in contravention of the price control law.

Sen. Brown cited title 3, section 301, which provides that whenever the President is satisfied that the fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States will result in a shortage in the supply of any material, he may allot such material in such manner, upon such conditions and to such extent as he shall deem necessary.

May Go to Supreme Court.

Brown told the senate that "this dispute may have to be resolved by the third coördinate branch of the government of the United States [the Supreme court]."

"This is not simply a domestic question," Brown told the senate. "It is not simply a dispute between the so-called agricultural interests on one hand and the consuming interests of the country on the other hand. It is a dispute which affects us in all our relationships.

"If upon this great issue we shall by our action here force a head-on collision between the executive and legislative bodies or powers in the American government, we will have done a great disservice to the war effort."

Raps Farm Pressure.

Brown mentioned various leaders of farm organizations and said: "We should not turn the leadership of the legislative branch of the government over to those gentlemen."

"The man at the head of this nation, who is asking that the majority and the minority stand by him in this great contest, is not the representative of any special group," the Michigan senator continued. "He is the representative of all the people of the United States, and I think we should pause before we reject the measure which he has asked us to pass."

Sen. Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the agriculture committee, said he resented Sen. Brown's implication that "we who are in favor of this very fair proposal have been seduced by farm leaders," but would "rather follow them than some of those who call themselves leaders."

Dictation Resented.

"It was stated here by the senator from Michigan that if we adopt the Thomas amendment it inevitably will lead to a conflict between congress and the President," Smith said. "If the senator's statement is accurate, it is tantamount to telling us we might as well go home; that if we do not legislate to take the action suggested, the President will. The President said that himself and the senator proceeded to read statutes which will back up his statement.

"I resent the implication in the senator's speech that we are nothing but a body at the will of the chief executive; that we legislate according to dictation, or not legislate at all.

Tosses Back Challenge.

"What is back of the 'unalterable' opposition of the President to this very simple amendment? I do not know the reason behind the opposition, but I want to say for the record that we are not responsible for the inevitable conflict. We never said to the President, 'no matter what you think about it, we are going to do as we please. It is our constitutional privilege to do as we please.'

"Our duty is to legislate. The President has the constitutional right to veto any measure. We have the constitutional right to legislate, and if we do not think the President's veto is proper, we can pass a bill over his veto."

Parity Prices

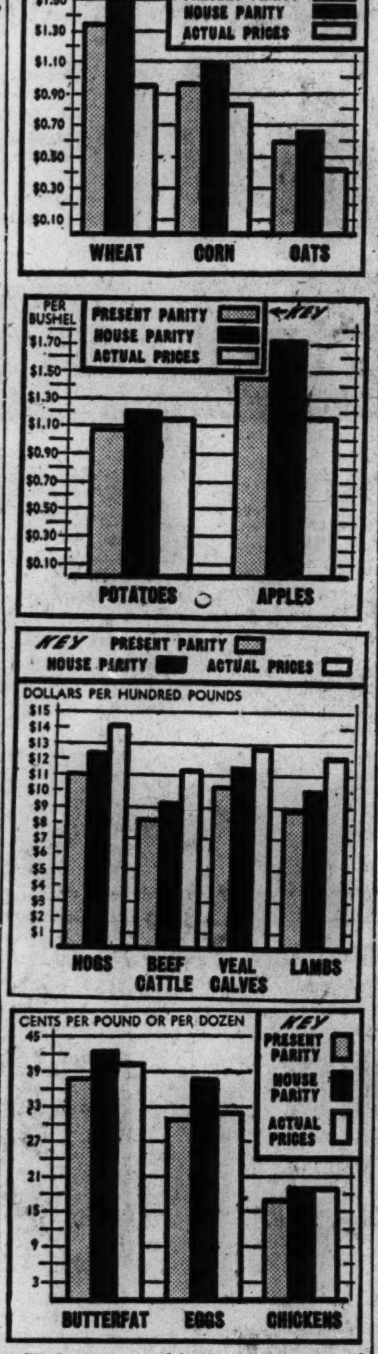
The following charts show present parity prices for major farm products, unofficial estimates of the house parity prices, and average prices received by farmers on Aug. 15 (the latest official figures available):



Under terms of both the house and senate versions of anti-inflation legislation now before congress, ceilings could not be placed on farm products except at the higher of these two levels: [1] The parity price or [2] the highest price reached by a product between Jan. 1, 1942, and Sept. 15, 1942 [adjusted for seasonal variations]. Hence, ceilings of meat animals, for example, would be considerably in excess of either the present parity or the house formula for determining parity.

DESERT TROOPS CAN 'TAKE IT,' SAYS GEN. M'NAIR

With the United States Army on California Desert Maneuvers, Sept. 24 (AP).—"No one who sees the training in the desert can fail to be impressed by the fine condition of the troops, their ability to take it, and the spirit in which they stand up under this hard training."

Thus Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, commanding officer of the army ground forces, today summed up two days of field inspection of troops and equipment.

"I have seen no indication of fatigue on the part of the soldiers, other than a desire to sleep occasionally, which is the sign of a good soldier who seizes a nap when he can," he said. "The officers are high in their praise of the troops, and I may add that the officers themselves are receiving as much training and working just as hard as the troops."

Report Blast in Athens Killed Italian Soldiers

BERLIN, Sept. 24 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—An explosion in a house in Athens, Greece, has injured an unannounced number of Italian occupation troops and caused the Italian command in Athens to order the execution of three persons, a dispatch from Athens reported tonight.

HEALTH BOARD ACTS TO AVERT MILK SHORTAGE

In a move to avert a threatened milk shortage in Chicago the board of health yesterday asked Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, for an opinion on whether the board may legally require dealers holding city permits to make all their milk available for Chicago consumption, or whether they may continue to dispose of it to outlying territories.

Another legal point involved is whether the board has the right to allow milk from other metropolitan areas outside its jurisdiction to be made available to Chicago dealers in the event of a shortage.

These two suggested remedies for a threatened shortage were brought to the board by Paul Potter, executive secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, who said shipments of milk to military camps and to centers as far away as St. Louis will endanger Chicago's milk supply within six months.

Health Commissioner Herman N. Bundesen said Potter's proposals involved legal points the board was not prepared to answer, and the request for a legal interpretation of the city ordinance was the result.

MOVE TO RELIEVE MILK SHORTAGE IN PHILADELPHIA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—A "severe" milk shortage in the Philadelphia, Pa., area today led the agriculture department to change a federal milk marketing program for Philadelphia to permit importation of supplies from sources which normally do not ship to that market.

The department said that when the program was drafted it was expected that a short supply situation would develop from October thru January. Hence it contained a provision to permit in-shipment of supplies from other sources during that period.

This year the short supply situation developed earlier than was expected, the department said.

JEALOUS SUITOR ADMITS WOMAN'S SHOTGUN KILLING

Camden, N. J., Sept. 24 (AP).—Sergt. Thomas Murphy said today that Williard Johnson, 28 years old, confessed killing his former sweetheart with a shotgun because she had jilted him.

Murphy said Johnson, a pipefitter at Cramp's shipyard in Philadelphia, admitted he shot the woman, Marie Elizabeth Ervin, 30, in her Philadelphia apartment yesterday.

Johnson, arrested in a Camden taproom, was charged with murder and waived extradition to Philadelphia.

DESCRIBES NEW NEEDS FOR FREE LEGAL AID WORK

The war has greatly increased the need for free legal service to persons in the lower income brackets, Joel D. Hunter, general superintendent of the United Charities of Chicago, said yesterday at the annual convention of the National Association of Legal Aid organizations in Milwaukee.

Hunter urged establishment of free legal aid organizations in all cities over 100,000 population.

Aiding war plant workers to get proof of citizenship is another field of legal aid work that the war has expanded, Hunter said. He reported that Chicago's legal aid bureau handles more than 15,000 cases annually for persons unable to hire lawyers.

MEAT RATIONING WILL BE STARTED IN THREE MONTHS

Reduce Consumption Now, Wickard Urges.

Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture and chairman of the foods requirements committee, said in Chicago yesterday that the rationing of meat will begin as soon as the Office of Price Administration can work out a rationing system. He said OPA has indicated that three months, or until approximately Jan. 1, may be required to establish the system.

Wickard at the same time called upon the middle and high income groups to reduce their meat consumption voluntarily pending adoption of the rationing system, and outlined the government's reason for preparing to restrict the meat supply available to civilians in the next three months.

Set Percentages for Deliveries.

He had announced late Wednesday night that, beginning Oct. 1, packers in the following three months will not be permitted to deliver to the civilian market more than 80 per cent of the beef and veal, 95 per cent of the lamb and mutton, and 75 per cent of the pork that they delivered a year earlier.

In issuing the order as chairman of the foods requirements committee, Wickard called on consumers to limit themselves voluntarily to 2½ pounds of meat per week per person.

In a luncheon speech at the annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains in the Drake hotel yesterday, Wickard discussed the packer delivery limitation order and the problems that led the government to restrict meat consumption at a time when meat production has been breaking all records. He said that the demand for meat for the army, the navy, and for lend-lease supplies constitutes one reason. Another, he said, is the necessity of spreading the supply out so that meat will be available in periods of seasonally low production.

He also warned of possible scarcities of foods other than meat.

Reduction Is 21 Per Cent.

"Statistically, the limitation figures for the three months beginning Oct. 1 would mean an over-all reduction of 21 per cent below the amount of meat [exclusive of poultry] available to civilians in the last quarter of 1941," Wickard said. "In actual operation, however, the order may not result in quite so great a cut, for adjustments will be made when necessary to allow for changes during the last year in the distribution pattern and in the wartime requirements of various areas. In some areas there has been a great change in population, particularly in defense plant areas."

Must Build Reserves.

After asserting the demand for meat is greater than the record supply, Wickard said:

"We must build up huge meat reserves this fall and winter to make sure that American fighting men will not go hungry on faroff battlefields next year. We must send our allies enough meat to keep up their strength and morale."

Wickard said 6½ billion pounds of meat will be needed for army, navy, and lend-lease use combined in the coming year. The figure may go higher, he said. He estimated the total meat supply in the next 12 months at 24 billion pounds, an all-time record. Such an output, he observed, would leave 17½ billion pounds for United States civilians.

"Our problem on the home front is to spread this 17½ billion pounds fairly among the 128 million of us outside the armed forces," Wickard said. "Fairly shared, it will give every one a supply adequate for good nutrition."

Average Is 2½ Pounds a Week.

Two and a half pounds per week per person is about the average consumption, Wickard said, but some in the higher income brackets eat much more. These are the persons who ought to cut down, he said.

He said the government is not recommending a uniform meatless day for individual households. Families and public eating places, he said, will be permitted to select their own ways of reducing meat consumption.

CO-OPERATION PLEDGED

The American Meat institute, speaking for the meat packers generally, and the Chicago Restaurant association, speaking for 1,200 of the larger restaurants in metropolitan Chicago, indicated accord yesterday with the program of Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard to reduce civilian consumption of meat during the coming months.

The institute spokesman said the consumer will not find at all times the kinds and cuts of meats he prefers, but he may buy other types and cuts with the same nutritive value. The institute plans to educate the public to ways of "stretching" meat and to methods of preparing little known cuts.

Donald Kiesau, executive secretary of the restaurant association, said restaurants will not establish meatless days unless the government issues a general rationing order to that effect. Under the Wickard plan, Kiesau said, restaurants will reduce the number of meat entrées in proportion to their meat allotments.

The meat problem in relation to restaurants will be taken up further at a conference of the National Restaurant association in the Palmer House Oct. 6 to 8.

CURB ON MEAT TO COST DINER POUND A WEEK

Dealers See Gain in Use of Eggs and Cheese.

Chicago meat dealers reported yesterday in a survey made by THE TRIBUNE that curtailment of civilian meat consumption to 2½ pounds per person each week will cut one pound of meat from the diet of the average person.

Meat market operators and housewives alike agreed that a cut in the consumption of meat will increase sales of butter, eggs, cheese, and milk. Miss Ella M. Eck, chief dietitian of Billings Memorial hospital, advised that other foods containing protein may be readily used to replace meat on the menu. If a milk shortage should become a reality, she said, consumers will have to turn to the legumes—navy beans, lima beans, etc.

Plan to Boost Chickens.

Dealers prepared yesterday to increase their orders of chickens and cheese.

"Rent and wages are high," said Mrs. Mary Cisar, 2023 35th street. "This cut-down will be very bad for us."

Finding substitutes for cold meats, commonly used for sandwiches in a working man's lunch box, will test the ingenuity of housewives. Mrs. Russell Eisenbrandt, 7535 Lafayette avenue, will have no trouble, however, for her husband likes cheese.

"We'll have to go back to macaroni and other foods that stick to our ribs," said Mrs. John J. Kirby, 7025 South Green street. Mrs. Kirby, like other housewives questioned, said that members of her household use no more than 2½ pounds of meat each person per week.

"Sales Already Down 25%."

One market proprietor, Roy Kaufman, 5732 Madison street, said that his business has already suffered a decline because the cost of meat causes his patrons to buy 25 per cent less meat than they purchased in 1941.

Sam Rugendorf, owner of a shop at 3500 Wentworth avenue, said that his weekly veal and beef allowances already have been reduced more than 50 per cent by wholesale dealers.

Operators of meat markets joined in expressing concern over the possibility of rationing bony meats. With the curtailment in effect, they said, patrons will buy only solid meat. What will happen to spareribs and pigs feet, the dealers asked.

EAT LESS MEAT, SAVE SHIPPING FOR TROOPS, BRITONS ARE URGED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Food Minister Lord Woolton warned Britons today that they must eat less of certain foods during the next 12 months to conserve shipping space for "transporting large bodies of men overseas."

If the war is to be waged more vigorously, he told an Edinburgh audience, "there will have to be considerable changes in the matter of food, and we have got to keep our eyes more on Stalingrad than on conditions here before the war."

He urged housewives to experiment with cheese dishes to replace meat. The recent doubling of the cheese ration and the campaign to induce the public to eat more potatoes are aimed at conserving shipping space, he said.

CHAPLAIN BACKS DOUGHBOYS WHO MARRY OVERSEAS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Defending American doughboys against what he called "undue interest" which has been aroused by their marriages to girls of foreign countries, the senior chaplain of the United States army today declared that there is "nothing new in men going to strange places and meeting girls whom they think they want to marry."

This defense of the soldiers was voiced by Col. James Blakeney of Little Rock, Ark., at the conclusion of a two-day conference of American army chaplains of the AEF headquarters in London. He said the conference discussed the regulations concerning the marriage of members of the United States armed forces to British girls here, but that no change was made in the rule under which the men must apply for permission to wed three months in advance.

Explains Waiting Period.

Of this rule, he said:

"The object of the three month notice is to give the men a chance to put on the brakes and allow them time to think over what they are doing."

He added that all the marriages must be performed "in conformity with the laws of the country in which we are stationed," but said that they would be legally recognized wherever the men may be afterward.

Troops' Morals "Very High."

Col. Blakeney paid high tribute to the morals of the United States forces in Britain, declaring that "they are very high."

Altho compulsory church parades have not been invoked, he said church attendance among the men is remarkably high. He expressed appreciation "of the manner in which churches of all denominations have been thrown open to us for worship and for the way British homes have been opened to us and our troops."

Altho the number of chaplains in the army has grown from 145 to nearly 3,000 since the United States entered the war, Col. Blakeney gave no figures on the number in the British Isles.

CHICAGO RALLIES TO ARMY'S CALL FOR OLD RADIOS

Chicagoans responded promptly yesterday to the appeal of Brig. Gen. Arnold N. Krogstad, commanding general of the technical training command's Chicago schools, for old radios. Gen. Krogstad on Wednesday asked Mayor Kelly to help gather sets for the use of soldiers who are training to become radio operators and technicians.

Mayor Kelly himself brought five old sets to his office yesterday to give to the army and proclaimed next week Army Old Radio Collection week. He urged all citizens with spare radios, or obsolescent sets in any state of disrepair, to contribute them to the army.

Meanwhile, State street department stores, music and radio shops volunteered to donate numerous sets they have accumulated as trade-ins. Many of these are not in working order. However, they are acceptable to the army, Gen. Krogstad has indicated. They are just as valuable for circuit tracing, parts analysis and laboratory practice as they would be if in running order.

Barbara Fuller, young actress of W-G-N's "Painted Dreams" serial drama, donated a radio set to Lieut. Col. Carl Swyter, director of training of the Army Air Force's Technical school, Stevens hotel.

Indianapolis Chief Ordered to Report for Induction

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 24 [Special].—The Indianapolis draft board which last week granted a 30 day deferment to Michael F. Morrissey, Indianapolis police chief, today ordered him to report for induction Oct. 3. The board turned down a request by the Indianapolis safety board for his deferment until Jan. 1. Morrissey, who is 44 years old, is a bachelor.

CITY WILL HONOR 2,000TH NAVAL AVIATION CADET

Ceremony to Be Held in Loop Tomorrow.

The 2,000th navy flying cadet in Chicago's "Fly for Navy" recruiting drive will be sworn in at 11 a. m. tomorrow as the city celebrates launching of the new aircraft carrier Lexington with a rally on South State street.

Assurance that the drive for 2,000 navy cadets in August and September will be successful came yesterday when 72 future pilots were sworn in at the naval aviation cadet selection board, in the Board of Trade building. They brought the total enlistments so far in the drive to 1,947 men. Many others still were in the examination process.

Reception for No. 2000.

A big reception was promised for the 2,000th pilot. State street will be blocked off from Madison street to Van Buren street, and a speakers' platform will be erected between Jackson boulevard and Adams street. Mayor Kelly, Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, and Lieut. Comm. Carl G. Olson, senior member of the cadet selection board, will speak.

The Navy Pier band will play. Several flying cadet "Lexington squadrons," composed of 25 men each, will parade from the Board of Trade building to the speakers' stand.

Army Accepts 78 Cadets.

Seventy-eight army aviation cadets were accepted by the army aviation cadet board, to set a new record for a single day in the current campaign for 20,000 army cadets by Jan. 1. Up to noon yesterday 10,610 cadets had been accepted since the drive was launched Sept. 1, 1941.

Fifty men were sworn in by the maritime service in its district offices at 53 West Jackson boulevard. They left later in the day for training at Hoffman Island, N. Y.

Fifty army flying cadets supplied the answer yesterday as to the type of clothing they want their girl friends to wear. At a special fashion show arranged for them in the Palmer House, thru coöperation of the State Street council, they voted first place to a brown afternoon dress, modeled by Arlyn Eritt. The cadets turned thumbs down on slacks.

HURT IN RAILWAY CRASH.

John A. O'Brien, 60 years old, 11446 Front avenue, a repair foreman for the Illinois Central railroad, was injured seriously yesterday when the railroad motor car on which he was riding collided with a suburban electric train at 121st street.

Listeners will eavesdrop on these calls, hearing what the service men have to say. Marvin Muller, as master of ceremonies, will relay portions of the other ends of the conversations.

On each broadcast wives, mothers, and sweethearts of service men will be studio guests and some of these will have an opportunity to put thru calls to fighting men in camp.

Maybe you DID eat a better lake trout once ..... somewhere

The one that liked the way your junebug spinner shone .... the big guy that you caught and cleaned and broiled over smoking crackling coals ..... and ate right out of the pan!

Listen, man ..... we've got a trout fish fixed to broil for you today that's almost every bit as good ..... it's brown and crusty ..... and has that sort of smoky taste ..... that calls up memories of that other fish ..... that maybe tasted better.

CRIME ON RISE, PACED BY KILLING RAPE, ROBBERY

Rate of Lawlessness Up Since War Began.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—There has been an appalling increase in crime during the war period, according to federal crime statistics, and officials are expressing growing concern over the trend of lawlessness.

In the first six months of this year alone crime in general increased 1.7 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, according to reports received by the Federal Bureau of Investigation from 337 cities with more than 25,000 inhabitants.

The number of rape offenses rose 9.9 per cent, or from 2,341 to 2,572; negligent manslaughters increased 9.4 per cent, or from 970 to 1,061; robberies rose 5.2 per cent, or from 13,226 to 13,918; the number of aggravated assault cases increased 4.7 per cent, or from 11,848 to 12,399, and larcenies were 4.2 per cent higher, rising from 201,558 to 210,036.

Murders Drop Slightly.

Murders, however, declined slightly, the total of 1,356 in the first six months of 1942 being three less than in the corresponding six months of last year, a decrease of 0.2 per cent. The number of burglaries and automobile thefts—the latter probably reflecting the auto shortage and rationing difficulties—also declined. Burglaries fell from 75,936 to 72,634, a drop of 4.3 per cent, and auto thefts dropped from 46,690 to 45,955, a decline of 1.6 per cent.

Commenting upon the trend of crime, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, told the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, meeting in New York this week, that "crime is definitely on the increase" thruout the country and that juvenile delinquency also is "mounting rapidly."

"Unless we all do our jobs better we can expect another era of lawlessness such as swept the country after the last war," said Hoover. "The wartime spirit of abandon should not cause people to assume a paternal, tolerant attitude toward criminals. The greatest crime of our age is tolerance of and compromise with indecency."

Parole Boards Criticized.

Hoover hit at "some misguided parole boards, sob-sister sentimentalists and corrupt politicians" who a few years ago were "indiscriminately paroling desperadoes and murderers from our prisons." Had Hitler not been paroled less than 20 years ago after serving only nine months of a long prison sentence he might never have come to power, Hoover declared.

The number of major crimes in the United States has been on the increase, but the rate has stepped up since the war began. In 1941 there were 1,531,272 major crimes, an increase of only 0.9 per cent over 1940. Murder increased 0.3 per cent; negligent manslaughter, 3.5 per cent; rape, 2.2 per cent; aggravated assault, 4 per cent; larceny, 1.9 per cent, and auto theft, 7 per cent. Robberies dropped 6.7 per cent and burglaries 4.4 per cent. The following table shows comparative figures on the number of major crimes in recent years in the entire United States.

Manslaughter	4,554	4,394	4,425	4,582
Rape	8,302	8,832	9,055	9,257
Robbery	59,273	55,242	53,425	49,832
Assault	44,529	46,483	46,538	48,385
Burglary	297,208	311,104	316,369	302,475
Larceny	824,305	872,988	902,113	919,120

Follows Last War Pattern.

The current trend apparently is following the pattern of crime experience during World War I., altho statistics covering that period are scarce because of failure to keep adequate records. A study made by the United States Bureau of Efficiency in 1929 showed, however, that the number of convictions for violation of federal statutes had increased from 13,477 in 1915 to 69,262 in 1928, an increase of 414 per cent.

The bureau said its study showed a "sharp and almost continuous increase in convictions, in proportion to population, from 1917 onward." The initial increase was attributed by the bureau to convictions for violation of wartime legislation—the draft act, the espionage act, the sabotage law, etc.

After 1920 the bureau found that increases in the number of convictions could be attributed to three important pieces of federal criminal legislation—the national prohibition act, the Harrison narcotic act, and the automobile theft act. No data was available on convictions in state and other courts corresponding to those in federal courts.

Plethora of Liquor Cases.

A survey by the census bureau in 1923, however, found that most of the people in jail were there for drunkenness and violation of the liquor laws—prohibition had gone into effect in January, 1920. The census bureau survey of 1923 showed 91,367 persons in jail for drunkenness, 39,340 for other violations of the liquor laws, 4,093 for forgery, 4,035 for gambling, 3,906 for murder and manslaughter, and 3,584 for robbery.

The rate of homicides declined slightly between 1915 and 1920, but rose sharply by 1925. There were 1,614 homicide cases reported in 1915 for 31 cities or at the rate of 8.6 per 100,000 population. In 1920 there were 1,756 homicides in these cities, or 8.5 per 100,000 population. By 1925 the number had risen to 2,567, or 11.3 per 100,000 population.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR A MOTIVE IN CHEMIST MURDER

A third lie detector test yesterday was given to Mrs. Marie Doorley, 25 years old, 5736 Stony Island avenue, and her husband, John, 41. Results of the test indicated that neither Mrs. Doorley, who police said admitted intimacies with Redemske, nor her husband, could explain the murder. Assistant State's Attorney Francis T. McCurrie said the couple probably would be released today.

Papers found in Redemske's home were being studied by McCurrie, in the hope that a clew to the murder would be found. Police also were investigating several telephone numbers believed to be those of women friends of the slain man.

HOLD ITINERANT IN SOUTH BEND TRIPLE SLAYING

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 24 [Special].—An itinerant arrested yesterday near Lakeville, Ind., was questioned by police today concerning the fatal beating of Mr. and Mrs. John Korpal and their son, Eugene, 18, but he shed no light on the crime. Authorities indicated a doubt that he had any connection with it.

Another man being questioned, a 50 year old relative of the slain trio, still was detained altho he had disclosed nothing in four lie detector tests to connect him with the slayings. He has been held since Tuesday.

The only clews in the case are a fragment of a rosary and a broken length of pipe, both sections stained with blood, which were found in the Korpal home after a neighbor discovered the three bodies there Tuesday afternoon.

Accused Slayer of 2 Girls Enters Plea of Innocent

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP).—Edward Haight of North Stamford, Conn., pleaded innocent today when arraigned in county court on charges of kidnaping and slaying Helen Lynch, 8 years old, and her sister, Margaret, 7. No date was set for the trial.

AX SLAYER TELLS POLICE HOW HE KILLED PARENTS

Returns to Scene; Blames Quarrel Over Money.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 24 [Special].—Robert Nash, a husky young electrician, today reënacted the slaying of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nash, at the scene where he admitted he hacked them to death with a hand ax during a quarrel about money.

Nash, who said he lost his muscular reflex action thru injuries in an automobile accident, led police to the scene after having conducted them on chases over many miles of the countryside.

The place is half a mile south of St. Stanislaus Jesuit seminary, where Robert's younger brother, Charles Jr., is studying for the priesthood, and is 300 feet from the Rosary parochial school. It is 18 miles from downtown St. Louis.

Points to Bloodstains.

Nash, who is 26 years old, smoked a cigaret and pointed with both manacled hands to bloodstains still evident in Howdershell road, where he said he first felled his father and then his mother. The elder Nash, 61, was a United States internal revenue attorney in St. Louis.

"This is where it happened," the son told Sheriff Arnold Willman and Lieut. Thomas Dirrane of the St. Louis police.

He previously had told authorities, after almost 24 hours of questioning, that he and his parents quarreled about money. He said his parents thought he was spending money on himself and other persons which he should have been investing in his electrical contracting business.

Tells of Fight with Father.

He said the quarrel was renewed Monday night as the three drove in young Nash's car to the secluded section about three miles outside the city limits and finally he and his father struck at each other.

"I stopped the car here," Nash said, pointing to the tire marks. "Dad came around that side of the car and I came around this side. We met behind the car and scuffled until my mother came back and tried to stop us.

"Then I got an ax I carried in the car and struck him three or four times on the head and shoulders. He fell to the ground about there [indicating a bloodstained spot]. My mother slumped beside him and said: 'Look what you've done.' Then she got up and began to beat me. I struck her many times with the ax."

Made Certain of Death.

He said he made certain both his father and mother were dead and then put their bodies in the car—his father's in the trunk and his mother's on the tonneau floor—and drove away. He said he went home and changed clothes and then headed the car into Illinois.

A tire blew out after he had gone 50 miles, and he replaced it after driving to an isolated area to move the body of his father to get at the spare. The spare tire blew out near Springfield, Ill., and he abandoned the car eight miles north of that city, where the bodies were found Tuesday night. Nash said he ate breakfast in Springfield and hitch-hiked back to St. Louis.

Late today Nash was turned over to Sheriff Arnold Willmann of St. Louis county. Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach said first degree murder warrants would be issued tomorrow and asserted he would seek the death penalty when Nash comes to trial. Nash will be prosecuted in St. Louis county, since that is where the murders took place.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1942.

Newspapers are the sentinels of the liberties of our country. —Benjamin Rush.

BLUNDERING WITH RUSSIA.

Earl Browder, the general secretary of the American Communist party who was released from prison—an act of clemency to aid the war effort—says that the failure to open a second front for the relief of pressure on Russia is not due to military unreadiness but to capitalist fear of soviet success. Mr. Browder follows the party line when he can find it and in these remarks he takes his cue from the soviet ambassador in London.

Mr. Maisky, being a diplomat, was diplomatic. Without allowing the use of his name he said that the Russian people had misunderstood the second front statement made in Washington and London after the Molotov visit to both capitals—that there had been a satisfactory understanding on "the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942." The misconceived promise had discouraged the Russian people, had lowered their morale, and had renewed their distrust of the western powers.

London says the too encouraging statement was written in Washington and by prearrangement was adopted by the British government as its own. The Russians saw a grand invasion in the west and Hitler ground between the millstones. Then Churchill visited the Kremlin with the bad news and later admitted to parliament that he had not been able to make Stalin understand the difficulties. Stalingrad fights on alone, if not hopelessly.

The alliance between Great Britain and Russia commits the United States so long as Great Britain and the United States are fighting together. That alliance creates an entente where there had been a great deal of bitterness. Stalin's agreement with Hitler had momentous consequences, all disastrous to the people of western Europe and to Poland.

Subsequently the common danger of all Europe, the peril in which Russia and Britain found themselves, made coöperation a fact. No one in Britain can doubt the desire of the Russians to defeat Hitler. No one in Russia should doubt the desire of the British to do the same thing. That's a substantial bond. Coöperation in war seemed to impose coöperation in peace. Mr. Churchill accepted the logic and made the alliance for 20 years, committing the future of Europe to it.

In the best of circumstances a working arrangement with Russia, with its government if not with its people, would be recognized as one of the touchiest things in the world. There are many incongruities. Prejudiced and hostile minds are trying to meet. Long standing doctrines clash. Nice handling is required. Regardless of the past, Hitler makes present coöperation necessary. It is demanded by the military exigencies against the Nazis. That does not mean a second front if predominant considerations are against it, but it does mean that nothing should be done to cause suspicion, arouse distrust or suggest bad faith. Yet apparently that is just what has been done and in an all too familiar manner.

After councils of state and consultations with Molotov our government made declarations which were construed as giving Russia everything Molotov sought when he visited London and Washington. There was the formula by which we seem to be fighting the war—impressive conferences, followed by mighty statements followed by nothing.

Probably no people fighting as hard as the Russians have fought for more than a year, suffering incredible losses, would understand why an ally did not accept the risk of battle when the desperate situation cried aloud for it. The statement written in Washington seemed plainly to say that help was coming. It said nothing plainly, but if it did not mean help to the Russian people it did not mean anything. Apparently it meant nothing. Or it meant one thing in Washington and another in London.

The Russians have been indoctrinated with distrust of other peoples. Other peoples have distrusted the Russian government. The grand strategy of the war on our side seems to have revived the distrusts. That is grand blundering on a grand scale.

HOW WE LOST OUR CARRIERS.

One of the great arguments against airplane carriers has been that they are fragile vessels, easily put out of action. A quick and faulty lesson of the Pacific battles would seem to be that our carriers are moderately fragile, but those of the Japanese exceedingly so. This is, of course, an oversimplification, inasmuch as the "fragility" of a ship depends in a very large measure on the quality of the gunners and pilots engaged in defending her against hostile attack. But, in spite of the best defense, determined attackers will sometimes ram thru to do substantial damage. That was the case with the Lexington, and it was again true of the Yorktown. Neither ship, it may be noted, was lost quickly in action, with tremendous casualties, as were the Japanese carriers. Both ships were afloat for hours after the battle had ceased, but both got further damage, which finished them.

The Lexington had been laid down as a battle cruiser, a heavier ship than the conventionally designed carrier. This substantial construction and compartmentation no doubt explain why she sustained a large number of torpedo and bomb hits and still remained afloat. All of the damage had been repaired by the Lexington's crew and she apparently was ready to proceed when some agent, probably sparks from motors, ignited fumes from her gasoline tanks—a carrier is virtually a tanker—and started the series of fires and explosions that destroyed her.

The Yorktown was in a different situation. She had been designed originally as a carrier. Her fuel tanks apparently did not sustain the damage which on the Lexington led to destruction. She received a number of torpedo hits and was proceeding slowly to port, after repairing damage, when a Japanese submarine found her and hit her with two more torpedoes. With the damage she had already suffered, this was too much, and she sank. Whether the heavier construction of the Lexington could have sustained the damage which sank the Yorktown and still remain afloat is a question for the experts, but it does seem possible.

We are already launching carriers which will replace these two gallant vessels and in their instance it is, of course, too late to make any correction in design. It is to be hoped, however, that in future design the lessons of these two ships will not be lost.

The principle of the self-sealing gasoline tank, which has become a necessity in the combat airplane, may be applied to the immeasurably larger fuel storage tanks of tankers to prevent repetition of the Lexington incident. Compartmentation to localize torpedo damage is well understood by naval architects, and its increased application to naval vessels of all types will undoubtedly be stimulated by the development of the torpedo bomber. Any ship, of course, will sink if there are enough holes in its hull, but it should be possible to make ships less vulnerable in this respect than the Yorktown was.

WHY NOT ENLIST?

In the Voice of the People is a letter that came in to THE TRIBUNE the other day from a navy press agent at Great Lakes. The writer's name we thought it best to delete, since it is not improbable that he was only activating the vagary of some one in the hierarchy above him.

A history of the naval training station is being prepared, the letter discloses, altho it is improbable that its publication will be authorized until after the war. That's right, there is a war. They have heard about it even in the publicity office at Great Lakes.

We don't know how many of these confrères of Winchell have been commissioned until now by the army, navy, and marine corps, but they run into the hundreds and perhaps into the thousands. They include some men from THE TRIBUNE—some of our best reporters. Those men, and a lot of their associates, weren't all looking for bombproofs. Some signed up on the assurance that they would serve at sea or at the front, getting first hand reports from flyers and other combatants. They weren't looking for, and didn't want, safe berths behind a typewriter in Washington or Chicago.

There's just one thing wrong with this press agent at the front scheme, and that is that it seems to be intended as a substitute for the more capable, independent, and unbiased newspaper correspondent. That, at least, is the way Hitler works it. We don't believe that the American people are ready to accept exclusive reports of the battles in which their sons risk their lives from men who, however well intentioned personally, are nevertheless under the military discipline and the political control of generals and civilian officials responsible for the conduct of those battles.

These press agents in uniform should consider enlistment in fighting forces. They will find it a fascinating life, in which they will meet many interesting people. Also, and at last, they would find themselves doing something to win the war.

CHICAGO IS TOPS AGAIN.

August was the second consecutive month in which Chicago led the nation in army aviation cadet procurement. Chicago's showing gave the 6th service command, embracing the states of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan, leadership among the nine service commands thruout the country for the second straight month. Nearly half of the cadets accepted in the service command were sworn in by the Chicago board.

The record is one of which this city may be proud, but the cadet selection board has set a quota of 20,000 recruits by Jan. 1. August brought 1,089 enlistments for the national record, and in the present month it is expected that that number will be increased to about 1,300. That leaves Chicago with the task of providing 9,000 more recruits by the end of the year, an average of 3,000 a month.

The requirement has been set high because the services have come to count upon Chicago. We were able to give the navy 10,000 recruits in a single month. Currently we are asked not only to provide for the army air force, but to supply 2,000 naval air cadets by the end of this month. The present rate of enlistments indicates that the navy's goal will be achieved. Our young men will want to keep America preëminent among the nations, and Chicago preëminent in America. We are certain that there will be an even more heartening response in the closing phase of the recruitment program than that which has given us leadership so far.

MOUSETRAP PLAY.

Congressman Warren G. Magnuson, a Washington Democrat, returns from an officially conducted visit to Alaska to assert that the Japanese occupation of the Aleutians has been turned to our advantage, "giving us the opportunity to sink Japanese ships we otherwise would have been unable to get to."

Carrying this strange reasoning to its logical conclusion, think how much easier it would be, and how many more Jap ships we could sink, if the Japanese were occupying Seattle instead of the Aleutians.

FIRST SOLDIER OF THE REPUBLIC AT 82.

[Baltimore Sun.]

John Joseph Pershing, whose 82d birthday passed yesterday as quietly as that of the most indistinguished citizen, deserves the title of first soldier of the republic for other reasons than that his rank of general of the armies raises him above all other officers. He is also the first of our eminently successful generals to be content with military success. He is a professional soldier and has never tried, apparently has never desired, to be anything other than that.

Washington, Jackson, Harrison, Taylor, and Grant, all successful commanders in the field, all reached the Presidency. Winfield Scott never made it, but he tried hard enough. The Spanish war was too inconsiderable an affair to give any man a first rate military reputation, for Theodore Roosevelt's capacity as a strategist never impressed the army war college. But Pershing, having led to victory the largest American army ever assembled up to that time, never changed his profession.

Many of his subordinate officers carved out postwar careers in the professions, as, for example, Summerall as head of a college; or in business, as Hugh Johnson; or in politics, as Dawes, who came within one step of the throne. But the commander in chief stuck to his job. Moreover, the American public, looking back over the last 20 years, begins to realize that Pershing has been an admirable peacetime soldier. He has talked little and he has always talked sense. When one considers his limitless opportunities to commit blunders in his high position the boundless respect of his countrymen for his dignity, integrity, and ability is significant; indeed, in the years since his military victory Pershing has grown, rather than diminished, in the esteem of his people; and that is an achievement greater, in many respects, than the conduct of a successful campaign against armed enemies.

SPEAKING OF CHURCHES.

The obituaries of Ralph Adams Cram, eminent Boston architect, failed to mention his contribution to Chicago's Gothic edifices. The Fourth Presbyterian church on North Michigan avenue, glimpsed daily by more citizens than any other church in the city, is an excellent illustration of Cram's style.

• • •

He was more than a specialist in Gothic architecture; he was a mystic on the subject. We heard him lecture when the Other War was in full blast and when, as now, many prophets were preaching about the new Utopia that should emerge from chaos. Cram's remedy was a return to medievalism. He thought that if one-half of the population became monks and the other half stone cutters, and every one settled down to a leisurely building of cathedrals, everything would be all right.

• • •

Cram's greatest single work is the cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York—the most ambitious example of ecclesiastical architecture in the United States. But if you observe that the choir end of the cathedral is not in the Gothic style, do not assume that Cram was erratic. He took over the job after that inconspicuous part of the building had been started by other architects [the firm of Heins and Lafarge], and altered the style.

• • •

The Fourth Presbyterian also recalls the late Howard Shaw of Chicago, who supervised the execution of Cram's design, and later planned the auxiliary structures to the south. The medieval fountain in the cloister garth bears an inscription which states that it was given by Shaw.

• • •

This church suggested the title of a sonnet by Casual [Arthur Frederic Otis], recently printed in the Line o' Type column, and widely reprinted—"Where Thousands Pass."

"SCRATCH ONE JAP."

The jungle steamed; an airless mist
Lay heavy in its matted brush;
No gleam of sunlight could exist
Beneath the pall of green; the hush
Of ageless solitude pressed down
Upon the sentry on the ground.

A clump of snaky, dripping ferns
Was Private Casey's parapet;
A bomb-throw off, the dim trail turns
Toward where the Jap patrols are met.
Now Casey's eyes are on a tree
Where sniping Japs are apt to be.

No movement stirred the tree he scanned,
And Casey mopped his face and gun—
His pride and joy was that Garand—
Perhaps the Jap patrols were done;
But, no! the palm tree gently swayed;
Then Casey braced himself and prayed:

"Lord, let me get this Jap for Bill;
If there are two, mark one for Joe;
If there are more, give me the thrill
Of getting my own so-and-so;
And if it's wrong to pray for this,
Remember how poor Bill got his."

As Moto reached the leafy top,
And waited for his head to show
Enough for him to get a drop;
Temptation came to him, to see
If he could plug him thru the tree.

The Jap was speckled like a snake,
With green stuff smeared on face and shirt;
His eyes peered out—his last mistake—
His rifle tumbled to the dirt;
Said Casey, "Scratch the first to go;
I'll dedicate the next to Joe."

What Happens to Punsters.

I have had a horrible nightmare. I dreamt I was being punished for making a pun and was borne up into limitless space by an old man with a bald head and a long white beard and a nightgown. We flashed by millions of suns, meteors, and mighty constellations into eternities of space and I was petrified with fear.

I vowed that never again, either by word or thought, would I ever be guilty of that despicable form of so-called humor—the pun. Then, from out the mists of eternity, loomed a great clock tower like Big Ben, and we sat on it. The old man was out of breath and looked feeble.

"Are you Father Time?" I faltered. "You seem week and in a days."

He took some time to answer; then in faultless cockney answered "Yers," and heaved a great big sigh-th.

I felt that my time was up, and it was. The alarm went off. Shandy Gaff.

AUTUMN HAZE.

The bonfires dot the city street,
The smoke is rolling higher;
I hear the shouts and running feet
At summer's funeral pyre.

A strange nostalgic longing brings
A sudden mist of tears,
As childhood, autumn leaves, and wings
Go drifting down the years.

Nature Study in the Blue Ridge Mts.

The Richmond, Va., News-Leader of Sept. 11 reports that the natives of Keswick, a settlement among the Blue Ridge foothills in Albemarle county, are in a panic because of the ferocious screams of a mysterious animal called the "boazza." Its cry sounds like a blend between an air raid siren and a banshee's wail; incidentally, it chews up hound dogs and carries off calves.

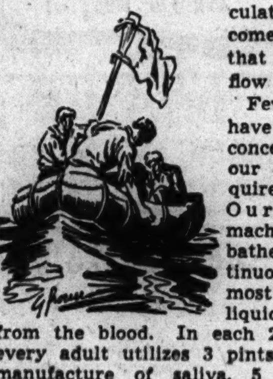
DON'T FORGET TO WATER YOUR CELLS.

OUR bodies cannot operate without a generous supply of water. Among the tortures of shipwrecked mariners none is more distressing than thirst. Delirium will come on rather quickly when the circulation becomes so thick that it cannot flow freely.



Few of us have a clear conception of our daily requirements. Our internal machinery is bathed continuously and most of this liquid comes from the blood. In each 24 hours, every adult utilizes 3 pints for the manufacture of saliva, 5 for the stomach secretions, 1 for bile, 1½ for the output of the pancreas, while fully 3 quarts lie within the intestinal canal. In other words, we employ in these areas more than twice as much fluid as the entire volume of blood. As we can see, our capillaries are extremely busy, collecting liquid from a million different sites.

In addition, nearly 7½ gallons must be retained within the cells. The chemicals inside the billions of compartments which make up every muscle fiber, organ, and tissue must be in solution. Each tiny room constitutes a laboratory wherein countless operations are conducted. Oxygen is absorbed and transformed into carbon dioxide. Nutriment is received and used. These are the processes which we call "life." If we allow many of these spaces to dry, death will ensue.

All of this emphasizes the value of possessing a reserve which may be called upon when necessary. Let us suppose that one loses four or five quarts within a few hours, the result of profuse diarrhea. The blood channels will attempt to secure whatever they need and this means that the reservoirs must be filled promptly. Sometimes the circulation cannot take what it demands. In consequence, it will become more gluelike. Thus the nutrition of vital organs will suffer.

In such a dilemma we have learned that water alone will not do. It must be mineralized. This explains why we advise salt tablets or glucose for all those who perspire profusely and hence are excreting large portions via the skin. In fact, one whose cells are badly parched to the verge of severe illness will require some salty material, otherwise the ingested liquids may not be picked up.

Probably the most important structures in all this interchange are the kidneys. Altho we excrete via the urine only 3 to 4 quarts per day, 100 times this much passes thru the renal apparatus. But the miles and miles of tubules within these organs reabsorb it. Thus the cleansing process of the circulation goes on scores of times each day.

Is there any danger of flooding the tissues? Yes, and we can also imbibe too much salt, which will retain fluid within the cells. There appears to be a natural balance of both minerals and water for which governors are provided—thirst and appetite. If we will obey these two instincts few of us will go wrong. We must replace with new liquids all that has been thrown off from the lungs, the skin, the urinary tract, and the bowel. The amount will vary from 2½ quarts to nearly double that quantity, depending upon activity.

The lesson for each of us is to watch for any unusual depletion and to restore the deficit as quickly as possible. This is particularly true with children who, in a few hours, may be deprived of a quarter of their body fluids by an intense diarrhea.

WHILE STALINGRAD BURNS.

Great Lakes, Ill., Sept. 16.—This department is preparing an official history of the United States naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill.

It is desired to obtain clippings or photostatic copies of the originals covering the following subjects:

[a] Any reference in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, on or about April 17, 1904, dealing with the act of congress which on that date established this station.

[b] Any reference in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, on or about Oct. 28, 1911, concerning the official opening of this station by President Taft.

[c] Headlines, subheads, and stories referring to President Roosevelt's declaration of a "limited national emergency" on Sept. 9, 1939.

If any of the material furnished is used full credit will be given THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. However, it is highly unlikely that authorization to publish this official history will be granted prior to the end of the present war.

WARTIME UNEMPLOYMENT.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Your editorial on high school workers was very true. Gen. Hershey and Administrator McNutt should go around all the war plants and see the men who are 40 to 60 years of age and able bodied filling out applications for jobs which they never get called for. They should also go around to the unemployment rooms of over 300 local unions in Chicago and see the hundreds and thousands of men who are laid off due to priorities, and who would gladly take a war job if a living wage were offered them, or if the firms would not discriminate against them because they are over 40 years of age and over the insurance companies' risk.

In the printing trades, where men know how to operate presses and machinery, and could learn to operate a machine in a war plant in an hour's time, 10,000 men are unemployed out of 45,000 members in Chicago alone.

Go to any Illinois unemployment compensation office and see the line of people. Hundreds of them are out of work. If these people aren't given war jobs soon they will all have to be put on relief again. AMERICAN.

REP. BLOOM REPEATS HIMSELF.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 19.—I am tempted to call Congressman Sol Bloom "Queenie." Nine times in the Congressional Record of Sept. 14 he inserted separate and distinct glorifications of the queen of Holland. One insertion would have been plenty. He should get the stories of nine different Dutchmen and tell how they suffered on the field of battle. That would be more appropriate reading. Put those stories in the Record nine times, and it would read like a war was going on and might be won if royalty would not completely turn the moronic heads of some of our congressmen who gush like geysers whenever a crowned head hoves into view. RAY MCKAIG.

FOOLISH OIL RATIONING.

Evanston, Ill., Sept. 18.—The proposal to ration fuel oil on a basis of 65 degrees temperature must have been arrived at without proper consideration of its effect upon health and morale. No authority that I have ever read suggests as adequate a temperature below 68 degrees. For people of anemic tendencies, this is very uncomfortable. If we chill the homes to the point where sickness and epidemics result, it will be a sort of penny wise and pound foolish proposition. Many people have been accustomed to heating their homes to 72 and even 78 and 80 degrees. If we can secure a uniformity of 68 degrees, we can effect a great reduction from normal fuel requirements and at the same time preserve the health of the nation.

The demand for man power is no less urgent than that for mechanical power. To conserve one at the expense of the other will not aid the war effort. People are being asked to work long hours and irregular hours. Great consideration should be given to keeping them healthy and fit. Let us hope that rationing of fuel permits heating the homes to a temperature conducive to health.

W. B. ROSE.

THE AUTHORITARIAN DRIFT.

Marion, Ia., Sept. 20.—THE TRIBUNE'S editorial today, "The Republic in Stormy Weather," is true and timely. Many of this writer's acquaintances, even here in the middle west, where there is still a large measure of sturdy, independent thought and speech, seem to feel that, as THE TRIBUNE says, "they are peculiarly endowed with resources to resist successfully such tendencies." This false sense of security is luring them into the thought that because we are in war we must put implicit trust, as Mr. Knox has just told us, in one man to manage the affairs of the nation.

Americans, if they will devote a little time to a study of recent European history, cannot fail to see where present trends might lead us. The American form and principles of government have produced in the last 150 years a nation with the highest standards of living in all the world. Have we grown so unself-reliant that we are going to let a lot of theorists and self-seeking burocrats lead us into the very same form of government we are warring against?

IT CAN'T HAPPEN IN AN ELECTION.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—As a precinct worker for a number of years I have discovered quite a few cases where the voters could not vote as they would like because they would have to disclose their party preference. To nearly all of these voters it is a question of needing the job.

In the recent primary I was told that in one precinct they found a number of Democrat ballots that were blank. That is the result of our election laws under which the voter must be recorded as either Democrat or Republican.

RALPH, BOB, VAL.

HE WANTS TO ENLIST.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—I am a single man, 26, and have no dependents. I have tried to enlist in the army eight times and have been rejected every time because of a perforated eardrum. Still, every day I see in the papers that the selective service is claiming a shortage of man power for the army. I tried to enlist in the navy once and was told that they accept only men for combat service. According to the navy, a perforated eardrum would be affected by gun fire, yet they sign a major league ball player with the same ailment. I am a former company clerk, mess sergeant, supply sergeant, and first sergeant from the Civilian Conservation corps, where I served seven years. The last four years of service I was an exempted specialist. I do not want to go into the army as an officer or anything like that, but just as a buck private. Still, they will not take me. I do not go out at nights or take my girl friend out any more because everybody stares at me and wonders what is the matter with me that I am not in the army. E. Z.

REFERRED TO COMMISSIONER BUSSE.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 16.—The picture of the Cook county commissioners aboard the tallyho in today's TRIBUNE is somewhat confusing. To be correct, the driver should be seated on the right side of the vehicle and not as he is shown. He will then be behind the nigh horse, the right hand horse of the team, and holding the whip in his right hand. In that position he will not be poking his companion with his elbow every time he taps the right hand horse with his whip. He can then reach across the nigh horse and tap the off horse, the left hand horse, with his whip, which is always the better and faster horse. He doesn't have to be urged as much as the nigh horse.

WARTIME INTOLERANCE?

Chicago, Sept. 22.—"B. O. G.'s" letter urging that the Goethe statue be scrapped indicates a reappearance of the 1917-'18 war hysteria directed against the Goethe statue. Minds like Homer, Dante, Shakespeare, and Goethe belong to all mankind and to no one country. They are above nationality. "B O. G.'s" intolerance of the statue is of the Nazi pattern of intolerance, which we aim to put down in this war.

MACHINISTS CUT UNION FEES; TO ADD 5,000 MEN

More Apprentices Will Be Supplied to Plants.

An estimated 5,000 operators of machine tools, whose services are needed in the Chicago area to push the war production effort, will be able to go to work under a new agreement just made by the Machinists District council and the War Production board. Provisions are made for the furnishing of an adequate supply of apprentices—men and women—and the machinists are to reduce their initiation fees to less than 10 per cent of the old figure.

"This new arrangement means that every machine in production in the Chicago area will have an operator soon," said Thomas N. Wynne, manager of the production division of the WPB. "The union is to be commended for the attitude it has adopted. The new agreement makes it possible to start an intensive training program for women and men outside the draft age."

Mass Shift Considered.

It was disclosed that the old rules of the International Association of Machinists were so severe that the government agencies were contemplating a mass movement of unmanned machine tools in the area to other sections of the country where the needed labor was available.

Some employers began complaining last April of the district council's insistence that in closed shops the initiation fee for new workers remain at $100, altho the international union had recommended a maximum fee of $10. Wynne and the local officials reached an agreement that $8 be the fee in the future, the sum to cover union membership only for the duration of the war effort.

Lift Ban on Women.

Some of the new features, particularly the withdrawal of the ban on women workers, mark sharp departures from previous policies of the machinists union. The lifting of the restriction on the employment of apprentices [formerly only 10 per cent of machine workers in closed shops could be apprentices] was regarded as a radical change.

Wynne said that union officials had announced their willingness to confer with employers and to help them solve the problems of individual shops—all to the end that production should not lag.

"Union officials and the rank and file workers are keenly aware of the critical situation and are coöperating fully to get things done," he asserted.

DEFENSE LOSES BATTLE TO BAR BUND'S RECORDS

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Defense attorneys sought unsuccessfully today to have German-American Bund documents barred as evidence in the trial of 25 former bund members on charges of conspiracy to evade the selective service act.

The documents were seized at the organization's headquarters. The attorneys contended that the seizure violated the fourth amendment of the Constitution.

Judge Alfred D. Barksdale ruled that even tho the documents were taken illegally, the defendants are being tried as individuals, not as members of an organization, and hence documents of the organization should be admitted.

The court cited a similar case in the World war, when federal courts held that property of the I. W. W. organization, seized in the case of William [Big Bill] Haywood, labor leader, was admissible as evidence.

50% MORE WILL PAY NEW TAXES, OFFICIAL SAYS

An increase of more than 50 per cent in the number of federal income taxpayers next year was predicted yesterday by John B. McNamara of Washington, D. C., executive assistant to the commissioner of internal revenue. With the increase in the number of taxpayers the facilities and personnel of collector's office thruout the country will be overburdened in a year of unprecedented taxes, McNamara said. McNamara passed thru Chicago en route to Washington after attending the convention of the National Association of Employés of Collectors of Internal Revenue in Milwaukee, where John C. Moynihan of the field division in Chicago was elected president for the coming year.

PARK OFFICIALS LOOK AHEAD TO POSTWAR WORK

Plans for a coördinated post-war development of natural recreational resources were discussed yesterday at the National Conference of State Parks in the Palmer House. President H. S. Wagner said that haphazard efforts such as were associated with the CCC were not wanted.

"The CCC moved in and did very fine work, but it was not coördinated on a national plan," he said. "Some regions got CCC help; others did not.

"We need a plan of development on a national scale—one which considers the problem in the light of heavy population concentrations and natural facilities."

THE QUESTION.

What do you dislike most in changing residences?

WHERE ASKED.

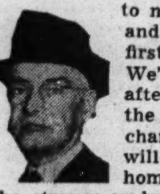
THE ANSWERS.

Ruth Carlson, clerk, 6638 Palms lane, Morton Grove—When I change residences it means I'm changing addresses, too, and that's a big job. I don't like notifying all the magazine and newspaper publishers of my new address and in writing my friends I usually forget a few and hear about it later. After my new address is established I don't mind it.

Mildred Stocking, stenographer, 4845 North Kenneth avenue — It doesn't take me long to get used to new environment, but it does take me quite a while to get used to a different form of transportation. The first few rides always seem so long and monotonous until it becomes a habit and at least some of the faces are familiar.

Barney S. Cohen, bartender, 3643 North Central Park avenue—It always seems to me that we do a poor job of fitting or arranging the old furniture in the new residence. It seems to take an awful lot of shifting around at my expense before everything is as cozy as it was "back at the other place."

Mary Lou Mannix, typist, 7326 Perry avenue—In all my life I have never lived in any house but the one I'm living in now. I'm sure that if I were compelled to move it would be years before I'd feel that a different one was my home. What I wouldn't like about a new residence is leaving the old one.



P. J. Schroder, tailor, 538 East Ravine avenue, Hinsdale—We're about to move to the country and this will be our first taste of rural life. We're wondering if after all these years in the city such a drastic change in atmosphere will ever seem like home. I think I dread the strange un-homelike feeling of a different residence.

Norma Taylor, office worker, 7859 Avalon avenue—When I live at one place for any length of time I usually take over the interior decorating problems in my own room. After I have everything to suit my personal taste I hate to leave it for a room where I have to start all over again.

COLISEUM READY FOR ARMY RADIO MEN NEXT WEEK

Partition Huge Arena Into Classrooms.

Conversion of the historic Coliseum, 1513 Wabash avenue, into a unit of Chicago's new Army Air Forces Technical school is nearing completion, and code classes are to start early next week in what formerly was the main arena, Brig. Gen. Arnold N. Krogstad, commander, announced yesterday.

The arena has been partitioned into 14 classrooms and the wiring completed, Gen. Krogstad said. Instruction tables, chairs, and other equipment are being installed on schedule. There will be six tables, 25 feet long, in each classroom. More than 1,000 students at a time can study the sending and receiving of messages in code.

Plane to Plane Radio.

As many as 660 students will receive radio network instruction at the same time in the balconies, which are being partitioned. The instruction will simulate radio communication between airplanes. It will be several weeks before any students are ready for this advanced course.

At the south end of the main arena loud speakers are being erected and wired to the structure's public address system. Martial music will be broadcast over the system as soldiers march between classes.

Education by Films.

The south annex has been converted into two classrooms, one for instruction in telegraph procedure and the other for radiophone lectures. The north hall, which will be used for orientation lectures and training films, remains untouched except for a thoro scrubbing.

The 42 year old Coliseum, in which several Republican national conventions and many other important events were held, was taken over along with three other parcels of real estate Aug. 15. The Stevens and Congress hotels, acquired in a similar action Aug. 1, are the principal units.

KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO.

48th Big Rock Plowing Contest on Tomorrow

The 48th annual Big Rock plowing contest, one of the foremost events of its kind, will be held tomorrow on the farm of Harry Long, one mile west of the village of Big Rock. Plowing starts at 9 a. m. Graeme Stewart of Wheatland, winner of the annual Wheatland contest, will be one of the competitors. Among the former champions who will appear are Orvis Schroyer, Paul Stiefbold, Carl Shoger, and his son, Carl Jr. A crowd of more than 10,000 is expected.

FORECAST FIRST AUTUMN FREEZE FOR EARLY TODAY

Illinois Farmers Warned to Protect Crops.

In special radio broadcasts last night Weather Forecaster H A. Downs warned Chicagoans and farmers thruout the state to anticipate frost and freezing temperature before dawn today.

The forecaster predicted the thermometer would register 32 degrees in the early morning hours. Farmers and flower and vegetable growers thruout Illinois took what measures they could to protect crops not yet matured.

The extent of possible frost damage depended upon the wind, which, while moderately strong and gusty yesterday, began diminishing last night, enhancing frost injury chances.

The lowest temperature yesterday was 34.9 degrees at 8 a. m., marking the day as the coldest Sept. 24 since 1928.

May Break Old Record.

In the 71 years of its existence, the weather bureau said, the earliest frost of any fall season hit Chicago on Sept. 20, 1896. The lowest temperature for any September day was 32 on Sept. 30, 1899.

Downs predicted the present cold spell would continue until almost noon today. Thereafter, the trend will be toward higher temperatures, he said.

As the cold weather warnings were broadcast, the floriculture division of the Chicago park district prepared to combat the expected frost and save its plants. Cuttings were made from as many plants as possible and others were protected with burlap.

Crop experts at the Chicago Board of Trade said the corn crop damage in the main producing states of Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa would not be great because 75 per cent of the corn had matured.

Northern Area Hurt.

It was feared that a frost would cause some damage to the heavy corn production in North and South Dakota, Minnesota, and northern Nebraska, where heavy rains had delayed the ripening of the crop.

Frost and freezing temperatures already have caused some damage to corn crops in Michigan and Wisconsin, but crop authorities pointed out these states were among the least important producers. The bulk of the Ohio crop was reported safely beyond the likelihood of frost damage.

Farm advisors in counties bordering Chicago said a hard frost at this moment would principally damage the soy bean crop. Estimates of possible loss ranged as high as 10 per cent for the crop in Du Page county.

U. S. JURY GETS NEW EVIDENCE IN SEDITION QUIZ

The special federal grand jury investigating sedition in the Chicago area was reported to have heard further evidence yesterday against 12 Negroes charged by the government with directing the activities of three organizations that investigators claim were at least partially financed by Japanese funds.

As the jury heard the testimony of government investigators and six persons who it is reported attended meetings of the Brotherhood of Liberty, one of the organizations under fire, Pauline Bahar, 33 years old, 6117 Rhodes avenue, secretary of the Temple of Islam, another of the groups named as seditious by prosecutors, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Dressed in a purple flowered turban and flowing oriental styled dress she pleaded not guilty to a sedition charge and was held in bonds of $10,000. Her hearing was continued until Sept. 30.

KNOX IN BALBOA TO SEE DEFENSES OF CANAL ZONE

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Sept. 24 (AP).—Secretary of the Navy Knox arrived in the Canal Zone today for an inspection of the new reënforced defenses of the vital Panama Canal. It was assumed he would confer with army and navy leaders here on the latest war developments and trends. The secretary, who last inspected this strategic crossways in December, 1940, arrived by navy plane from the United States.

At the navy department it was said that Knox's call at Balboa was a "routine visit of inspection."

However, it was recalled that on Sept. 11 Knox said he would visit Rio de Janeiro, stopping at American bases along the way, the trip to start within six weeks or two months of that date.

SEEKS GUARDIAN FOR ONCE RICH MRS. BERGDOLL

Media, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP).—A grandson of Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, mother of the widely publicized draft dodger of the first World war, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, today petitioned Delaware County court to appoint a guardian for the 81 year old matriarch of the once wealthy family.

The grandson, Louis J. Bergson Jr., whose father changed his name because he said Grover had disgraced it, told the court his grandmother has no property now.

LABOR SESSIONS RAP RELAXATION OF 48 HOUR LAW

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP).—Slight relaxation of the women's eight hour day and the six day week laws by the state department of labor drew a protest today from the Illinois Federation of Labor convention.

Delegates approved an executive board report attacking as "fundamentally wrong" the statement of the labor department that the relaxation is necessary in some cases to combat the labor shortage resulting from the war.

A state board with both employer and employé representation was set up several months ago by Labor Director Francis B. Murphy to pass upon applications of firms for permits to exceed the hourly work limits in "emergencies."

Policeman in Taxicab Dispute to Be Suspended

Policeman John F. McNulty of the motorcycle division, accused of unjustly issuing arrest tickets for parking violations to a cab driver, James McKeown, 34, of 209 East 70th street, will be suspended, Commissioner Allman said yesterday. McKeown testified before the police trial board Aug. 19 against McNulty's fellow policeman, Richard Zimmerman.

AMNESIA BRIDE'S FIRST HUSBAND LISTED AS SUICIDE

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 24 (AP).—Disclosure that the death of H. Pierce Weller, first husband of Mrs. Glory Weller Miller, was listed as a suicide today, injected a new note into the case of the blonde model who says she aroused from a state of amnesia to find herself married to a man she didn't know.

"He did it for me," said Mrs. Miller, 25 years old, now the wife of Henry Miller, a commercial photographer. "I wish he hadn't done it, or that he had killed me first."

A coroner's report said her first husband, H. Pierce Weller, 60, died of a self-inflicted bullet wound last November. Mrs. Miller blamed the shock for causing what she said was almost a year of forgetfulness during which she became Miller's wife without knowing it. She said she returned to realism Sunday night.

WLB TO KEEP ITS HANDS UNTIED BY WAGE 'FORMULA'

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—William H. Davis of the War Labor board asserted today that the board was "not going to tie its hands behind its back" and never approve any wage increase of more than the 15 per cent laid down in its Little Steel formula.

The chairman made the statement during arguments on a mediation panel's report recommending wage increases of $1 a day for 10,000 copper, lead, and zinc miners in Idaho and Utah and smelter workers in those states and Washington to halt their migration to better paying jobs.

PASTOR REPENTS FAILING TO STAND FOR U. S. ANTHEM

Repentant over failure to stand in a movie theater while the national anthem was being played, the Rev. Robert Moore and his wife, Viola, of Brodhead, Wis., yesterday won dis in Municipal court. The Moores were arrested last Jan. 30 when they were students in the Chicago Theological seminary and before their marriage and his ordination.

"They have suffered keenly because of the incident and have expressed very sincerely their repentance and regret at the foolish and ill considered act which brought the trouble upon them," Dr. Albert Palmer, president of the seminary, wrote to Judge Edward M. Luczak.

At an earlier hearing, the Rev. Mr. Moore, who is 24 years old, told Judge Lucznak that he did not stand because a child had fallen into the aisle and he was trying to give aid. Mrs. Moore, the former Viola Lindblade, 23, told the court she had been upset by newsreels depicting war scenes and because of her aversion to war. They offered to take oaths of allegiance in court.

COACH COMPANY EMPLOYES GIVEN INCREASE IN PAY

Benjamin Weintraub, president of the Chicago Motor Coach company, announced yesterday that negotiations had been completed with the Chicago Motor Coach Employés Fraternity under which the firm's 1,100 employés will receive pay increases aggregating $300,000 a year.

The new contract, which the company said was accepted by the trustees of the fraternity, takes effect today and will run for a year, superseding the old one that was to expire Dec. 31. Under the new schedule the top pay of drivers will be $1 an hour, an increase of 9 cents. Mechanics doing special work may earn as much as $1.07 an hour. The raise, plus another granted in 1941, gives the workers 15 to 19 per cent over the scales prevailing at the end of 1940, Weintraub said, and matches the general increase in the cost of living.

The agreement also provides that time and a half will be paid to employés working more than 48 hours a week. Provisions for vacations, insurance, sick benefits and pensions in effect are to be continued.

CONSIDER STATUS OF 1,700 SHIFTED TO U. S. PAY ROLL

The status of 1,700 civil service employés of the state of Illinois, who were transferred at the request of President Roosevelt to federal pay rolls, will be discussed at a meeting of the state civil service commission in Springfield today. These employés were in the state division of placement and unemployment compensation.

Robert L. Hunter, president of the commission, said that since those affected had no voice in the change it was possible the commission would grant them leaves of absence as long as the war lasts.

The same action, he said, might be taken in behalf of sanitary engineers who are being taken from the state health department to work for the government. Dr. Ronald R. Cross, state director of public health, has recommended special consideration for these engineers.

JUDGE TO HEAR ELEVATOR MEN'S WAGE DISPUTE

Circuit Judge Joseph Burke yesterday was named arbitrator in the dispute between members of Local No. 66, Elevator Operators' union [AFL], and the Buliding Managers' association.

Judge Burke will meet Monday with representatives of the union and building managers to begin hearings on the union's demand for a new contract and wage increases.

The previous contract expired June 30, and negotiations for a new one have been under way since that date. The union, representing 2,500 men, seeks an increase from $155 to $195 a month for operators in buildings of nine stories or higher, and from $148.75 to $188.75 in other buildings.

SENATE VOTES FUNDS TO PROBE PETRILLO'S BAN

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—The senate today unanimously approved an expenditure up to $5,000 for an investigation of a union ban against the making of musical records and transcriptions for radio stations and "juke" boxes.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], chairman of the interstate commerce committee, indicated that he will appoint a subcommittee within a few days to launch what he called "a full fledged" inquiry into activities of James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, who announced the ban several weeks ago.

OREGON IS SCENE OF MAJOR BATTLE TO SMEAR G. O. P.

Sen. McNary Main Target of Democratic Drive.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Portland, Ore., Sept. 24.—Oregon is the scene of a major effort to discredit the Republican party as the party of opposition to American intervention in the war prior to the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor.

The reason for this special effort of the administration and other forces seeking to purge congress of prewar noninterventionists is that this is the state of Sen. Charles L. McNary, Republican leader of the senate and Republican candidate for vice president in 1940, who is seeking reëlection in November to a seventh senate term.

McNary is the highest ranking Republican candidate in the congressional election. He was the protagonist of Republican nonintervention before the country was forced into the war. Defeat of McNary in this election would constitute undeniably an impressive instance of popular repudiation of Republican policy.

Democratic Indictment.

Here is the Democratic indictment of McNary, issued by Fred Fisk, Democratic state chairman:

"On 11 crucial votes on foreign policy, he supported the President only twice—on the conscription bill and the lend-lease bill [altho he voted for amendments designed to make the draft act unworkable and voted against the lend-lease appropriation]. He voted against the administration on such issues as continuance of the mandatory arms embargo, the neutrality law and the arming of merchant ships. He voted against 18 months extension of military training [only four months before Pearl Harbor] and he voted to limit the use of our armed forces to the western hemisphere. On 10 vital domestic issues he voted with the administration only once—against reduction in the appropriation for the CCC. He was not in the senate chamber when the anti-labor spy bill came up for passage."

McNary Undisturbed.

So far McNary has not deigned to answer the Democratic attack. The Republican state committee, however, issued a statement in behalf of the senator with his approval which is based on the consideration that what matters now is not prewar views but the adoption of measures for a more efficient conduct of the war.

The statement, issued for inclusion in the "voters' pamphlet" of candidates' pledges under the Oregon law, concludes as follows:

"In this global war, McNary takes the position that there must be unanimous support in the vigorous and efficient prosecution of the war. His insistence is on efficiency wherein neither profits nor service charges, social gains nor any other factors be permitted for American soldiers, sailors, and marines in our camps and overseas.

Viewed As Public Duty.

"This position, he contends, is a necessary public service to force the taking of corrective steps which will assure more efficient and less wasteful methods of conducting our war activities.

"The task now, as Sen. McNary sees it, is to work out a formula which will command the support of all and prevent internal strife which might easily nullify the progress made at the cost of great sacrifice.

"The people of our country, irrespective of past differences, are now united in the sole purpose of winning the war. Thereafter they will do their part in constructing a world where all may live in peace and security."

McNary's Democratic opponent, Walter W. Whitbeck, is a perennial candidate for local offices, having run 15 times without getting elected to anything up to date. Advocacy of old age pensions is his principal political stock in trade. This time, however, in fighting McNary, he is specializing on isolationism.

Backed by Public Opinion.

Republican leaders profess to be undisturbed by the Democratic line of attack. They say that McNary's attitude before the war was unmistakably that of the overwhelming majority of the people of Oregon and that in voting to repudiate the senator they necessarily would repudiate themselves, which few are likely to do. The McNary campaign managers predict reëlection by one of the largest majorities he ever has received.

In the Salem district Republican Congressman James W. Mott is another target of Democratic attack for his prewar opposition to intervention. The Democratic candidate is Earl Nott, a prominent lawyer and former district attorney—a strong candidate but not likely to get to first base against Mott.

Mott once was an actor and has a way with an audience. When Republican interventionists set out to make trouble for him, he flew from Washington to Oregon, walked into the 1st district convention, took the platform and in no time had the delegates on their feet cheering him.

May Unseat Veteran.

In the eastern district the Republicans have a good chance of defeating octogenarian Rep. Walter M. Pierce, an ardent New Dealer and prewar interventionist. His Republican opponent is Lowell Stockman, a huge hard muscled man who practices dirt farming on a large scale.

Altho Pierce in his decade in congress has made the eastern district Democratic territory, the farmer reaction against the Roosevelt inflation policy and the New Deal generally threatens his defeat.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ETHA HENNEBERRY.

George F. Henneberry, wealthy head of a rotogravure company, yesterday filed suit for divorce from Mrs. Etha Henderson Henneberry, his second wife, whom he remarried eight months after she divorced him in August, 1938.

Henneberry's suit, filed in Superior court by Attorney Robert Cantwell, charges desertion. The petition stated that the Henneberry's second marriage was in Joliet April 12, 1939. They separated Sept. 15, 1941.

Henneberry, a widely known sportsman, is 62 years old. He lives on a 1,500 acre estate near Barrington. Mrs. Henneberry, 20 years his junior, and a former top-flight golfer, is reported to be living out of the state.

The Henneberrys married for the first time in 1932, a year after he was divorced by the former Janet Hibbard. Mrs. Henneberry's first husband, whom she divorced in 1930, was Jack Henderson, an official of a publishing company. They had two sons.

PAINTERS' UNION TO INVESTIGATE SLUGGER CHARGE

Whether George Henneman and Charles Youngblood, business agents of the painters' district council, who have been described by State's Attorney Courtney as "racketeers and undesirables," will be fired will be decided by the executive board of the national painters' union. This was announced yesterday by Lawrence P. Lindelof of Lafayette, Ind., the national president.

"I have received Mr. Courtney's charges against these men," Lindelof said, "and we are making our own investigation. We are not going to be slipshod, and when all the evidence is in, the board will take whatever action is justified."

A true bill charging Henneman with malicious mischief and conspiracy, based on accusations that he smashed the windows of a restaurant, was reported voted by the grand jury on Wednesday. Youngblood is a former convict who killed Arthur W. Wallace, head of the district council, in a pistol battle last July. Both have long police records and Courtney has informed them they are thru as labor leaders in Chicago.

WOODSTOCK MAN, MARINE OFFICER, KILLED IN ACTION

Lieut. Robert J. Sweeney, 22 years old, son of T. J. Sweeney, 651 Washington street, Woodstock, was killed in action in the Pacific war theater, his father was informed yesterday by the navy department. He was a member of the marine corps.

Lieut. Sweeney, a graduate of St. Mary's High school, Woodstock, enlisted in May, 1941. He reported for duty in June, 1941, after graduating from the University of Illinois. He left the west coast for the Pacific fighting area last June.

In his last letter to his father, mailed July 30 and received Wednesday, Lieut. Sweeney wrote: "Well, we're in it. The boys ahead are in the scrap and we'll be in there next."

CHARGES FOURTH TERM POLITICS IS HAMPERING WAR

Pettengill Demands Able Men Replace Bunglers.

S. B. Pettengill.

New York, Sept. 24 [Special].—The New Deal party is postponing victory by taking time out to play fourth term politics and by reluctance of its fuzzy minded theorists to let capable men run the war, Samuel B. Pettengill, newly appointed chairman of the Republican national finance committee, charged today.

Pettengill, former Democratic member of congress from Indiana, made his accusations in a statement giving his reasons for accepting the G. O. P. job.

"I have accepted the chairmanship of the Republican national finance committee," Pettengill said, "because I believe that the only political instrument thru which the constitutional freedoms of this republic can be restored and maintained is the Republican party.

Democratic Party Dead.

"If principles mean anything, the Democratic party no longer exists as a national organization. It has been strangled by the New Deal party. This party has abandoned every Jeffersonian principle. It is the party of collectivism, national socialism, complete governmental control over the lives of men.

"The Republican party recognizes its duty in time of war and will perform it. It stands for victory at the earliest possible date and with the least possible loss of life. It pledges 100 per cent effort to winning the war."

Pettengill then charged that the New Deal party is postponing victory, adding that the longer the war needlessly lasts, the more men needlessly must die.

People Ahead of Leaders.

"The New Deal party still caters to the 'gimmies' in refusing to strip for action by cutting out every dime of nonessential spending," he continued. "It thus wastes the sinews of war.

"The American people are not behind the administration—they are way ahead of it. They know this is Valley Forge, but without the spirit of General Washington. The people are ready to accept any needed sacrifice, but they know we will pay a fearful price for victory unless we concentrate on the war and stop using the war to promote alien philosophies of government."

FIVE BOOKIES PAY FINES.

DRIVE CANDIDATE FROM MISSISSIPPI BECAUSE OF RACE

Still Has a Chance to Win, Says Council.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The Rev. James Arthur Parsons, Negro minister, who is a write-in candidate for congress in the 1st Mississippi district, opposing Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.], has been forced to leave his home in Tupelo, Miss., as a result of the political activity in his behalf and has withdrawn to St. Louis, Mo., Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, announced here tonight.

Council to Continue Fight.

In a letter to Brown, the Rev. Parsons said that he no longer considers himself a candidate for office. Brown said this decision was made because life had been made unpleasant for Parsons in his home, certain citizens of Tupelo having demonstrated forcibly that they do not approve of the idea of a Negro running for congress.

Brown said the Negro council will continue to advocate to Negro service men entitled to absentee soldier ballots from the 1st congressional district that they disregard the withdrawal and write in the Rev. Parsons' name on their ballots.

Vote Opposed by Rankin.

Rankin opposed the soldiers' vote measure principally because the anti-poll tax amendment extended the vote to Negro soldiers.

Brown estimated there are 13,000 Negroes in the armed services from the district. Rankin was nominated by a vote of about 6,000 to 4,000 for his opponent. For this reason, Brown said that Parsons, the first Negro to run for congress in the deep south, has a chance of election.

CHICAGO CLERK, WIFE, AND CHILD LOST IN SINKING

A Chicago missionary and his wife and one of their three children were lost in the recent sinking in the Caribbean of a ship from French Equatorial Africa, Russell T. Hitt of the Moody Bible institute announced today.

Those lost were Harvey Shaw, his wife, Vera, both missionaries in Africa, and their daughter, Georgia, 10 years old. Two other children of the couple, Richard, 13, and Carol, 7, were among survivors of the sinking who were rescued.

Shaw and his wife, both of whom attended the Moody institute, were Baptist missionaires working under the auspices of the Mid-Missions at Mishawaka, Ind. They were returning to this country because of ill health, Hitt said, when their ship was torpedoed.

STIMSON DROPS PROTEST; SENDS AEF VOTE CARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The war department today announced that thousands of ballot application cards have been sent to soldiers overseas to facilitate their voting in the November congressional election.

In making the announcement Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson acknowledged he had bowed to the will of congress and abandoned his original position that the distribution of ballots would be impractical.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, who also had insisted the sending of ballots to sailors outside the United States was impracticable, capitulated on his stand last week.

At most distant bases, where it would be impossible to send back the application cards and get ballots in time for the soldiers to vote in the November elections, commanding officers have been authorized to make up the application forms on the spot.

Brandon also announced the appointment of Dr. Valerie E. Genitis, formerly on the Cook County hospital staff, as pediatrician at the Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Children's school at Normal.

Food energy makes beets ideal for nutritious dishes

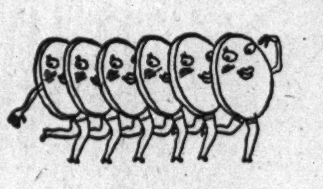
easy to cook with your electric range

BEET CONSERVE
5 cups raw beets
3 cups sugar
1 cup honey
3 cups water
2 lemons, cut in thin strips
1 tablespoon ground ginger

Put the peeled beets through coarse knife of the food chopper. Add the other ingredients, bring to boil and cook for nearly one hour, stirring occasionally to prevent scorching. Pour in sterilized glasses, seal at once with paraffin.



SLICED OVEN BAKED BEETS
3 cups sliced beets
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 dash nutmeg
½ cup water

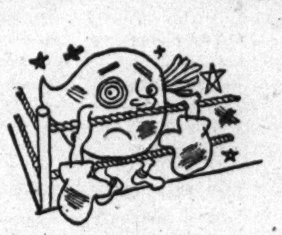
DICED BEETS WITH ONIONS
2 cups diced beets
½ cup chopped onion
4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon salt

Peel and dice beets, put in sauce pan with remaining ingredients, cover. Turn on high heat to boiling, then simmer or low for 20 minutes.



BEET SAUCE
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup water
¾ tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon grated horseradish
½ cup finely chopped, cooked beets

Melt butter, add flour, blend well, gradually add water, bring to boil, and add remaining ingredients. This sauce will add flavor to baked or fried fish.

Interesting note: Beet tops belong on your table and not in the garbage can. They not only furnish tasty green vegetables, but they contain more iron than spinach, and are rated with turnip tops as one of the highest sources of vitamins A, B_1, and G. In fact they are twice as rich as eggs, weight for weight, in vitamin G.

Helen Scott, home advisor

America's watchword on the home front is, "Eat Nutritional Foods." But the story goes further than that. Foods may start out packed with nourishment before they're cooked, yet when they're ready to eat, a good part of the vitamins and other food essentials may have been cooked out into the water and poured down the drain.

Fresh beets contain a good percentage of carbohydrates as well as vitamins, proteins and minerals. To get the healthful contents and flavor of fresh beets, particularly if you have an electric range, follow these simple rules:

1. Select beets by their deep red color and the fresh crispness of the leaves.
2. Be sure they are tender . . . old, woody beets will never get tender.
3. Peel off the surface skin which acts as an insulator and prolongs cooking.
4. Use only enough water to cover the bottom of the pan.
5. Using a tight-fitting cover on pan brings beets to full steam using high heat.
6. Continue cooking with simmer heat until tender.

The use of little water plus intense high heat provides quick steaming and helps prevent loss of vitamins and minerals. Simmer heat continues to keep these vitamins and minerals from boiling away.

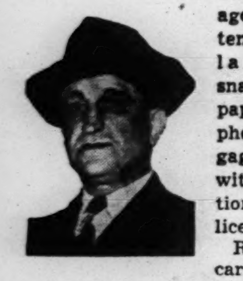
ROMANO, LABOR 'EXPERT,' SHOWS OFF AT SHOWUP

Has No Idea Why He Was Taken Into Custody.



Louis Romano.

A self-styled "labor expert, conciliator, and adviser," Louis Romano, ousted business agent of the Bartenders' union, last night snapped at newspaper photographers and engaged in repartee with his questioners at the police showup.

Romano, whose career has linked him with such underworld notables as Frank Nitti, Murray Humphreys, Paul Ricca, and Louis Campagna, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Leo Mikel and Melvin Johnson of the Summerdale station as he sat in a bowling alley at 5221 Broadway.

Says He Sells Jewelry.

At the Summerdale station, Romano said he is 48 years old and lives at 735 Junior terrace. He also said he sold jewelry.

His performance at the showup drew applause from the more than 200 spectators, unaccustomed to the brand of crude wit which Romano proffered.

Asked what his occupation was, Romano replied:

"I am a labor conciliator, a labor expert, and a labor adviser. Do you want any advice?"

Romano said that he was not at present with any union, but that he had been with a "legitimate" union—the bartenders.

Why He Was Arrested.

Detective Mikel explained that Romano was arrested because "it is the policy of the Summerdale police to arrest every known hoodlum found in the district."

Romano said that he hadn't the faintest idea why he had been arrested.

"All I know," he said, "is that a guy I used to work with driving a Checker cab 22 years ago [Detective Mikel] came in and said, 'Let's go.'"

Romano was held without charge all night.

New Bombardiers

NEW COMPLAINT WILL BE FILED IN $110,000 SUIT

Attorney Charles R. Aiken said yesterday he would file today in federal court an amended complaint in the $110,000 breach of contract suit of Mrs. Katherine Gertrude Buchanan, a widow, against Louis F. Swift Jr., vice president of the packing firm. Aiken said he would act in accordance with the ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals which reversed a previous order of Judge William H. Holly dismissing the case. Mrs. Buchanan of San Antonio, Tex., alleged Swift had broken a contract to support her and her two children.

MOTORIST FINED $500; VICTIM'S LEG AMPUTATED

Driver Admits He Drank Beer Before Accident.

Judge Erwin J. Hasten in Safety court yesterday assessed the maximum fine of $500 for reckless driving on a motorist who ran down and crippled for life an elderly religious teacher. The motorist is John Boryszewski, 51 years old, 5359 South Spaulding avenue, a stockroom employé.

Testimony showed that on June 6 Boryszewski disregarded a traffic policeman's signal to stop at Harrison street and Western avenue and ran down Brother J. Leo, 68 years old, a Christian brother who taught in St. George's High school, Evanston. As a result of the accident the teacher's right leg was amputated.

Two Stories of Beer Drinking.

Traffic Policeman Francis O'Grady testified he had to commandeer a passing car and chase Boryszewski several blocks. Boryszewski, the policeman said, admitted he had drunk four or five beers. Yesterday he said he had taken only two glasses of beer.

Attorney Bernard J. McDonnell, counsel for the teacher, said that Boryszewski had transferred his home to a relative in anticipation of a damage suit.

Boryszewski was allowed until Sept. 30 to pay the fine or work it out in the Bridewell.

In two other cases, Stanley Skrentny, 21, 2640 Barry avenue, was fined $35 for passing a street car on the wrong side, and James Aarup, 21, of 6351 Carpenter street, was fined $25 for speeding.

Other Fines Exceed $1,000.

In Traffic court Judge John Gutknecht issued warrants for 35 motorists who failed to appear on speeding charges. One hundred thirty-one other motorists were fined a total of $1,031 in speeding cases.

Motorists on park drives are observing the 35 mile an hour speed limit, Acting Chief Edward M. Redd of the park district police force said.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Emil Denemark.

The government is expected to seek contempt citations today against three witnesses who were reported to have refused to testify before the federal grand jury investigating alleged illegal sales of automobiles since the government's freezing order went into effect on Jan. 6. The names of the witnesses were not disclosed, and Leroy Krein, assistant United States attorney, would not comment. Earlier in the day, Emil Denemark, automobile dealer, appeared in answer to a grand jury subpena but was instructed to return today.

NEW DOWNTOWN ARMY INDUCTION STATION TO OPEN

The Fort Sheridan army induction station will be moved to the third and fourth floors of the Insurance Exchange building, 175 West Jackson boulevard, next Thursday, Col. Edward F. Shaifer, Chicago army recruiting and induction officer, said yesterday.

The new station will be able to handle 650 men a day and will bring the city's total induction capacity to 1,500 men daily. The present station, at 515 South Franklin street, will continue its present functions under existing plans. In addition to a capacity of 850 inductees, the Franklin street station is equipped to receive 200 volunteers and WAAC recruits.

Moving of WAAC recruiting offices to the Insurance Exchange building may be decided upon later, army officers said. The army has abandoned plans, at least for the present, to move the army aviation cadet board into the new quarters.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

B. L. writes: "I am a single man, aged 36. I live with my mother, who has a very small income, less than $15 a month. I have always provided most of the money necessary for her support. I am now 1-A in the draft, and expect to be called soon. Friends have told me that only men who enlist can obtain an allowance from the government for their dependents. Is it true that draftees cannot receive such help?"

ANSWER: No. Any soldier in the four lowest grades of the army may obtain benefits for relatives and dependents. You will be given an opportunity to make an application after you are inducted. It will be necessary for you to submit proof of both relationship and dependency for an allotment for your mother, since she would be a class "B" dependent.

C. J. writes: "My husband is in the armed forces. Am I eligible for an allotment?"

ANSWER: Without more exact information, it is impossible to answer your question. If your husband is an officer or an air cadet or is in the first, second, or third pay grades of either the army or the navy, you would not be eligible for benefits under the service men's dependents act. We ask that all readers who have similar questions give specific information as to the man's rank and the branch of service.

Mrs. P. D. asks: "Will you please send me some of the affidavits you have for distribution? My husband is in the army and is making an application for an allowance for me."

ANSWER: The affidavits which this department has are necessary only for class "B" dependents. As a wife, you are a class "A" dependent and will not have to prove dependency. Documentary evidence of relationship is necessary, however, and I would suggest that you obtain a certified copy of the public or church record of your marriage and forward that to your husband, to be submitted with his application.

Mrs. J. G. writes: "Please tell me where to obtain an application blank. My son is in the army and I'm not sure that he applied for an allotment for me. He's apt to be forgetful about such things, and I will do it myself to save him the trouble and prevent delay."

ANSWER: You may cause delay, rather than prevent it, if you send in an application if your son also has applied without your knowledge. It is suggested that dependents do not file unless they are positive that service men have not or will not do so. Commanding officers will supply official blanks to service men. It always is preferable for the service man to make the application, but, if necessary, dependents may apply to the American Red Cross for assistance in filing applications.

Mrs. B. J. asks: "Can you tell me where I can obtain information on sending a message to my son, who is a prisoner of war? A friend told me that there was some way in which I could send him a letter."

ANSWER: Such messages are handled thru the International Red Cross. The Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, 616 South Michigan avenue, can advise you as to the proper procedure.

INSTALMENT XLVII.

TRIBUTE.

"Did Juanito tell you Raquel was his sister?" James was enormously moved and astonished at the tale Rosemary told.

"No—he said she was 'a dear friend.' And then he wrote me an exercise, as he called it, in the book, and said she would help me translate it, if I would show it to her.

"It was while he was writing it that I got to be quite sure who he was—his profile was so like hers. And the man in the exercise was called Manuel Jereda."

"But how fantastic! It was the most tremendous risk to take, letting you know all that," James said.

"I know. But I think he was simply desperate, he wanted to see her so much. I heard him asking the Parrot if he couldn't go and see 'her,' and I realized afterwards who he meant—he said 'as she is so near.' And when I told him that she was in Paris, he was rather upset. He hadn't heard about the conde being let out, and her going back, either, till I told him," said Rosemary unthinkingly.

"Good heavens!" said James. "Do you mean to say he's heard that from you?"

"Yes, it does seem extraordinary, doesn't it? But I'm sure the Parrot and that wretched duquesa kept him completely in the dark, and her too—she had no idea that he'd been coming to Biarritz. She was furious when she heard that I'd seen him."

James remembered his own doubts on this head after his visit to Pablo the barber. Well, they were laid now, once for all. But there were other points he wanted to clear up—these constant references to the Parrot, for instance. He went for that next.

"Who is this Parrot you keep on talking about?" he asked.

She told him that whole story, then, from the expedition up La Rhune, and the two episodes of the photographs, to her drive with Crumpaun, and the closing of the little col, and her final clinching eavesdropping under the sea wall at the Chambre d'Amour. "Mr. Crumpet was sure the Parrot was the head of the spy racket, even without hearing that last part," she said at the end. "And so am I. What do you think?"

"Obviously. I wonder who he is?" James meditated aloud. "O well, it makes no difference now. But I think our intelligence people ought to employ you in the next war," he said, bending his intense gaze on her. "I never heard such a story in my life!"

"It only just happened like that," she disclaimed.

"O no, it didn't," he said. "You were very observant, and intelligent, and discreet—and you kept your mouth shut. If you had shouted about the photographs that first morning at the Bar Basque, your father would have heard of it, and made a row with the shop, and 10 chances to one the Parrot, as you call him, would never have got them from old Jacques at all." He paused. "Funny!" he exclaimed—"I remember noticing you that morning when you were looking at them—you blushed, and looked angry. I asked you to let me see them, to find out what had upset you—do you remember?"

Rosemary remembered very well indeed, as she did everything where he was concerned.

"Yes, I do," she said, casually. "But look—we're sitting here talking about how it all happened, and all that. But don't you think we ought to be finding out more about him? Exactly what he died of, and all that? Some one here must know, the doctor or the nurse. And she will want to know."

"Yes," he said. "De Novelles must have been right, of course—he will have been wounded on the Segre, and come out over the Col d'Ares from the Rivas. We must get hold of the doctor and find out all about it."

He threw away his cigaret. "Yes, we must do that. I'll just take this down." And he in his turn knelt by the grave and began to copy the inscription on the rough wooden cross. He heard a little click, and looked round. Rosemary was standing a few paces away—she had taken his photograph. The tears were in her eyes again.

"You don't mind, do you?" she said apologetically. "But she will want a picture of his grave, and I think she would like you in it. I'll take one without, too, when you've done."

When they had both finished and he was putting away his notebook—"What day is it?" he asked suddenly—"that date, I mean?"

"The twenty-seventh." She supposed he wanted to note it down. But instead he walked very slowly over to the wall, leaned against it, and remained so, looking down at the grave and its humble cross in silence.

"Where do you suppose we could get any flowers?" he said at last.

"Here? I've no idea. There's one pretty poor shop in Amelie."

"Must it be today?" she asked.

"Yes." He looked up at her, thoughtfully—and then, as one who has taken a decision, he spoke.

"Today's her birthday, and his too."

"O! O no." It was the same tone of pure pity that he remembered so clearly in her voice the day that she ran out after him to the little Phare at St. Jean.

"Yes," he said. "And when they were children they used to get up early and each put flowers on the other's bed—the great excitement was to do it before the other waked." He paused again. "Well, he won't wake this time," he said, in a tone of unutterable sadness—"but I thought we might put some flowers over him for his birthday—for her."

"Yes—O yes." She stood for a moment, her brow wrinkled in thought. "I know," she exclaimed suddenly—"I remember! Come on—let's go and get the car."

They went down again to the square outside the main gate, leaving a note at the inn on the way for the Capitaine, who was taking his siesta, asking for the names and addresses of the doctor who had attended Manuel Jereda, and the nurse, if any. Then they took the car, and under Rosemary's instructions James drove out beyond the camp, and parked. She led him up over the grassy slopes above the road to the edge of the woods where the ground was a shadowy blue with trailing periwinkles, and here and there blue windflowers were coming into bloom.

"How did you know these were here?" James asked, startled and pleased.

"They were just in bud that day we came to the camp, and I pottered about up here while I was waiting for you," she answered, stooping and beginning to gather the small bright things. "Were you asking about him, too?" she asked, pausing in her task and sitting back on her heels to look up at him, "as well as the Mexico racket, when you went to all the camps?"

"Yes, I was."

"O dear—how silly that we didn't both know." She bent down again and went on gathering the windflowers. James helped a little.

"You are a good friend!" he said suddenly.

The warm tone of liking made the girl's heart give a great bound. She was at that moment in a rather exalted state. The sudden revelation of Juanito's death had been a considerable shock to her, and she had been greatly moved by discovering it with James, and by the story of the birthday flowers. [That one thing Raquel, in all her many trivial confidences, had never told her—she had kept that for him.] And now, too, she and James, together, were doing this last thing for them, for Raquel and Juanito.

Every tender fine and gentle chord in her was quivering under these happenings, vibrating with a sort of passionate sensitiveness, so that the beauty of the afternoon, of the place, and his presence made a sort of music in her that could hardly be borne, so deep was the bliss. She said nothing when he spoke. She bent her head lower over the flower-starred earth, to hide the color that flooded up over her clear brown skin. She was remembering another late afternoon, up in Pierre Loti's orchard outside the Grotte de Sare, when she had sat and dreamed about Milcom, till her dreams were interrupted by the advent of Juanito. She had dreamed then without hope. Now, hope was unfolding and expanding in her heart, as delicately and silently as these blue wind-flowers in the still wintry wood. For that had been autumn, and this, some deep secret knowledge cried in her, was spring, was spring.

When her hands were full, Rosemary asked James for his hat, lined it neatly with a clean pocket handkerchief, and put the blue flowers in it. "Now let's get some of the pink ones," she said.

THESE RECIPES WILL HELP YOU IN JELLY MAKING

It's Grape Time and Here Is Way to Handle Them.

Those blue-black Concord grapes from the northwest may be more difficult to eat with the fingers than their more attractive relations from other parts of the country, but there's certainly no objection to their flavor in jams and jellies and luscious pies.

When you buy a basket of the grapes, try to use them just as quickly as possible, for they don't keep well. If there are any poor ones among the bunch, however, be sure to discard them before proceeding with your jam and jelly making spree.

Grape Jelly.

Wash and stem grapes. Place in preserving kettle, crush and add ½ cup water for each 2 quarts of grapes. Cook until pulpy and the seeds are free. Extract juice thru a jelly bag. Let juice stand a day or two as a precaution against crystals. Measure and bring to a boil in preserving kettle. Add ¾ as much sugar as juice, by measure. Boil rapidly over high heat until the sirup sheets from the edge of a spoon. Skim and pour into sterilized glasses. Paraffin at once.

Grape Jam.

Wash grapes and discard poor ones, leaving remainder on the stems. Place in kettle with only enough water to cover the bottom. Heat gently, slightly crushing the grapes. Cook for half an hour, or until grapes are soft. Press pulp thru a sieve, measure and add two-thirds the amount of sugar. Cook rapidly until thick, stirring to prevent burning. Pour into hot, sterile jars and seal.

Grape and Crab Apple Jam.

Wash Concord grapes and discard poor ones, but do not remove the other grapes from the stems. Place in a kettle and add cold water to about a third the depth of the grapes. Boil for about 30 minutes, strain the juice thru a jelly bag, measure and add an equal amount of diced crab apples. Bring the mixture to a boil and add two-thirds as much sugar as combined apples and juice. Boil rapidly until thick and clear. Pour the jam into hot, clean jars and seal.

Concord Grape Pie.

Pastry for 9-inch pie
4 cups Concord grapes
1 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter

Skin grapes, saving skins, and put pulp in saucepan without water. Bring to a boil. While hot, put thru a strainer to remove seeds. Combine strained pulp with skins. Mix sugar, flour, and salt together. Sprinkle about a quarter of this mixture over the bottom of pastry lined pie plate and mix the remainder with grapes. Add lemon juice. Turn into pie plate and dot with butter. Cover with top crust which has been slashed to allow for the escape of steam. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate, 350 degrees, and bake 30 minutes longer, or until lightly browned.

Nutritious and Delicious

Meat pie casserole with biscuit crust is a main dish popular with all members of the family. It's a good "meat stretcher" besides being a nutritious and delicious combination of meat and vegetables. Cover cooked vegetable-meat mixture with a tender butter-biscuit crust, rolled about one inch thick and slashed to prevent sogginess. Use 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅓ cup butter, and ⅔ cup milk. Bake in a 425 degree F. oven for 20 to 25 minutes until crust is well browned.

DON'T THROW AWAY SOUR CREAM; USE IT FOR COOKIE MAKING

Don't discard that remaining cup of cream which has turned sour, for it helps to make these flavorsome cookies tender and tasty.

Butterscotch Sour Cream Cookies.

[About five dozen.]

1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup thick sour cream
4 cups fine whole wheat flour, sifted
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
Pecan halves

Cream butter and sugar thoroly. Add unbeaten egg and mix well. Add sour cream. Add flour sifted with baking powder, salt, and soda. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Place a pecan half, or a peanut, on top of each cookie. Bake at 400 degrees about 15 minutes.

You Will Like Cabbage When Prepared This Way

The homely cabbage deserves plenty of attention when it's served like this. Chop one medium head of cabbage rather coarsely, toss into skillet containing 2 tablespoons hot bacon drippings, and sauté until the cabbage is limp. Next add enough hot water to cover the bottom of the pan and cover tightly. Steam for about 5 minutes. Add salt and pepper to taste and the juice of 1 lemon just before ready to serve. A sprinkling of caraway seed over the cabbage is good, too.

MAPLE FLAVORED SANDWICH MAKES PLEASING SUPPER

Sauteed Tomato Sandwich.

[Six servings.]

6 slices enriched white bread
Softened butter
3 or 4 tomatoes
Flour, salt, and pepper
2 tablespoons shortening
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon maple sirup
¾ cup milk
6 slices bacon, broiled

Toast slices of enriched bread and spread with softened butter. Remove stem ends and cut tomatoes crosswise into slices about one inch thick. Dip slices in flour, seasoned with salt and pepper. Brown quickly on both sides in shortening in frying pan. Remove from pan and keep warm. Blend one tablespoon flour with maple sirup in shortening left in frying pan. Add milk, and cook, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Pour over slice of toast. Top with hot tomato slices. Garnish with broiled bacon.

Use Good Vinegar.

A good salad depends upon its dressing, and the dressing depends upon the vinegar used. Make it with a good wine or cider vinegar.

Advice on Canning Still Is Being Sought.

Judging by the number of calls on canning received daily in this department, many of the season's canners apparently started on their adventures without sufficient and accurate information.

Now is the time to buy up those last fruits of the season, and now is the time, too, to equip yourself with a complete and up-to-date canning handbook. Mary Meade's booklet, "Homemaker's Guide to Canning" covers the subject of canning in a clear, detailed manner. It gives rules for general canning methods [hot water bath, pressure cooker, and oven processing], tells explicity how to sterilize, fill, seal, test, and store jars. It also gives directions for making sirups for fruit canning, substituting corn sirup for sugar, and canning without sugar for pie making and use by diabetics. Detailed instructions are given for canning all of the well-known fruits, vegetables, meats, and fish.

Still Use for Booklet.

Get a copy of this all-inclusive booklet today, use it for the last of the season's canning, and have it on hand for the beginning of the next canning season when strawberries and other berries first appear. [This booklet does not contain recipes for jams and jellies or pickle making. These subjects are covered in other Mary Meade booklets listed below.]

You may pick up "Homemaker's Guide to Canning" at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower lobby, for 5 cents; or write to Mary Meade, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, enclosing 7 cents in stamps, and it will be mailed to you.

SANDWICH FILLER OF COOKED LIVER IS TASTE WINNER

Liver at least once a week is the goal set for us by the National Nutrition council. If your family says "No" when it comes to liver, try this cooked filling. It's a winner!

Cooked Liver Sandwich Filling.

[2 cups filling—enough for 8 sandwiches]

1 cup chopped cooked beef liver
3 strips bacon
1 cup finely grated raw carrot
¼ cup boiled salad dressing or mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Lay the bacon strips in a cold skillet. Cook slowly over a low heat until crisp. Pour off all fat except one or two tablespoons, add the cooked liver, and crumble the bacon. Let the mixture cook for a few minutes. Cool and add the finely grated raw carrot, salad dressing, and salt and pepper. Mix and spread on white or rye bread.

HERE'S SECRET OF THOSE CRISP BREADSTICKS

Crunchy breadsticks, that you eat so frequently in restaurants, can be made at home, too. Their crusty texture is produced by brushing the strands of dough with a little water, then baking them quickly until crisp.

Breadsticks.

[About 2½ dozen.]

½ package fast granular yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
½ teaspoon honey or corn sirup
½ cup scalded milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons corn sirup
1 beaten egg white [optional]
3 tablespoons melted shortening
3 cups sifted flour [about]

Pour the granular yeast into the ½ cup lukewarm water, add the ½ teaspoon honey or corn sirup, stir and let stand five minutes. Scald the milk, dissolve in it the salt and remaining sirup, then cool until lukewarm. Measure 1½ cups of the flour and place in mixing bowl. Add the softened yeast to lukewarm milk mixture and blend with flour in bowl. Beat until smooth. Next, add the beaten egg white, the shortening, and remaining flour. Knead into a smooth, medium-soft dough, adding a little more flour if necessary. Place in covered, greased bowl and let rise in a warm place until doubled. Fold dough down and let rise again ¾ as much as first time. Turn onto floured board and divide dough into about 30 equal portions as large as a small egg. Then roll each piece of dough under your hands into a strand, about six inches long. Place them one inch apart on greased baking sheet. Let rise about one hour, or until tender when pressed. Brush tops with water, sprinkle lightly with salt, and bake 20 minutes, or until crisp, in a 375 degree oven.

Prepare Canned Vienna Sausages in Many Ways

Canned, read cooked Vienna sausages can be used in a number of ways to vary the menu. Try them sliced in salads, cream sauces, soups, scrambled eggs, or vegetable casseroles. They're good, too, with scalloped potatoes. For a main dish, try wrapping them in bacon or biscuit dough, or barbecue them for a change.

TWO WAYS GIVEN FOR PRESERVING OF FRESH EGGS

May Be Kept for Ten Months.

With careful handling, surplus supplies of fresh eggs can be safely preserved in a water glass solution of lime water for 10 months. When choosing eggs for preservation be sure they are thoroly clean, fresh, and uncracked, for even small cracks in an egg may cause spoilage of the entire lot.

Slightly soiled eggs may be wiped with a cloth, dampened in vinegar, to remove the stain, but never wash the eggs in water or soap and water, or the protective coating over the shell will be removed.

Eggs may be added to either of these solutions whenever available, and they may be removed at any time. Eggs preserved in this manner are best for cooking purposes only, but if they are used as breakfast eggs, scrambling gives the best results.

Eggs Preserved in Water Glass.

To make water glass solution heat 11 quarts of water to boiling, cool and pour into a five gallon crock which has been thoroly cleaned, scalded, and dried. Add one quart of sodium silicate [water glass], which may be purchased at most drug stores. Stir the mixture well. This amount is sufficient for about 12 dozen eggs and will allow a necessary two inches of solution above the last layer of eggs. Place eggs in crock carefully, cover with a tight lid or board to prevent evaporation and store in a cool, dry place.

Eggs Preserved in Lime Water.

Dissolve two pounds of slack lime in a small amount of water. Measure five gallons of water, bring to a boil and let cool. Mix with dissolved lime, stir well and let stand until lime settles to bottom of container. Pour clear liquid off the top into clean five gallon crock holding clean, fresh eggs. Lime water should cover the eggs by at least two inches at all times. Cover with tight fitting lid and store in cool place.

Best Cuts for Beef Loaf.

To make an economical beef loaf or patties, purchase beef ground from the neck, chuck, flank, or plate.

Spinach Something Good to Eat Prepared Like This

If you have any questions about the goodness of spinach try it this way: Wash and shred 6 bunches of spinach. Cook for 6 minutes with only the water that clings to the leaves. Drain. Season with salt and add the juice of ½ lemon, a dash of nutmeg and enough sour or sweet cream to hold the greens together. [Don't discard the juice from the spinach for it contains valuable nutrients that can turn up later in soups or sauces.]

HAVE YOU TASTED
Amazing New Wonder Bread
With Its Taste-Thrilling
"PATENTED FLAVOR"?

Women Quitting Old Kinds For It At The Rate Of 5,000 A Week Now!

Takes The Place Of Any White Bread Deficient In Natural Flavor, Vitamins And Minerals Because It Contains More Natural Flavor, Wheat Vitamins And Minerals

IF YOU want to add a new flavor thrill to the table you set, then you must try this amazing new "patented flavor" bread. Which has already taken the place of ordinary white bread in over 540,000 American homes. For these two reasons:

1. Because it brings more of the rich, natural flavor of wheat full-ripened in the sun than white bread robbed of Nature's bounty. Thus, is better for taste.
2. Because it contains more natural vitamins and minerals of wheat now than ever before thought possible.

You can see the difference at once. Gone is the chalk-white look of the ordinary baker's bread. Instead, this new "patented flavor" kind has the color of the cream on the top of the bottle of milk.

A Remarkable Discovery

Everybody knows the trouble with ordinary white bread. Made from flour bled white in refining to make a whiter loaf. Then Theodore Earle patented his discovery (U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696). And here is the secret of "patented flavor."

ONLY WONDER BREAD HAS "PATENTED FLAVOR"
Because Only Wonder Bread Is Made This Way From Earle Patented Process Flour Under U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696

By removing the bad-tasting outer skin of the grain, you get this richer, better tasting loaf. A bread the color of cream; tender in texture and crust. And with more natural vitamins and minerals.

To obtain this amazing new "patented flavor" loaf—ask your grocer today for the new Wonder Bread. And see for yourself why women everywhere are quitting ordinary white bread for this new creamy-kind at the rate of over 5,000 weekly.

A Great Thrill

Most people are astonished and thrilled by their first taste of this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread. Not the flat insipid flavor of the usual chalk-white kind. But refreshingly different! Like the taste of fresh fruit after canned. You'll say it's marvelous!

But discover for yourself just how much better this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread tastes. Mothers of growing children and wives of men who work should serve it daily instead of any ordinary vitamin-deficient kind.

Then, too, this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds.

Ask your grocer for the bread with "patented flavor"—the new Wonder Bread—today sure. You, too, will be delighted with it.

Women in War Work

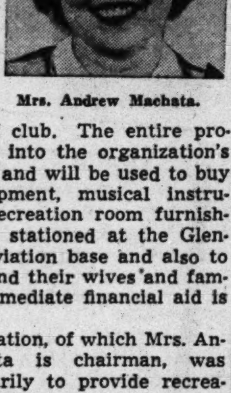
The employment of handicapped persons as a contribution to the war effort and as a means of helping them to become self-sustaining is the two-fold purpose of educators and placement advisers who met yesterday at the Merchants and Manufacturers' club. Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, general chairman of the Women's Executive committee, presided at the session of the special committee invited by J. Roy Byerley, assistant state superintendent of public instruction.

Maj. Lloyd Warfel, engineers corps, 6th service command, told the educators their greatest contribution would be to train handicapped persons for jobs by Feb. 1. He said employers would have to put aside old ideas of employability because man hours of work are of chief importance now. The need for tapping the labor source represented by the handicapped, he said, lies in the prospective need for more millions in the armed forces.

Maj. Frank L. Beals, assistant superintendent of schools in Chicago, said the job placement service of the Illinois Association for the Crippled has been so effective to date that his office has been flooded with more requests for workers than could be filled. He also broadened the scope of the term handicapped to include the mentally retarded as well as the physically impeded.

The advantages of employing handicapped men and women were outlined by Mr. Byerley in seven points, as follows: [1] they are draft-proof; [2] many are better suited for particular jobs; [3] the handicapped don't shop around for other jobs, thus reducing turnover and improving morale; [4] they do careful work; [5] they are more appreciative of opportunity; [6] they are so careful they have fewer accidents, and [7] the attendance record of the handicapped is as good as that of normal persons. The increase in the employment of handicapped persons is shown in Connecticut, where 200 a month were employed before Pearl Harbor and 4,500 a month have been employed since.

Mrs. Frances Karlsteen, employment director of the Illinois Association for the Crippled, summed up the discussion in saying that a labor pool is needed to get jobs and handicapped persons together. She said that the association and the Council of Social Agencies are founding an organization to provide exactly that service. This organization, as well as all other agencies for handicapped, functions for both men and women.



Mrs. Andrew Machata.

Members of the Glenview service organization, composed of a group of representatives of every organization in Glenview, have had a busier than usual schedule this week in planning a supper-dance tomorrow evening at the Elmgate Golf club. The entire proceeds will go into the organization's welfare fund, and will be used to buy athletic equipment, musical instruments, and recreation room furnishings for men stationed at the Glenview naval aviation base and also to help sailors and their wives and families when immediate financial aid is needed.

The organization, of which Mrs. Andrew Machata is chairman, was formed primarily to provide recreational facilities for the men stationed at the base. For the last year the members have sponsored free Saturday evening dances at the fieldhouse in Glenview, with the girls of the junior committee assisting as hostesses and dancing partners. Members also have held open house from time to time in their own homes, with aviation cadets as guests.

Since Aug. 15 there has been a complete reorganization, in order to function as a definite service group, not limiting the field of endeavor to entertainment, but expanding the organization's scope to handle any emergency that may arise.

The work of women accountants relative to the war effort will be the main topic of discussion at the joint convention of the American Woman's Society of Certified Public Accountants and the American Society of Women Accountants, to be held today, tomorrow, and Sunday at the Palmer House. Representative women from all over the United States will attend the sessions, considered particularly important at this time, since accounting has been listed as one of the critical professions by the war department.

Round table discussions will consider programs of study and aid to women accountants, in connection with technical problems arising from war conditions, the work of the two societies as to civilian war work, and vocational guidance, and a survey of women in accounting, particularly the qualifications of members of the two societies for accounting work in positions vital to prosecution of the war.

Ida S. Broo of Indianapolis is president of the American Woman's Society of Certified Public Accountants and Mary C. Gildea of Chicago heads the American Society of Women Accountants.

Industry had better look to its laurels and speed up the induction of women on war jobs before the best material is taken over by the army, navy, and other war agencies, says Miss Kathryn Judkins, supervisor of women in industry at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Miss Judkins, a pioneer worker in that field, will lead the session on "Inducting Women in Industry" at the victory clinic of the National Association of Foremen convention, in session today, tomorrow, and Sunday at the Hotel Sherman.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activties.]

Beauty Experts Are Enlisted in Salvage Drive

An intensive salvage drive was launched yesterday at the 22d annual convention of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists' association as the organization's contribution toward putting the Japanese navy under a permanent wave.

Speaking at the convention's afternoon session in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman, S. A. Sperber of St. Louis, Mo., urged members of the beauty industry to collect unusable hair dryers or parts, discarded permanent wave machines or parts, old aluminum curlers and spacers, and worn out heaters. Much of the material, he said, is made of nonferrous metal and will be of great value in the production of war material.

Mr. Sperber reported that 30 tons of scrap metal was gathered by beauticians in St. Louis in a test drive, the results of which will be used to plan the national campaign.

Delegates were requested by Sperber to start drives of a similar nature in the territories represented by them. He suggested that the sale of war bonds and stamps in beauty shops be spurred in coördination with the salvage campaign.

Walter A. Foy, regional business consultant of the department of commerce in Chicago, prophesied in an address before the convention that the war will test the skill of beauticians, not only in the arts of their trade but in efficient management and control of their businesses.

He warned beauticians that they must check and test the quality of purchases because the quality of many kinds of consumer goods is declining. "This is inevitable," he said. "War needs come first."

Foy urged that cosmetologists and hairdressers explain to their customers exactly what is offered for sale and why the quality of goods has changed.

"We have the most intelligent consuming public in the world," he declared.

Miss Edna Emme of St. Louis was reëlected president of the association yesterday afternoon in the annual election. Other officers include Miss Sarah Rafter of Worchester, Mass., first vice president; Miss Mayme Madden of Davenport, Ia., second vice president; A. Clyde Harding of San Antonio, Tex., third vice president, and Miss Jewel Edwards of Indianapolis, Ind., fourth vice president.

Mrs. Agnes Schmitt Harrison of Lincoln, Neb., introduced a new child's hairdress at the convention called the Junior Commando Bob. The new cut features loose curls on both sides of the head.

The convention closed last night at a dinner at which the designer of the winning coiffure received the Challenge award.

Speakers Announced for Club Federation Directors' Meeting

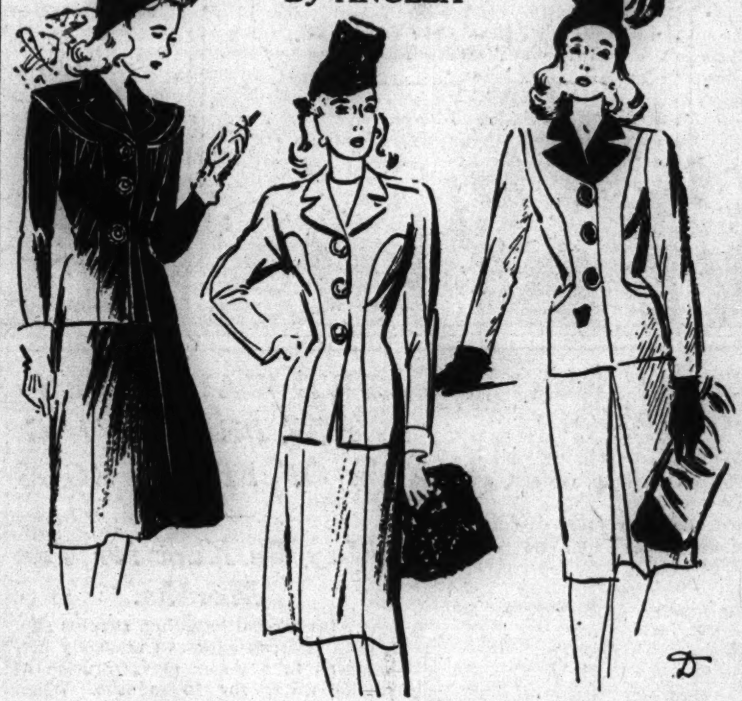
Mrs. William T. Bruckner, Illinois director of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, yesterday announced the names of several speakers who will appear at luncheon and dinner sessions of the fall meeting of the federation's national board of directors in Chicago next month. They will include Margaret A. Bonfield of London, former British labor minister; Miss Mary Anderson, director of the woman's bureau of the United States department of labor, and Miss Katharine Lenroot, chief of the department's children's bureau.

The three day conference, which will bring some 150 club officials from all parts of the country, will open in the Hotel Sherman on Friday, Oct. 16. Hostess responsibilities are being assumed by the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, of which Mrs. Preston L. Wettaw is president.

In the announcement of the meeting yesterday, Mrs. Richard M. McClure was referred to as secretary of the general federation's board of trustees. That office is held by Mrs. Clarence G. Goodwin. Mrs. Goodwin is to head the hostess committee.

FASHIONS

By ANGELA



Soft, curved lines are feminine lines. So, clothes designed on this principle are expressive of the feminine-in-heart.

Suits with dressmaker touches, such as the soft draped shoulder, slender waistline, dropped shoulder yoke, make fashion news in the suit world today, which has been so dominated by straight and man tailored jackets for seasons on end.

Wool suits are active pieces of apparel these first fall days and will come in for lots of wear. They are perfect backgrounds for your fur neckpiece. The first pictured above is a brown wool. A broad, gently curving yoke and fullness emanating from the tucks accentuate the narrowness of the waistline. There are three large metal buttons.

On the center figure the sleeves are cut in one piece with the shoulder and front panel providing a draped shoulder effect and a loose kimonolike sleeve. The buttons are covered in the same soft blue material of the suit, which is 100 per cent wool. The gored skirt has a slight fullness. Under $25.

White Collar GIRL

Toppers.

When you have designed hats for such noteworthy heads as Mrs. Henry Ford and Mrs. Carl Fisher and at the same time made a study of the needs of the business and professional woman, then you should know something about millinery. Trained in the east, engaged in business there and in the middle west—and more recently in Chicago—Ethel McDonald has accumulated a store of knowledge. Three rules she gives the career girl. In buying a hat, she says, watch out for:

1. Durability. A business woman's hat must withstand all kinds of weather—rain, sleet, wind, and snow.

2. Suitability. A hat must have a certain "rightness" about it for the girl in business. It should be suitable for wear "from sun-up to moon-up" — for wear to the office and for after-hours dates.

3. Quality. This, Miss McDonald feels, is important; a fur felt, tho more expensive, keeps its shape better than a wool felt.

Every career woman needs one black hat, says Miss McDonald. After that comes color—and lots of it—tho she herself wears black most of the time, "very high, very flat, or very large hats." She adds to her rules the admonition to keep a hat ALWAYS, when not on one's head, on a standard. "You can roll a piece of cardboard and make one for a locker," she says. She cautions against out of place hair bows instead of hats, such as an aqua blue bow she saw recently topping off a neat tailored suit and ruining the costume.

It is her theory that your hat should match your job. Suppose you are a young sophisticate in the advertising business and your task is, whimsically, to persuade young mothers to perfume the baby's bath with the exotic XYZ product . . . then you require a hat of high styling. On the other hand, suppose your work is to counsel the wives of errant husbands . . . then you require a more conservative, sedate hat. Further questioning failed to reveal exactly what sort of "topper" a columnist should wear . . . something, I gathered, midway between the wacky . . . and the wise.

Perfect.

"He is the executive vice president and shoulders the responsibilities of a large corporation. His door is always open to any one with a problem and you don't have to see his secretary first. For all his manner he could easily be mistaken for just one of the employés. When he buzzes it is a pleasure to answer because he appreciates your work and makes you feel your opinion is important. The respect and devotion he receives from his employés is his reward. Can you give anything but your best to an executive of this type? If there were only more like him! AND AM I LUCKY—HE'S MY BOSS!"—Another Girl Who Answers the Buzzer.

Almost Telling.

A white collar girl in a government office in the loop showed the FBI gal a letter from a friend in the service. Couldn't tell where he was . . . but shortly, he told her, she'd receive a birthday present from him—a polar bear!

Northwestern Expects Increase in Freshmen

An increase in the freshman class but a decrease in total enrollment was predicted yesterday by officials of Northwestern university as students began registering for the institution's 87th school year, which opens Monday. Upper classmen who have already returned have found many changes on the campus. They found the Lunt building and Swift hall converted into barracks for 1,000 sailors. And they found many faculty members and former classmates off to the war. Incoming students are being urged by President Franklyn B. Snyder to do everything possible to help the war effort.

There's Allure, Glamor in New Party Dresses

BY REA SEEGER.

Dream dresses for the dancing young set are made of tulle, lace, frothy combines of chiffon and tulle, swishing taffetas, and picture book colored velvets with a few slinky crêpe affairs for the tall willowy beauties yearning for a reputation as a femme fatale. Most of the newest finds feature wide skirts as full as the law allows and others feature old-fashioned romantic charm with velvet basque tops and deep appliqued flounces on the skirt. One black and white beauty is made with snowy white satin combined with coal black velvet in the skirt and for the form fitting short jacket with elbow length sleeves.

Another picturesque model is made of fine striped taffeta in plum color striped in black. The basque jacket is of black velvet. A third dress is of giddy big plaid taffeta with a yoke effect of the black velvet. All dresses are young looking without being sissy, the waistlines handspan wide, accentuated with the very full gathered skirts.

There are beautiful all white dresses shimmering with tiny silver beads in delicate embroidery; there are madonna blue metallics with matching chiffon overskirts and swathed bodices with sleeves ending just below the elbow.

Two shades of lace in the same dress, such as grape-blue with jade green, is another new fashion most effective with a sash belt of a third color such as cerise. Plenty of airy black nets combined with black taffeta are out ready for the rush. So are the bright reds, the pastels of pink, yellow and blue, each model easy glamor trappings for any reed slim youngster with dancing feet and a party ahead with the stagline in uniform.

Slippers, flowers, bows and butterflies for the hair, and cozy warm padded and quilted velveteen jackets in jewel colors assure complete costumes ripe and ready for the pickings.

Longmeadow's Hunting Season to Open Oct. 3

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE sound of the huntsman's horn is heard again in the countryside west of Winnetka, where the Longmeadow hounds meet. Cubbing has been under way for several weeks, and the first formal meet of the season is scheduled for 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Oct. 3. Hunter trials, for the benefit of some war relief organization, are planned for the middle of October.

That the Longmeadow is continuing this year is heartening news to hunters along the north shore. The Onwentsia and the Mill Creek hunts disbanded when most of their members entered the service. However, some of those remaining at home are going out with the Longmeadow. These recruits have filled the gap in the Longmeadow membership when a large number of its followers departed for war duty, so the hunt officials expect about the usual number of riders this season.

Ernest Ballard Elected Master of Fox Hounds.

At a recent meeting Ernest S. Ballard was elected master of fox hounds. Freeman J. Wood is the honorary huntsman; Miss Priscilla Blackett is the hunt secretary; Frank Kolbe is the treasurer, and Hill Blackett has been added to the board of directors. Mr. Wood has been hunting the hounds these cool mornings with Maj. Henry Bate, Miss Blackett, and Donald Douglas.

Maj. Bate's brother, who hunts in England, recently wrote that altho hunting was abandoned when the war started, the sport since has been revived, for when hunting stopped, morale fell. Many English hunts sent their packs to this country, among them the fox hounds received by Denison Hull and used by the Fox River Valley hunt.

Missing from the Longmeadow runs this year will be the hunt's former M. F. H., Lieut. Col. Clark J. Lawrence; Maj. W. E. Looby, and Maj. Clifford Templeton. Lieutenants Lockwood M. Pirie, Ellis Ames Ballard II., Henry W. Meers, Philip S. Dalton Jr., Frank F. Fowle Jr., Thomas Clark, and Barrett Wendell III. of the navy are away, too. Ross J. Beatty Jr., another former hunt official, is in South Dakota on a war project, and Clarence Boyd Jones and his wife and child are moving to Salt Lake City.

Wilfred Galliennes Hold Open House Tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred H. Gallienne will celebrate his appointment as British consul general in Chicago with an open house from 6 to 8 o'clock tomorrow in their North State street apartment. Among their guests will be Lieut. Col. Sir Ian Fraser, British hero who was blinded during the last war, and Lady Fraser. Sir Ian will speak at a dinner which trustees of the Hadley School for the Blind are giving for him tonight at the Indian Hill club.

Mr. Gallienne's first speech as British consul general will be given next Friday at a luncheon of the English-Speaking union in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House. Mrs. James Ward Thorne will be hostess.

The Arts club has sent out cards announcing the reopening of its rooms next Thursday. Tea will be served from 4 to 6 o'clock, with Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, the club's president, as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift. Miss Elizabeth Day McCormick has been asked to "do" the tea table. Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, new chairman of the reception committee, is not expected back in town in time for the opening tea. She and Mr. Cable will be staying this winter at the Park Dearborn, as they recently sold their home in Glencoe.

Serving under Mrs. Shaw for the coming year will be Mrs. William Browne Hale, John A. Holabird, and William Darrow as vice presidents; Mrs. Swift as secretary, and W. Woodbridge Dickinson as treasurer. Arthur Meeker Jr., the new literary chairman, will be assisted by last year's chairman, Mrs. Richard D. Bokum, and Mrs. Edward Byron will serve as vice chairman for Mrs. Cable, who succeeded her.

British Women Workers Fete Chicago Yanks

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 24.—All day they had worked hard turning out the 60 foot long trailers which the royal air force uses to retrieve crashed aircraft. And a few nights ago the women of this war plant entertained 100 American soldiers, both officers and men, with a dance and cabaret show in the factory.

It was an experiment unique in Britain's wartime history, but the Yanks voted it a huge success. As this story was written strains of the factory orchestra and the hullabaloo of the soldiers drifted in from the big gymnasium where the show was being held.

Outside was heard the tramp of hobnailed boots while the guard for this important factory was being changed. The night shift was going to work. But in the dance hall it was "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

It took time to break the ice, but once the Americans mixed in, it was every girl for herself.

Second Lieut. John W. Schraffenberger, 2242 North Orchard street, Chicago, was out there. A graduate of Northwestern university and Lane Technical High school, and former secretary of the Lincoln Park Boat club, he is now an assistant battery executive.

Another was Second Lieut. J. F. Birken, 7321 South Shore drive, whose wife was the former Emmy Lou Power of Chicago. Other midwesterners among the officers here were Maj. Benjamin L. Camp of Ellijay, Ga., who graduated from Northwestern university medical school and spent 20 years in Chicago, and Capt. Rodney Lockhart of Nashville, Tenn., a former Chicago ice cream company executive, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lockhart, live in Villa Grove, and Capt. Nolan Sullivan of Paris, Ill., an army dentist.

"The girls are good dancers, but they always want to lead" complained Corp. Joseph M. Tracz, 1944 West Chicago avenue, a former Chicago Tribune circulation department driver.

Pvt. Robert Slotten of Madison, Wis., who left the University of Wisconsin to be a computer in an artillery battery, added, "The girls tell us we don't dance like the English boys." But Pvt. Slotten later was observed jitterbugging in a manner which was impressing his partners.

The women and girls had arranged the whole performance. There was a fair hula-hula dance in ensemble [which brought down the house], an acrobatic dancer whose costume kept slipping, a torch singer who was under delusions of Hollywood and an amusing version of a black-out sketch in a Broadway show.

And the boys knew that the girls, whose pay is only 3 to 7 pounds [about $12 to $28] a week, one-third of which goes for income tax, had produced 14 pounds [about $56] and their own rations to provide the entertainment, the beer, and the sandwiches.

Patriotism.

Letter from a boy of 10:

"We are having a war in the woods back of our house. One side is the South and the other side is the North. Nobody wants to be japs or germans so we're having a Civil war.

Love,
Bobby.

P. S. japs and germans are not worth capital letters.

Bobby."

Biographers.

When Carl Sandburg was working on his Lincoln tetralogy, he received a telephone call from John L. Hervey, for 30 years editor of the Horse Review, a scholarly magazine which died in 1934 for lack of horses.

"While you are writing the life of the greatest American," Mr. Hervey said, "I am writing the life of the greatest American horse."

He had been commissioned by Samuel Riddle, race horse owner, to write the biography of Man o' War.

Remember When . . . .

It is rather dry legal reading, but it starts off like this:

Wilkie vs. Roosevelt reported in 3 Johnson's cases 66 and 206, and also in 2 Am. Dec. 149.

Mr. Wilkie sold a ship and took in part payment a note for $1,366.66 signed by Mark & Co., payable to and indorsed by Roosevelt. Mark & Co. being unable to pay, Wilkie sued Roosevelt. The judge instructed the jury to return a verdict for Roosevelt. The jury refused and held in favor of Wilkie. The Supreme court of New York set aside the verdict and granted a new trial. A jury, again disregarding directions of the judge, again held for Wilkie. The Supreme court again reversed the judgment, sent the case back and ordered a new trial. Again the legal phraseology:

No further proceedings are noted in the reports.

The Wilkie was Edward Wilkie [one "l," but so had Wendell's father]. The Roosevelt was James Roosevelt. The year was 1802.

Musical Interlude.

Scattered about in the food and drink establishments of our city are those instruments of dubious pleasure known as hostess juke boxes. Maybe you have never seen one. A patron tosses a dime into the contrivance, and the picture of a complaisant lady, usually a radiant blonde, appears on a small screen. The patron and the lady converse, the subject always being restricted to music the patron wishes to hear. The music then pours forth. That is, it usually does. In a Rogers Park café the other night a patron put in his dime:

"Hello," the hostess called merrily enough.

"Grieg's 'To Spring,'" the patron requested.

"What's that?" the hostess asked.

"'To Spring' by Grieg—Edward Grieg."

There was a long pause, while the hostess presumably riffled thru her stock on hand, but at last her voice came, blithe and undaunted:

"Sorry, we don't carry Greek music."

Busman's Holiday.

We understand all the restaurant owners listed in Duncan Hines' anthology of the stomach, Adventures in Good Eating, are gathering in Chicago in October for a family dinner. And will sit around and criticize the food?

Romance Is Revealed in London of Two Former Chicagoans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The romance of two Chicagoans who met in London was revealed when it was announced today that Miss Eleanor Osborne and Lieut. Harold Basso of the Canadian army are to be married at the Church of Our Lady of Reception on Oct. 3. Miss Osborne, who is called "Babs," was born in Chicago. She is the daughter of the late Mrs. Charles Glidden Osborne of Marlow-on-Thames, England, and of the late Addison Stillwell of Chicago, and a niece of Stuyvesant Peabody, of State parkway. Neither Miss Osborne nor Lieut. Basso has been in Chicago for several years. Her elder sister, the former Miss May Stillwell, visited here and took part in the debutante festivities of the 1934-35 season, the year following her presentation at the Court of St. James. She now is Mrs. Charles Edwards, and lives in England.

Understanding, Humor Assist with Lad, 10

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

I enjoyed it. I think you will, especially if you are in the throes of raising a 10 year old. Here it is:

"PATIENCE, MOTHERS!"

"Are you wild eyed over your child's untidiness? I know just how it is! My 10 year old's almost sent me to the booby hatch. His only gesture to heaven's first law was to jam soiled and clean clothes together in his bureau. A literary child, he used his closet only for books!

"Son dwelt in this pleasant-to-him disorder until he had the bright idea of upending a big top chest. In this, he installed hooks, and, to my amazement, hung his clothes up therein. After several weeks of enjoying his whim, he restored the hooks to his regular closet. Now, once more, he hangs his clothes where they belong. Miraculously. Daily.

"Don't ask me why. I'm finding out that, in the slow growth of character, we must allow for some rebellion. Maybe this very difference will form the basis of an interesting adult personality. At any rate, it's usually best to hold tight and to err on the side of too much patience. You'll be rewarded. I was. G. G.

It's good, isn't it? Lucky boy to have a mother with a sense of humor! If ever there is a time when that "saving grace" stands you in good stead, it is when your boy is anywhere from 8 or 9 to 12. . . .

But there's more than humor in this little sketch. It contains a veritable nugget of wisdom, a nugget that very few prospectors in the gold fields of child knowledge ever happen upon. The nugget is this thoughtful statement:

This is a deeply true statement, and one which parents should repeat to themselves every once in so often. We set the pace for these young growing things; we determine what they shall do; we expect them to conform in virtually every way to our way of life and its material, civilized equipment. But they are new to our world and still quite a little savage [in the primitive sense]. Why should we expect utter docility? What is more natural than that their urges and childish desires should make them rebel at times?

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"The Gay Sisters," which replaces "Mrs. Miniver" at the United Artists, resembles the former only by being better than the book from which it was adapted.

The novel I thought a rather loosely strung affair. The picture I found complicated, but still—because of fine acting—much more interesting than the original.

"A Gaylord never sells the land," is a father's admonition to a daughter—and a seed that springs into prolific and virulent growth. Because the three Gaylord sisters will NOT sell a spacious old mansion, their father's will is contested in many courts thru many years, the sisters are up to their ears in debt, and one Charles Barclay, who incites the litigation, is anathema to them. . . . The press has dubbed them the "Gay" sisters.

Strange man, Barclay. Mysterious man. . . . And who is the small boy brought to the house from the country by Saskia, the Gay sisters' only servant?

The film resolves itself into a five-forked psychological study, devoting time mostly to Fiona, lady of the manor, whose determination not to sell is in some strange way linked up with her fury at Charles Barclay. . . . Miss Stanwyck—looking as young as she did 10 years ago—lets herself go and makes Fiona a very fascinating and baffling character.

Geraldine Fitzgerald as Evelyn—the sister who married an English flyer and is home to make mischief where she can—is a beautiful and horrible young woman who almost wrecks the life of young Suzanna, so desperately in love with Gig Young, an eccentric artist—whom Evelyn decides she wants. . . . Suzanna is piteously played by Nancy Coleman. Remember her in "Kings Row"?

Gig Young, playing Gig Young—his name used to be Bryant Fleming but he liked the character so well he adopted it—makes his screen debut in the piece, and a brilliant one it is. . . . Here is a young man to reckon with. A "different" young man. An exciting one.

Mr. Brent gives a forthright performance as Barclay, and other grown males do well. . . . However, as far as I'm concerned, the leading man is one wee Larry Simms, who plays the little boy who figures so strangely in the story. . . . He IS precious!

The action starts in 1917. . . . The death of Mrs. Penn Gaylord—on the Lusitania—had left three motherless little girls in the care of a father who, in the first scenes, departs for war duty in Europe. . . . He leaves the small Fiona in charge. . . . He never comes back.

Much of the film is mighty dour. . . . But the ending you will like. . . . That I promise you.

Reform School "Grad" Holds Her Affection

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"A boy with whom I went out for nearly a year, and was practically engaged to, landed in a reform school. It was all the result of some bad company he got mixed up with innocently. Now he will be dismissed from this school in another month. He and I would like to start all over again, but my mother says No.

"I love him terribly, and I know he loves me. I am 18 and he is 19. Just because he made one mistake shouldn't make him an outcast, should it? Instead, I think people should respect him for trying to make good after one bad break. Also, I think I should have certain privileges about living my own life, just as my mother did, don't you? I certainly don't think advice such as my mother's should be followed to ruin two lives.

"I do want to please my mother, and still the boy and I want to forget the past and start anew. Do you think, if the two of us talked things over with Mother, she would see our side of it? I love both my mother and this boy. What shall I do?—Unhappy."

No, we think one who has paid the penalty should be given a chance to make good. Yet, we think, too, Unhappy, you should recognize weakness in the boy's character, or he would not have gotten mixed up with bad company. Your mother senses that in the boy and for you she wants only the best.

Yes, we think a heart to heart talk with your mother would be the right procedure for you and the boy. Mother could point out to the youth that he should make good before he asks for your company. You two could well spare a year or two while the youth rehabitates himself and his good name. By that time you both would be older and wiser, and more sure of yourselves.

You, Unhappy, must be sure that it is not pity for the boy that is presenting its face as love. Let him prove his worth before you consider him seriously. With your faith in him, he can and, no doubt, will do it. In the meantime, with your mother's good advice, which we suggest you heed and do not resent, you will be in a way to work out a happier future.

Thru the Looking Glass

Starting Oct. 1 one of our finest beauty salons is establishing businesslike beauty courses, with classes in the morning, afternoon, or evenings, for women who want to get themselves in shape, or keep that way, with the minimum expenditure of time—and money. The courses last six weeks, with consecutive weekly classes of two hours each.

Today's demands, as far as our good looks are concerned, are certainly not nonexistent. Women are under a special compulsion to work but not to look work worn.

And there is the problem of health. Keeping fit is not something we can let the other fellow worry about. It's our personal responsibility. Carelessness about health is a basic kind of wastefulness we should be dreadfully ashamed of.

The idea behind these courses is to help us on both counts. Classes take in weight control, exercises, diet suggestions, and posture improvement. They also cover such purely individual needs as instruction in makeup, care of the hands and nails, hair arrangement and grooming, color harmony and care of the skin, even touching on voice improvement, a phase of feminine attractiveness that is important, but neglected.

Last year these courses had a tremendous success; this year more women will take them and the subject matter will be shaped to present day needs. Having seen the results we can recommend them as an excellent investment for either the housewife with time on her hands or the business girl who must guard her youth within the limits of her own time and money budget.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 24.—Now that the end of September is in sight and our Hollywood stars have done a whale of a job covering America on a war bond selling rally, I'd like to say it's human nature to resent being told what your duty is. Most of us like to think we can do it without having it pointed out. We get tired hearing about war bonds and 10 per cent salary deductions. But let's look at it another way. Let's close our eyes and picture the men overseas—boys who, a year ago, were hurrying thru the day's job to take their girls to a movie or dancing, with money jingling in their pockets and time to spend it. Where are they now? Fighting, sweating, dying in the jungle, on the desert—hundreds of them in Japanese concentration camps and many, many more sleeping quietly in foreign graves. These weren't 10 per centers. They're 100 per centers—men whose lives and futures have been blasted straight across by the call of duty, who answered that call without grumbling or flinching. What do they know now of our comfortable lives? It must seem a far-off dream to them—without time to grieve for that lost happiness, peace, security. For pity's sake, then, if not for your own sake, what does 10 per cent of your salary mean in the face of their sacrifice? What difference does it make if you have to deny yourselves a few luxuries? If we keep the picture of those men in our minds and hearts every day, face up to our duty the way they're facing up to theirs—10 per cent, even 90 per cent, is a mighty small investment against their 100 per cent.

Tradition Marches On.

Harry Sherman made his first western in 1916. The star of his epic was Dustin Farnum. Harry's about to make his first picture for United Artists. His leading lady will be Dustin's lovely 18 year old daughter, Dustine. She'll play opposite Bill [Hopalong Cassidy] Boyd. . . . Jennifer Holt, Jack Holt's daughter, is going places with Juan Rins, son of the Chilean president. He's a good will student here. . . . And, incidentaly, with our scarcity of men, why not put Jack Holt into uniform and give him a good part? He looks as tho he's in the early 40s. But I suppose he's made so many B pictures, they figure he wouldn't know how to speak in an A. Not that he hasn't played in some. Jack says, "In my pictures, you just get up and do it. In the others, you're worn out before you get to a take."

Slick, I Calls It.

Humphrey Bogart has a telephone installed on his boat which is doing coast guard duty at Newport, so he gets calls for work on "Action in the North Atlantic" while he's patroling the south Pacific. . . . A cute note from Betty Kern Shaw, Jerry's daughter, says, "Hurray! Artie's been promoted. He's now chief petty officer and band leader with his navy unit in Newport, R. I." Incidentally, Jerry's new numbers for "You Were Never Lovelier" have been put on phonograph records by Fred Astaire, and they're sensational. . . . Tony Martin's job in the navy isn't such an easy one now. He's in the gunnery school. . . . You can look for Errol Flynn's name to be back in headlines. Doris Duke is back in town. . . . Remember all the fuss and fury about Sinclair Lewis' book, "It's Can't Happen Here"? One of the studios bought it, but it was so radical they were afraid to produce it. Now it's so out of date they can't!

Have a Care.

Half an hour after George Sanders landed in New York, he phoned his wife in Hollywood. Tut, tut! Is that the way for the misogynist of "Moon and Sixpence" to act? Think what will happen if his fans find out! He'll lose face, and they may even think he's a nice guy—when all these years he's been telling us he isn't!!! . . . Gabriel Pascal is rearing his producer's head again, crying out for the loan of Ingrid Bergman for George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan." . . . Deanna Durbin's now dressing on bungalow row—all because her own special one, built for her in 1938, is being used in her picture, "Forever Yours." She's giving a baby shower for her stand-in, who's expecting in December, and if it's a girl, she'll be named Deanna.

How About It?

Looks as if Benny Goodman's got himself in a jam, which will end in a session, unless he returns that drummer Ted Fio Rita just signed up. In days gone by, there was gnashing of teeth and lawsuits when a man swiped another man's wife or sweetheart. Today a drummer's much more important, 'cause 9 out of 10 of them are army bound. . . . Pressburger's trying to borrow Diana Barrymore. Brian Donlevy would like her to play opposite him in "Never Surrender." And it will be swell seeing Oscar Homolka again in this, even if he is disguised as head of the Gestapo. . . . . I thought Sonja Henie would change her mind about doing a skating tour. She has, and the reason given was that she'd be too long off ice otherwise. Her next picture begins in February.

This and That.

Ray McCarey's been replaced in "Dixie Dugan" by Director Otto Brower, and the week's work will be retaken. . . . Lois Andrews, who fought her way thru marriage and divorce from George Jessel, is surrounded by the greatest scene stealers in the business—Charlotte Greenwood, Charlie Ruggles, and Raymond Walburn, but tells me she's holding up her end.

Longmeadow's Hunting Season to Open Oct. 3

ter, Mrs. Robert Ainsworth Morris, who is expected this week-end from Washington, D. C. Mr. Morris, who is serving in the Office of Production Management, will arrive later. Lieut. Reidy and his bride will live in Highland Park while he is stationed at the Glenview air base.

As tennis champion of the Exmoor club Lieut. Reidy will be on hand on Sunday for an informal day of tennis being planned at the club. Mary Hardwick, Charles Hare, former English Davis cup star, and other widely known players will be among those competing on the Exmoor courts. T. Weller Kimball, chairman of the club's tennis committee, is in charge of arrangements, which include an informal supper for the players following the matches.

Josephine Ellen White's Engagement Announced.

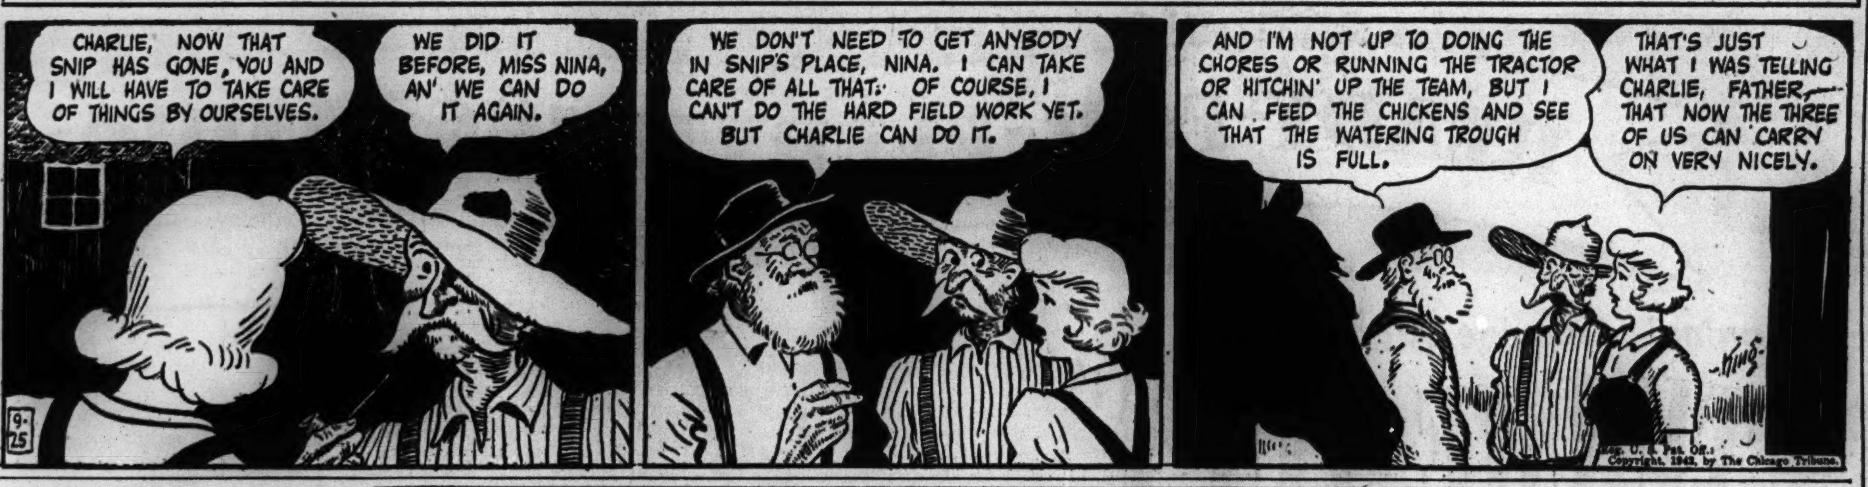
Mr. and Mrs. William Harpole of Blackstone avenue today are announcing the engagement of Mrs. Harpole's daughter, Miss Josephine Ellen White, to Robert Hayden Moseley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Moseley of Highland Park. Miss White, whose father was the late Arthur S. White, attended Monticello college and the Art institute of Chicago. Mr. Moseley attended the University of Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Harrison of Highland Park have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Henry Sherman Vail II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm D. Vail, also of Highland Park. Miss Harrison attended the Roycemore school and was graduated in June from Pine Manor Junior college in Wellesley, Mass. Her fiancée attended Lake Forest academy and Deerfield academy and was graduated from the Babson institute.

From Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Morse Felton of Merion, Pa., comes the announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Louise, to Lieut. Albert Sidney Williams Jr. of the army, son of Col. and Mrs. Williams of Philadelphia. Mrs. Felton is the former Louise Garaghty of Chicago, who made her debut during the 1917 season here. Miss Felton attended the Shipley and Westover schools and is a member of the Junior league. She made her debut in 1940. Her grandfather, Samuel M. Felton, was director general of military railways during the first World war. Lieut. Williams attended the United States Military academy and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, where his father is professor of military science and tactics.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Philip Farley of New York, formerly of Chicago, announce the marriage yesterday of their daughter, Elise Marie, to Lieut. [j. g.] Decatur Sawyer Higgins, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Crane Higgins of Montclair, N. J. The wedding took place in San Francisco, Cal.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THREE IS A CROWD



CHARLIE, NOW THAT SNIP HAS GONE, YOU AND I WILL HAVE TO TAKE CARE OF THINGS BY OURSELVES.
WE DID IT BEFORE, MISS NINA, AN' WE CAN DO IT AGAIN.
WE DON'T NEED TO GET ANYBODY IN SNIP'S PLACE, NINA. I CAN TAKE CARE OF ALL THAT. OF COURSE, I CAN'T DO THE HARD FIELD WORK YET. BUT CHARLIE CAN DO IT.
AND I'M NOT UP TO DOING THE CHORES OR RUNNING THE TRACTOR OR HITCHIN' UP THE TEAM, BUT I CAN FEED THE CHICKENS AND SEE THAT THE WATERING TROUGH IS FULL.
THAT'S JUST WHAT I WAS TELLING CHARLIE, FATHER, THAT NOW THE THREE OF US CAN CARRY ON VERY NICELY.

The bidding.

North	East	South	West
2 no trump	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	7 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

The player who pays close attention to the opponents' bidding, and who draws the proper inferences therefrom, can, thru the use of a little imagination, select an opening lead that will do his side a great deal of good.

North-South were using the Blackwood convention and South's four no trump bid therefore asked for aces. North's five no trump response announced all four of these valuable cards and South then, somewhat optimistically, took the plunge into a grand slam. Needless to say, this was a bad contract since the combined hands lacked the trump king. It is "good percentage" to contract for a small slam that may require a successful finesse, but grand slam contracts should not be reached unless it is at least two to one that they will be "cold."

As a matter of fact, this contract unquestionably would have succeeded against any normal opening lead on West's part. With ten trumps in the combined hands, missing the king, declarer certainly would have finessed, since that is the correct percentage play. West, however, made a selection that was bound to distort the picture for declarer and make him abandon pure mathematics. That selection was the trump six!

Now, put yourself in South's position when the dummy appeared. Was it conceivable, South asked himself, that West would have led away from the trump king against a grand slam? Obviously, the answer was an emphatic yes, but South did not arrive at that answer. He thought it inconceivable. Hence, figuring that his only chance was to find East with the blank heart king, he put up dummy's ace. That was that!

West's lead was not only brilliant, it was also sound. The bidding had told West all too clearly that the heart ace was not under, but over, his king. North's opening two no trump bid had suggested this; his five no trump response to the Blackwood four no trump had confirmed it. Hence, the only way that West could hope to make the king was to throw dust in the declarer's eyes, and this he proceeded to do with admirable thoroness.

Training in Schools for Military Fitness Told at PTA Parley

ROTC cadets aren't the only students in the Chicago public schools who are being fitted for military service, William H. Poore, district superintendent of schools, told a special Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers conference yesterday in the public library. He said students receive preinduction training thru the new physical education program which emphasizes frequent health examinations, nutritious lunches, and three periods of physical exercise a week.

"In accordance with suggestions from the United States Office of Education, we have added first aid, hygiene, and life saving classes for many students," he explained. "We will continue to expand the program, stressing hard-driving, competitive sports and games, together with swimming, hiking, skiing, and other sports. We may even teach students how to slide down ropes."

Red Cross Units to Discuss Its Tennis Benefit Today

When the Red Cross unit of the Chicago Town and Tennis club meets today for its regular all-day session, plans will be discussed for a benefit tennis exhibition on Oct. 4 at the club. Dorothy Round, Bobby Riggs, Mary Hardwick and other international players will appear in the exhibition, from which the entire proceeds will go to the American Red Cross.

Pennsylvania Governor Reveals Daughter's Troth

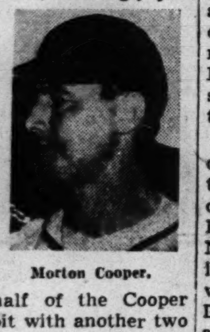
BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, M., Sept. 24.—The pennant bound Cardinals, seemingly perfectly relaxed behind their ace, the talented Morton Cooper, today arrived at the point where the worst that can befall them in the waning moments of the National league race is a tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers.



Morton Cooper.

The pitching half of the Cooper brothers did his bit with another two hitter, a dose so bitter for the Reds that they succumbed almost without a struggle by a decisive score of 6 to 0, making the Cards' 41st success in their last 50 battles.

Along with Cooper's exhibition, the budding champions, who need only one more victory or a Dodger defeat to make them world series eligibles, tossed in a batch of base hits, the attack being so timely that it blew down the 36 year old Ray Starr, a 15 decision man.

Starr Yanked in Seventh.

Starr, who was yanked as a hopeless cause in the seventh, received most of his punishment from two of the nine Cards he took on in hopes of breaking up a streak that now has cost the Reds 10 decisions in a row with the leaders. Jimmy Brown and Stan Musial began bothering the old fellow as early as the first inning, one run scoring. The same pair got after him again in the fifth, two runs scoring. In the sixth Brown's third hit pushed another Cardinal home and in the seventh the third blow from Musial's bat promoted the two run affair that rode Starr to the dressing quarters.

Cooper, now the possessor of 22 victories, 10 shutouts and a string of seven, started out as if headed not only for a no hitter but a perfect job. The first 10 Reds to face him accomplished nothing. The spell broke when Gerry Walker singled in the fourth and promptly pulled a typical Gerry trick by stealing second while Cooper was holding the ball. Gerry was the only man to get that far.

Musial and Walker to Rescue.

It took a couple of slick catches by Musial and Harry Walker to keep the first inning perfect for Cooper and maybe it was in celebration of this escape that the Cards bounced up with a run in their half. Brown opened with a line single thru second. H. Walker sacrificed and Bert Haas heaved the ball high over Frank McCormick's head, the error giving Brown time to reach third. A popup disposed of Enos Slaughter, but Musial cut in with his single to right, Brown scoring. He could have scored just as easily from second so the Haas blunder didn't enter into the achievement.

The Cards didn't make an offensive maneuver in the two run fifth until after two had been retired. Brown then doubled to right center, the first hit off Starr since Musial's single in the first. H. Walker drew a pass and Slaughter loaded the bags by beating out a single knocked down by Joost who was stationed at second in place of Lonie Frey.

Score Again in Fourth.

The Cards nudged Starr closer to the jumping off place on a pass and singles by M. Cooper and Brown in the sixth, the fourth run scoring. Then they administered the quick and conclusive shove before anybody was retired in the seventh. Slaughter boomed a single into center and Musial's third single slipped into right. W. Cooper slammed a low liner into right center. Marshall picked it up and when about to throw let it slip from his paw. M. Cooper went to third and the hit was deemed a three base effort, Slaughter and Musial scoring. Joe Beggs came to the rescue and knocked off the next three batters, leaving W. Cooper stranded.

WISCONSIN MAY FIND TOMORROW NOTRE DAME DAY

Badgers to See Hirsch, Harder vs. Bertelli.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Notre Dame's football men, undefeated last season, open their 11 game campaign tomorrow afternoon against Wisconsin in Madison, Wis. The Badgers and their supporters will greet the invaders with the enthusiasm and fanfare of a late November contest. A near capacity crowd, which may be the season's record for Camp Randall in view of subsequent possible travel restrictions, will watch the battle.

Two magnets have attracted the crowd despite tacit admission that the Irish are expected to win. Wisconsin waits to see Sophomore Elroy Hirsch and Pat Harder, leading Big Nine ground gainer last season, play in the same backfield. Wisconsin also wants to see Angelo Bertelli, Notre Dame's passer whose accuracy already approaches the legendary. There was some apprehension in the Badger camp yesterday as Hirsch and Quarter Back Ashley Anderson hobbled about. Both had charley horses, received in Wednesday's contact drill.

Big Job for Angelo.

The Badgers are apprehensive of Bertelli's skill which will be demonstrated tomorrow from the T formation adopted last spring by the Irish. Bertelli will handle the ball from center. He will be responsible for the deception of the Irish attack and he will throw the lateral and forward passes for which the formation is famous.

Notre Dame has high regard for Harder and Hirsch. Pat did not play against Camp Grant last week when the Badgers won, 7 to 0, but Hirsch got away for runs of 24 and 50 yards. In preparing a defense for these men Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, is concerned over injuries to such fine players as Dippy Evans, senior left half; John Zilly, sophomore end, and Jerry Cowhig, sophomore full back. Despite these losses—Wisconsin can match them—the Irish unquestionably have more material than the Badgers.

Feel Loss of Evans.

Evans is Notre Dame's greatest loss. His absence, coupled with graduation of Steve Juzwik, makes Notre Dame depend more on Bertelli than it might so early in the season. Tom Miller or Sophomore Bob Livingston probably will be at left half back tomorrow. The full back position must be played by a sophomore since no other candidate is available. Jim Mello currently has the assignment because of a slight injury suffered by Cowhig.

The left end problem has been easily solved by moving Bob Dove back to this spot from left guard. Dove starred at end last season. Obviously the left guard spot now must be filled.

It may be, of course, that Notre Dame's attack will not move as smoothly as at the start of the 1941 season. It is inconceivable, however, that such veteran lineman as Lou Rymkus and Bob Neff, tackles; Wally Ziemba, center; Dove and George Murphy, ends, cannot outcharge the Badger line. Wisconsin possessed only a fair line last season, as the records prove, and the performance against Camp Grant was disappointing. Finally, Wisconsin is extremely short on reserves.

Makris May Play.

George Makris, right guard, and Bob Rennebohm, left end, who missed the opening contest, may get into the Notre Dame game. Harder makes his first start because of injury. Len Seelinger, who opened the game last week at left half, may be out tomorrow because of injury. Wisconsin made only six substitutions in the line last Saturday and three of these came in the last four minutes.

Notre Dame is credited with more reserves, better forward passing, greater team speed, and the Irish certainly should have better direction on the field. Wisconsin's selection of plays against Camp Grant—the quarter backs were Ashley Anderson and Sophomore Jack Wink—was haphazard. The Badgers could not overcome this self-imposed handicap until Anderson finally caught Camp Grant's defense tightly bunched and sent Full Back Bob Ray around defensive left end on a 12 yard touchdown sweep.

This Is the Letter That Extended Racing Season

The Illinois racing board yesterday granted Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., the right to conduct a week of extra racing at Sportsman's Park from Nov. 2 to Nov. 7 inclusive. All profits of the special meeting will be donated to Chicago charities. The Tribune's application for the meeting was directed to the Illinois racing board in the following letter:

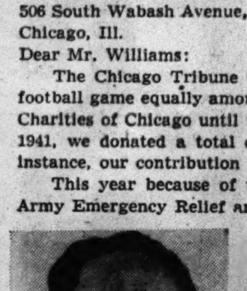
Sept. 15, 1942.

Mr. Ednyfed Williams, Chairman,
Illinois Racing Commission,
506 South Wabash Avenue,
Chicago, Ill.

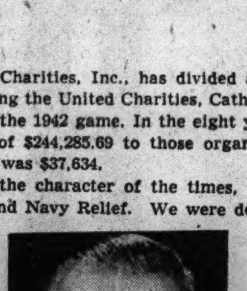
Dear Mr. Williams:

The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., has divided all profits of the All-Star football game equally among the United Charities, Catholic Charities, and Jewish Charities of Chicago until the 1942 game. In the eight year span, from 1934 thru 1941, we donated a total of $244,285.69 to those organizations. Last year, for instance, our contribution was $37,634.

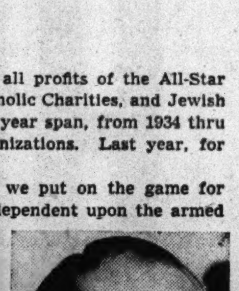
This year because of the character of the times, we put on the game for Army Emergency Relief and Navy Relief. We were dependent upon the armed forces for 50 per cent of the material we needed for the All-Star squad. In return for the coöperation extended to us by the army and navy, we shall turn over a sum approximating $155,000 to war charities.



Attorney General George F. Barrett.



Gov. Dwight Green.



Maj. Ednyfed Williams.

These are the men whose co-operation with Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., made possible the extension of the racing season for a week at Sportsman's Park. All proceeds will go to Chicago charities.

The emphasis upon army and navy relief, as well as upon other charity activities identified with the war effort, has brought complications to such deserving charity groups as the United Charities, Catholic Charities, and Jewish Charities. We would like, if possible, to assist these organizations in continuing the grand work they have accomplished for the poor of Chicago for many years. I have a plan to attain that goal, if it can be done within the law.

I have asked the proprietors of Sportsman's Park to continue operations for one week after the close of the regular season for the benefit of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The track has agreed to coöperate and will donate to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., every cent above operating expenses connnected with the extra week of racing.

Chicago Tribune Charities, in turn, will use the revenue that accrues to reimburse the United Charities, Catholic Charities, and Jewish Charities for the money they normally would have received from the All-Star football game. In the event that the revenue exceeds the sum normally given to these three charities, we would like to reserve the right to use the additional money for contributions to other established charities. It is understood, of course, that we shall turn over every penny received from the week of racing to a recognized charity.

I feel that the underprivileged of Chicago will be everlastingly grateful to Sportsman's Park, to the Illinois Racing board, and to Chicago Tribune Charities for our mutual interest in their welfare at a time when so much of our charity effort is directed elsewhere.

I would appreciate an expression from you at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely yours,
ARCH WARD,
Sports Editor.

36 Seahawks Will Drop In on N. U. Today

Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman will lead his Seahawk football team from the naval pre-flight school at Iowa City into Chicago today for tomorrow's game with Northwestern's Wildcats. The squad, consisting of 36 officers and cadets, will go directly to Dyche stadium for a workout, then will establish headquarters in the Edgewater Beach hotel. A crowd of 30,000, including 5,000 service men, will attend the game, which will launch Northwestern's 10 game schedule.

Many players familiar to followers of midwestern football are on the preflight squad that Bierman, former Minnesota coach, will send against the Purple. The Seahawks' starting back field consists of Dick Fisher and Jim Langhurst, former Ohio State stars, half backs; Forrest Evashevski of Michigan, quarter back, and George Benson of Northwestern's 1941 team at full back.

Have Mammoth Line.

The rugged Seahawk line, which averages 215 pounds per man, is powered by such huskies as George Svendsen, 240 pound center, formerly of Minnesota and the Green Bay Packers; Bob Flora, 215 pound tackle from Michigan, and Fred Gage, 210 pound guard from Wisconsin.

Coach Lynn Waldorf sent the Wildcats thru their last heavy workout yesterday but refrained from scrimmage for fear of incurring last minute injuries. Except for Casey Peifer, reserve full back, who is ill with the flu, all members of the squad will be ready for action tomorrow.

Have Veterans in Line.

Alf Bauman, last year's great tackle, also has been graduated, together with Don Johnson and Gene Mundy, last year's centers. Warren Karlstad, Bauman's understudy for two years, has moved up to the first string left tackle position, while Hal Hudson, a junior, will start at center,

STIMSON HOLDS LOUIS-CONN FIGHT PLANS SHOCKING

Begins Personal Inquiry Into Arrangements.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Secretary of War Stimson revealed today he is making a personal investigation of the Oct. 12 heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Billy Conn, but in New York officials promoting the bout said they did not believe it would be called off.

Stimson's investigation was disclosed at his press conference. He said he was shocked over arrangements for the bout between the two soldier heavyweights which is to be held in Yankee stadium.

The war secretary explained that he didn't know of the details until this morning and said he hoped to complete his investigation within 48 hours.

Kieran Is Mum.

Last Saturday John Kieran succeeded Grantland Rice as head of the sports writers committee of War Boxing, Inc., during a stormy session over the $135,451.53 which was to be taken from the gate of the fight to pay personal debts said to be owed by Louis and Conn. Most of these debts are listed as owed to Promoter Mike Jacobs.

"The war department, thru Maj. Gen. A. D. Surles, asked us to put on the fight for army relief," Kieran said in New York. "We asked Jacobs to promote the bout for us. This was approved. We have nothing to say concerning Secretary Stimson's statement. Any statement we make must come from Gen. Surles."

"If Mr. Stimson thinks an investigation is necessary it's all right with me," Jacobs said in New York.

Congress Hears More.

The Louis-Conn bout was sanctioned by the war department on Sept. 8 with an announcement that neither fighter nor any private interest would receive a penny of profit.

A few days later, however, it became known that a war department representative had told Louis that certain personal obligations would be met from the gate. Conn has insisted that no war department representative had seen him or told him anything.

These obligations, it was announced, were $58,805.50, said to be owed by Louis to the 20th Century Sporting club of which Jacobs is president; $41,146.03, which Louis owed John Roxborough, one of his comanagers, and $34,500, owed by Conn to the 20th Century Sporting club.

ASKS FOOTBALL PROBE

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Rep. Donald L. O'Toole [D., N. Y.] tonight urged that Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson investigate the distribution of the proceeds of some of the football games recently held in the name of the army relief society to determine how much money was paid to owners of professional football teams.

Rep. O'Toole, who yesterday told the house that the war department was making a mockery of this war and introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the Louis-Conn arrangements, declared:

"When I made the charges in congress yesterday I doubted that Secretary of War Stimson knew of the facts. His record as a public servant would belie any such knowledge and I knew that he would take prompt action when made aware of the facts.

"I would further suggest that the secretary investigate the distribution of the proceeds of some of the football games recently held in the name of the army relief society so that the public may definitely find out how much was paid to the owners of some of the professional teams.

[A series of eight games recently was played between two army all-star squads and various professional teams.]

"Some ugly rumors have been in circulation and it would be better that an official statement be issued by the secretary of war so that the public will have confidence in the army relief society in the future as it did in the past."

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Wake today begins the most difficult season of football forecasting in its history. . . . The addition of naval and army teams to the schedule, withdrawal of players from colleges to enter the armed forces, and the lifting of barriers on freshman talent in some parts of the country have confused the picture. . . . Last year we guessed 503 right, 133 wrong, and had 33 ties for a record of .791. . . . It's unlikely we can approach that percentage in 1942, but, anyway, here we go.

Mary Magdalene's Confession.

"He loved me and I hurt Him," Mary said.
"There is no memory more keen than this:
'Twas I who pressed the thorns upon His head,
And left upon His cheek the traitor's kiss;
And with the lance of my impurity
Opened the crimson river in His side
And left His body stark upon a tree."

"He loved me and I hurt Him! Yet He came
To me in spite of my unfaithfulness,
In the sweet charity of His caress.
Who but the Master could have stooped so low
To make a sordid sinner white as snow?"

A Hint of Autumn.

The sun's bright path grows shorter day by day
And yellow leaves fast falling everywhere
The weathered stubble tells of gathered grain,
But full eared corn of bounty yet to be,
And gath'ring crows sound forth a harsh refrain

Now may we pause to ponder and to know
The nights grow cool and appetites more keen—
Hints plainly that the autumn has begun.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 24.—The Brooklyn Dodgers' alarm clock, which failed to go off early this month, still ticks tonight, not a loud tick, but music to the revived Bums, nevertheless. The faded champs came from behind to beat the Boston Braves, 5 to 3, this afternoon for their 101st victory, an all-time Brooklyn high, to keep the pennant hopes mathematically alive.

Tomorrow the Dodgers will play the Braves in Brooklyn's last National league scheduled game of the season while the leading Cardinals will rest in St. Louis. If the Dodgers lose tomorrow the pennant race, one of the most fantastic in the history of the majors, will be over. If Curt Davis is able to win tomorrow the possibilities will open considerably, but with most Brooklyn hopes, such as they are, riding on a regular season tie. In the event of a tie the Dodgers will go to St. Louis for a night play off game Monday night and the teams then would return for games Wednesday, and if necessary to determine two out of three here Thursday.

Yanks Prepare for St. Louis.

In the meantime the Yankees have made all arrangements for a train to carry them to St. Louis, scheduled to leave New York Monday at 8 p. m.

With one out in the home sixth today the Dodgers were trailing 3 to 0, and their hit total off Jim Tobin was two singles, one by Whit Wyatt with one out in the third inning, and an infield scratch by Peewee Reese in the fifth.

The Braves had rushed over their three runs in the third, on hits by Bill Wietelmann, Tobin, Nanny Fernandez, and Ernesto Lombardi, complicated by one error by Pete Reiser and two by Reese. It appeared, of course, that the Dodgers were in the mood to take a whipping, but they suddenly came to life just as they did a couple of days ago after the Giants had hopped off to a 4 to 0 lead.

Camilli Comes Thru.

With one out in the sixth, Dixie Walker singled to center, and went to third on Arky Vaughan's single to right. Reiser singled to center, Walker scoring and Vaughan taking third. Camilli smashed a double off the right field wall, scoring Vaughan and Reiser with the tying runs. The ball rebounded so far that it was recovered by Second Baseman Sibby Sisti, who threw the ball past Lombardi in an attempt to head off Reiser. Camilli got to third on the throw to the plate and was waved on home with the winning run as Sisti's throw went against the screen. Camilli, as it turned out, would have got home without aid of the error, for Augie Galan doubled off the right field wall. Mickey Owen flied to Max West and Galan was doubled off second.

The Dodgers' superfluous run, in the eighth, was an unusual one. With one out Vaughan and Reiser singled and advanced on a double steal as Camilli struck out. Galan also fanned, but the pitch got thru Lombardi to the screen, Vaughan scoring and Galan reaching first. When Reiser tried to score he was out, Lombardi to Tobin.

Wyatt was credited with his 19th victory, tho he was yanked for Hugh Casey when he walked Tommy Holmes to get the seventh inning under way. Casey did not yield a hit in three innings. Tobin suffered his 21st defeat. It was the 15th victory for the Dodgers in 21 games with the Braves.

TOMORROW IS SERVICES' DAY AT HAWTHORNE

Net Proceeds Go to Army, Navy Relief.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Charles Krutckoff and Charles Bidwill, Hawthorne's president and chairman of the board, respectively, yesterday completed arrangements for the track's contribution to war funds, which will be made with the proceeds of tomorrow's racing. Hawthorne will turn over the entire net proceeds of the day to army and navy relief societies.

Col. Walter R. Jeffery and Col. J. S. Sullivan will represent the army at the program and Capt. E. A. Loftquist will be present on behalf of the navy. These officers will figure in the ceremonies which will be held immediately after the main event of the day—the $5,000 Juvenile handicap.

Daily Trouble Wins by Nose.

Daily Trouble and Technician put on a well sustained duel in the Chance Sun purse, main event on yesterday's program. At the end of the mile and 70 yard gallop, the camera gave the decision to Daily Trouble by the margin of a nose. Step By was third.

Technician had been established the favorite in the field of seven which went to the post in this event, while Daily Trouble drew almost as much backing at 5 to 2.

This pair took full charge of the race. Immediately after the break, Ovie Scurlock sent Technician to the front while Daily Trouble followed along in second place. During the run down the back stretch Technician increased his advantage, to three lengths. On the last turn, however, Daily Trouble began cutting into this margin. By the time they reached midstretch Freddie Smith had brought him alongside Technician and during the last furlong they raced head and head.

This was the first success for Daily Trouble since he beat Valdina Groom by a head during the Washington Park meeting. In the mutuels he paid $7.60, $3.80, and $3.40.

Daily Double Pays $205.40.

CONN M'CREARY SUSPENDED FOR BELMONT FOUL

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—A 10 day suspension, to start Saturday, was inflicted today on Jockey Conn McCreary by the stewards at Belmont Park, after McCreary's mount, Riverland, was disqualified in the fifth race this afternoon. McCreary brought Riverland from far back and hit the finish line three lengths in front. But the stewards ruled that when McCreary took the lead with the 4 year old colt he crossed over in front of Col. Teddy.

Col. Teddy finished second, but his jockey, Wendell Eads, lodged the claim of foul and it was allowed. It was the second time in a row Col. Teddy won a race thru disqualification of another horse.

TRIBUNE GETS WEEK'S RACING FOR CHARITIES

the law it is entirely proper for the National Jockey club to donate to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., every cent above operating expenses connected with the extra week of racing."

"Because of the worthiness of the cause, the Illinois racing board has been glad to expedite the authorization of an extra week of racing. During the present season the Illinois tracks have been second to none in their efforts to raise funds for the various war agencies.

"Racing plays so important a part in the life of Chicago that it is fitting that one of the tracks should use its resources to help local charities when they are deprived of normal assistance due to the present emergency. My congratulations to THE TRIBUNE for its initiative in this undertaking. It merits the support of the community."

Park Happy to Coöperate.

"We are happy to turn over our full facilities to Tribune Charities," he said yesterday, "to aid groups which in the war period encounter new complications in carrying on their work. We assure Chicago's racing public that the sport will be conducted for the additional week on the same high caliber as during the regularly allotted meeting. The organization of officials and the operating staff will be kept intact and we can count on the full coöperation of the horsemen."

SIX TEAMS BEGIN PLAY TODAY IN CITY LEAGUE RACE

Senn Faces Lane, Parker Meets Hirsch.

Six members of the City High School league will open the 1942 football race today, with one game in the north section and a double header scheduled for Shewbridge field on the south side.

The north side battle brings together two defeated teams — Sullivan, which lost to Goshen, 14 to 0, and Lane Tech, a victim of Austin from the west section, 19 to 7. The game will be played in Lane Tech's new stadium, Addison street and Western avenue, at 4 p. m.

The South Suburban league opens officially when Calumet City travels to Kankakee for a night game.

A number of practice games also are on the bill. In non-Catholic league games, St. Ignatius visits St. Philip and De La Salle journeys to the north side to engage Loyola. Other games will involve Morton at Bloom and Moline at Proviso. Foreman and Steinmetz of the City league will meet in a practice game in Rockola stadium at 8 p. m.

Tilden and Lindblom of the City league play night games in Benton Harbor, Mich., and at Waite High, Toledo, O., respectively.

WHITING WINS, 7-0

Whiting High school of the Northern Indiana conference last night opened its league race with a 7 to 0 victor yover Horace Mann of Gary on the latter's field. It was Whiting's third consecutive victory of the season. The score came in the second period. A 15 yard penalty pushed Horace Mann back into its own territory and when an attempted punt went straight up into the air, Whiting needed only three plays to obtain the score.

Steve Manich dashed around end for 13 yards, Tom Ciez added 10 more and then plunged over from the 1 yard line. Wally Manich passed to Quinton Midkiff for the extra point.

Horace Mann lost two opportunities to score by fumbling. In the second quarter they fumbled on the Whiting 6 and in the final quarter, after stopping Whiting on the Mann 1 yard line, marched to Whiting's 14 before losing the ball on a fumble. Lineups:

Great Lakes, Navy Pier to Meet Tonight

Boxers and wrestlers representing Great Lakes and Navy pier will meet in an interstation match tonight at Great Lakes. The pier's representatives defeated Great Lakes in a previous tournament last spring. Among the pier's color bearers will be Ted Sparrow, former Catholic Youth organization lightweight, who now is boxing as a welterweight, and Tommy Burns, former Fort Wayne, Ind., sectional Golden Gloves bantamweight winner. Wrestlers will include Ray Frankowski of the pier, who starred as a guard for the University of Washington football team before entering the service.

The last outdoor amateur boxing show of the season will be held this evening in Madison-Cicero arena, 4820 Madison street. Matchmaker Don Van Treese has arranged five round featured bouts between Pete Blouir, Gary light heavyweight, and Barney Burnett, and Stanley Berg, Franklin Park featherweight, and Tommy Lewis. Rematches involving Chris Eliopoulis and King Millage and Eddie Baka and Lem Thomas also will be presented. Millage and Baka scored victories in earlier meetings last Friday.

Willie Joyce, 1937 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight champion, will meet Luther [Slugger] White of Baltimore in a 12 round headliner tonight in New Orleans. The Louisiana athletic commission will recognize the winner as colored lightweight title holder.

Class of 1918 Will Inspire Sailor Eleven

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The undergraduate football player of peace times is usually equipped with more incentive than his own personal enthusiasm for the game. Every university and college trophy room abounds with valuable antiques harking back to the deeds of older heroes. There's the hallowed shoe with which Ludwig Hemingway, '99, booted the field goal that licked Subb Normal more than 40 years ago. There's the turtlenecked sweater worn by Rollo Throckmorton the day he ran 90 yards against Turnip Tech back in 1904. And there are dozens of aged footballs to mark other glorious victories and inspire the moderns to emulate their predecessors.

There is no trophy room at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. But there is a football team there, the same which will entrain this morning for Ann Arbor, where it opens its season against Michigan's Wolverines tomorrow afternoon. The Sailors might not have any gridiron curios to spark them against Michigan, but they definitely have a sound tradition, set up by what might be called the Great Lakes class of '18.

Class of '18 Really Great.

If you don't immediately recall the Class of '18 at Great Lakes, maybe mention of such names as George Halas, Jimmy Conzelman, Paddy Driscoll, Charley Bachman, and Hugh Blacklock, and the late Sam Willaman—all were among the men who left the present squad coached by Lieut. Tony Hinkle a streak of 12 games without defeat, distributed over the latter portion of the 1917 season and the great campaign of 1918. In that season, the Sailors won six games, tied Northwestern and Notre Dame, and then went on to win the Rose Bowl championship by defeating the Mare Island Marines, 17 to 0, on Jan. 1, 1919.

The late Walter Camp was wont to preface his reviews of each season with mention of outstanding games. He selected three after that schedule and two of them involved Great Lakes. In one of these, the Sailors met a great Rutgers team led by Paul Robeson, at Ebbets field, Brooklyn. The Great Lakes streak appeared destined for a sudden end when Robeson & Co. took a 14 to 0 lead. Then Driscoll broke away for a long touchdown run, and the Sailors were off, eventually winning by 54 to 14 in what Mr. Camp termed "the most startling reversal of form seen on any football field."

Substitute Tackles Runner.

In the Navy game of that year at Annapolis, the Sailors found themselves trailing, 0 to 6, with only a few minutes to play. Furthermore, Navy was driving toward another score when one of the middies fumbled and Harry Eielson, Great Lakes half back from Northwestern college [now North Central], recovered near his own goal line and headed up the field. He was 20 yards from a touchdown, with no Navy man near him, when an excited Navy substitute leaped from the bench and tackled him. Officials ruled a touchdown for Great Lakes and Blacklock, one of the finest tackles in the west, kicked the point that gave the Sailors a 7 to 6 triumph.

Lieut. Hinkle last night named a squad of 37 players to make the trip to Michigan. They will leave the naval station at 7:15 a. m. and will depart from the Michigan Central 12th street station two hours later.

The Sailors' traveling squad:

Tackles—Jim Daniell, Jim Barker, Urban Odson, Ray Busler, Nate Johnson, Italo Rossi.

Centers—Bob Nelson, Bob Johnson, Basil Petry.

Husker Passes Click Against Iowa Defense

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 24 [Special].—Further defensive work against a freshman team using Nebraska plays and formations featured Iowa's football practice today, with another makeshift varsity team on the field. The Hawkeyes and Cornhuskers play here Saturday. Dick Hoerner and Chuck Uknes took turns at the full back position while Sam Vacanti ran right half.

The freshmen were stopped on running plays but impersonators of Husker Backs Allen Zikmund and Dale Bradley connected successfully on a good percentage of their passes.

Injuries will plague the Hawkeyes in the line this week-end, with Center Bob Lauterbach out of action, Reserve Center Forrest Masterson bothered with an injured rib, Tackle Al Urban nursing a bad leg ,and Uknes still held up with a leg injury.

SEAHAWKS END DRILL.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 24 [Special].—Secret practice again was the order today as the Iowa preflight squad ended its home workouts for the Northwestern game Saturday. Purdue Adds Guard Seidell to Casualties

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 24 [Special].—Purdue's preparations for the opening engagement with Fordham's Sugar bowl champions here Saturday were virtually completed this afternoon with a comparatively light workout as Coach Elmer Burnham sought to conserve available man power in the forward wall.

Three Games for Frosh.

Burnham announced the completion of a three game schedule for the Boilermaker freshman football squad which will meet the "B" team tomorrow night. The Boilermaker yearlings will play two games on the road, meeting Indiana in Bloomington Oct. 17 and Northwestern in Evanston Nov. 14. The home appearance of the yearlings will be on Friday night, Oct. 23, against Illinois as a part of the homecoming celebration.

The Boilermaker varsity will have a light pregame drill tomorrow afternoon before journeying to Mudlavia, southwest of the city, to establish pre-game headquarters.

RAMS LEAVE FOR PURDUE.

The squad will arrive in Indianapolis tomorrow morning at 11:55, work out at the Indianapolis baseball park in the afternoon, and spend the night in that city, making the final lap of the trip to Lafayette Saturday morning.

TWO INDIANA VETERANS OUT.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 24 [Special].—Indiana's football team, rated the strongest Hoosier outfit since 1937, will open the season here Saturday against Butler without the services of two back field veterans, Capt. Bob White of Joliet, Ill., senior full back, and Charley Jacoby of Chicago, junior right half back.

Jacoby has been on the shelf for three days with a bruised knee. White suffered a foot injury in this afternoon's running and passing session. Coach Bo McMillin said both in all probability will be unable to see service against the Bulldogs. The Hoosiers open their Big Nine campaign against Ohio State Oct. 3 in Columbus.

The nine starting certainties are understood to be Ted Hasapes, Pete Pihos, Robert Zimmy, Ed Bell, Russell Deal, Howard Brown, John Tavener, Lou Saban, and Billy Hillenbrand.

ILLINI DRILL AGAINST "T."

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 24 [Special].—Coach Ray Eliot today put the Illini thru their last hard workout preparatory to the opener against the University of South Dakota Saturday. The varsity again was matched on defense against the freshmen using the T formation with which the Coyotes attained second place ranking in the North Central conference last season.

HAUSER FEARS PANTHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 24 [Special].—Pittsburgh's Panthers were still many miles away, not due to arrive here until shortly before midnight tonight, but Coach George Hauser of Minnesota already had developed a sizable fear of them today. The Panthers meet Minnesota Saturday in the season's opener here.

The Panthers will work out in the Gopher stadium tomorrow. Meanwhile Coach Hauser, while reporting his Gophers in first class condition, recalled that they will be five pounds to the man lighter than last year's team, while Pittsburgh will be bigger. The Gophers' starting team outweighs the Panthers slightly, however.

MICHIGAN LOSES KUZMA FOR GAME WITH SAILORS

Junior Star's Knee Hurt in Scrimmage.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 24 [Special].—Michigan's chances for a victory over the Great Lakes eleven Saturday took a nose dive today when it was announced that the Wolverines' star half back, Tom Kuzma, would not be able to play. Kuzma suffered a knee injury in practice yesterday. He was hit hard in a pileup in the last play of a scrimmage and the team surgeon, Dr. A. W. Coxon, decided that the Gary ace would have to stay on the bench for this game at least, and until the knee is sufficiently healed. With enough rest it is assumed that he will soon be back in action.

Kuzma's loss strikes particularly hard at this time as the big junior from Tom Harmon's home town has been showing the form he displayed last year in recent practice sessions.

Coach Fritz Crisler has three men to fill Kuzma's place: Cliff Wise, the best passer on the squad; Don Robinson, a light but versatile junior, and Bob Chappitus, rugged sophomore.

At the wingback spot, Paul White, Frank Wardley, or Warren Yapp will start.

MARQUETTE LEAVES.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 24 [Special].—With Center Mel Maceau and Tackle Wilfred Kramer left at home, 35 members of the Marquette university football squad departed tonight for Lawrence, Kan., scene of Saturday afternoon's opener with the University of Kansas. Maceau is hurt while Kramer has received instructions from his draft board to report for induction into the army.

Coach Tom Stidham and his squad will spend tomorrow in Kansas City, where a workout is scheduled at Southwest High school field. A light final home practice session was held here today.

Those making the trip include:

CENTERS—Bob Curley, Bob Fritz, Martin Silovich, and Jimmy Sullivan.

GUARDS—Steve Enich, George Groves, Frank Pircher, Charles Reger, Edwin Star, and Douglas Strutz.

HALF BACKS—Ray Carlson, Paul Copoulos, William Freewalt, Wayne Johnston, Robert O'Hagan, John Strzykalsk, and Clair Voss.

JINX HITS STATE AGAIN.

East Lansing, Mich., Sept. 24 [Special].—The back field jinx has again hit the Michigan State football camp after it had appeared that this fall Coach Charles Bachman was going to miss the annual epidemic.

Gordon Bischman, sophomore back from La Grange, Ill., has quit school to join the naval air force. The 200 pound half back had figured heavily in Bachman's plans.

Ed Ripmaster, veteran full back, limped thru drills and it was feared that it might be a recurrence of the injury that kept him on the bench most of last season.

GOLDBLATT BROS

BELIEVE THIS OR NOT: SOX DEFEAT INDIANS TWICE

Ted Lyons Triumphs, 3-1; Ed Smith, 4-2.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24. [Special].—The White Sox, going nowhere in particular themselves, put a serious dent in the Indians' first division ambitions today when they won a double header before 500 fans, 3 to 1 and 4 to 2.

Ted Lyons and Edgar Smith both went the route, while the Indians used six pitchers as they saw their advantage over the fifth place Detroit Tigers trimmed to a half game.

Smith unloaded a fancy four hitter in the second game as the Sox collected nine against the combined delivery of Ray Poat, Jim Bagby, and Allie Reynolds.

Myril Hoag's bat played a prominent part in both games, accounting for a home run and a double in the first game, and two doubles and a single in the second.

Wally Moses also got a homer, his drive over the right field screen in the fourth inning of the second game starting a three run rally which sewed up the game for the Sox. Scores:

Classic Pin Stars Enter Eliminations

The entry blank which must be used by all eligible bowlers who wish to compete in the Chicago preliminaries to the All-Star tournament appeared for the first time in yesterday's editions of THE TRIBUNE.

Last night a representative of what now is the city's ranking team called and said all of his team intends to shoot in the event and will file entries in a day or two—all but one, that is, and that one being seeded in the national tourney, isn't required to enter the eliminations.

The caller was Jules Sowa, secretary of the Classic league and a member of the Thompson Restaurant five of that circuit. His team is tied for the Classic lead with seven victories and two defeats, and has won both of the Sunday evening sweepstakes put on by the circuit. The member of the team who steps directly into All-Star competition in the Auditorium theater service men's center alleys Dec. 5 is Herb Freitag. Herb finished 13th in last year's preliminary field of 70 All-Stars with a 3,885 total for 20 games.

Sowa also was in the preliminary field last year and Harry Lippe, a new member of the combination which last year was known as the Pabsts was an alternate. The other two members of the team who will get into the Chicago eliminations are Joe Puccinelli and Bob Wills.

The entry blank which bowlers intending to enter the event must use appears in this edition of THE TRIBUNE. It specifies the eliminations, to be held Oct. 17-18, 24-25, and Oct. 31-Nov. 1, are limited to bowlers with averages of 190 or more for 1941-'42. The blank, with the entry fee of $25, must be in the hands of Math Luecker, secretary of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago, by midnight Oct. 10. Luecker's home is at 1738 Addison street.

Giants Defeat 'Phils, 8 to 0; Then Lose, 3-2

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—The Phils divided with the New York Giants today by winning the second game, a battle of rookie pitchers, 3 to 2, after Bill Lohrman had shut them out, 8 to 0, on four hits in the opener.

Umpire Ziggy Sears banished Pitcher John Podgajny and Catcher Ben Warren in the third inning for protesting his judgment on balls and strikes in the second game. But afterward George Hennessy held the Giants to three hits and one run—Mel Ott's 29th homer of the year.

Ace Adams pitched the ninth inning for the Giants, making his 61st relief appearance of the season and tying the modern major league record set by Clint Brown of the Chicago White Sox in 1939. Score:

FORM GOES OUT WINDOW AS BEARS MEET PACKERS

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Up in Green Bay, where the Packers are preparing a surprise, if possible, for the champion Chicago Bears Sunday, they aren't worrying too much about the only comparison which can be made of these old rivals' strength. The Packers were blistered by the Washington Redskins', 28 to 7, after which the Bears, during their recent wanderings in the east, whipped Sammy Baugh and associates, 38 to 14.

This would indicate there will be nothing to it when those crafty foot ball foes, Curley Lambeau of the Packers, and George Halas of the Bears, match wits and man power. It isn't in the nature of an alibi, but Lambeau has a logical explanation for that stunning defeat in Washington.

"There were 12 minutes to go in the fourth quarter," is Curly's version, "and the score was tied, 7 to 7. The Redskins had the ball in their territory and it was third down and something more than 10 yards for a first down. At this point, we sent in our offensive team, figuring that Washington wouldn't make a first down and we then would be in a position to make a scoring bid.

Redskins Capitalized on Weakness.

"But the Redskins did make that first down. Worse still, they quickly sensed a weakness at our right end and it was like a boxer jabbing at his opponent's cut eye. They aimed everything in this sector and that's why they rushed across those three quick touchdowns."

One of the Packers' right ends, Earl Ohlgren, earlier had been badly hurt, further weakening the team at that position. Green Bay started this season without a single veteran at right end. Carl Mulleneaux, Ray Riddick, Ed Frutig, and Harry Jacunski, who ably took care of that department last year, are all gone. Since the Washington defeat, the Packers have signed Joe Carter, Philadelphia Eagles' veteran. He is listed to start Sunday. Ohlgren hasn't sufficiently recovered from a pinched nerve.

Comparative Scores Are Useless.

Comparative scores mean nothing when these old rivals get together. It's a case of the big city against the little town and those rabid Green Bay fans seem to fire up the Packers for the game of their lives when the Bears come a visitin'.

THOMSON AND STILLER SEEK HONORS TONIGHT

Amateur bicycle riders will close the track season tonight at the Humboldt park bicycle bowl when the Catholic Youth organization holds the last series of weekly races at 8:30. Tonight has been designated "Speed night" and all events with the exception of the Miss and Out at an unknown distance and the one hour team race, are set at 440 yards and will be run in heats and finals.

Most of the interest, however, will center on the battle for season honors between Marvin Thomson of the Barrett Athletic club, state and national title holder, and Al Stiller of the Mazzini club. The one hour team race is likely to decide the title.

On total points scored at the bowl for the season, Stiller leads with 60, while Thomson has 57.

Kansas City Seeks Final Victory at Wrigley Field

The Kansas City Monarchs, with Satchel Paige pitching, will attempt to wind up the Negro world series at Wrigley field Sunday as they seek their fourth straight victory over the Washington Homestead Grays.

NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Will you please provide a report on Northern Pacific railroad? What was the price range for its stock from 1937 thru 1941?—G. L.

Answer: The Northern Pacific railroad operates about 6,880 miles of road extending from Duluth, Minn., and other Lake Superior ports thru St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Pacific coast cities of Washington and Oregon. The territory served is rich in agriculture, forest, and mining resources.

Joint control with the Great Northern railroad of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road gives Northern Pacific traffic connections with principal agricultural and industrial centers of the middle west and gulf coast.

The Northern Pacific Railway company was organized in 1896, and a number of smaller roads later were absorbed into the system. A substantial part of assets is invested in securities of other carriers and companies whose operations are related to Northern Pacific.

Capitalization at the end of 1941 was 2,480,000 shares of $100 par capital stock outstanding. Total funded debt was $323,982,000. A record of recent financial results follows:

1939	63,882,433	73,654	.03

*Loss.

Capital share prices ranged from 36⅝ to 3¾ from 1937 thru 1941 on the New York Stock exchange. There were 27,978 stockholders at the end of 1941.

The company's assets at the first of this year totaled $866,207,042. Current assets amounted to $50,823,185, against current liabilities of $19,263,602. No dividends have been paid since 1932.

OPA CUTS COTTON YARN CEILINGS OF MANUFACTURERS

Acts to Prevent Retail Price Increases.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—The Office of Price administration today ordered a reduction, effective Monday, in manufacturers' ceiling prices for carded cotton yarns, basic material for all of the more common grades of cotton fabrics, to prevent retail price increases on cotton goods.

OPA said cost studies had disclosed that the present maximum carded yarn prices were too high in relation to prices set for combed yarn and other cotton goods.

Under the new ceiling, maximum prices for carded yarn numbers of 20s and coarser were reduced from 1¼ cents to 2½ cents a pound for singles and from 1¼ cents to 4 cents for plied yarns.

Further sharp curtailment in the use of iron and steel in caskets, shipping cases, and burial vaults was ordered by the War Production board. It estimated that the order would reduce the total amount of iron or steel used for these purposes next year to about 4,200 tons, compared with 36,000 tons expected to be consumed this year, and approximately 72,000 tons normally used each year.

In another action WPB eased its priority regulations to help assure iron and steel producers adequate maintenance, repair and operating supplies during the fourth quarter of the year.

Signs of Autumn.

THE cool weather which arrived with the official opening of autumn brought many symbols of the new season, each testifying to summer's surrender to the superior forces of fall.

The gardeners on the Wheaton farm bowed to autumn's striking force by digging the root vegetables and burying them in a cool sand pit on the floor of one of the pump houses. Several bushels of carrots and beets were the main recipients of this underground treatment which will keep them in good condition for table use until the end of the year.

A number of other signs of autumn were noted during a hike thru the central part of the farm. Juncos, the little slate colored members of the sparrow family, checked into the farm woods to perform their characteristic dipsy-doodle flights thru the hedgerows. Chipping sparrows, soon to leave for warmer areas, are forming their migration parties.

Black Haws Turn Pink.

The black haws which hang in clusters from the shrubs along the farm lanes have turned from green to pink, with a few already in their black stage of ripeness. The leaves of the sumacs have turned to a richer shade of red and the weather resistant wild asters form light purple banks around some of the farm ponds and cornfields.

The sturdy oak trees and the usually fragile willows appear to have combined to resist autumn's thrusts until the new season can show positive proof of stronger weapons. The oaks always maintain their green glossy leaves until late in the season, but the willow trees usually change their dresses of summer green for garments of lighter hue soon after the first stretch of cool weather. Last year at this time the willows were showing definite traces of yellow, but when we checked them this week their leaves still were in midsummer condition.

Undoubtedly the abundance of late summer rainfall is responsible for the condition of the willows. Usually the shorelines of the farm ponds recede at this time of the year, leaving the willows on dry ground and setting the stage for their yearly decline. This season the ponds still are fairly high and the willow roots have been receiving a sufficiency of moisture.

Sunflowers Decline Early.

In direct contrast to the excellent condition of the willows is the early decline of the sunflowers in the farm vegetable garden. We walked thru the garden this week to watch one of the men dig potatoes and check on the size of the ripe golden pumpkins, and the sunflower stalks presented a rather sorry sight. The stand is light compared to other years, the leaves have died prematurely, and the flower heads are small.

If the pheasants and quail which live in the farm coverts could read this report on the sunflower patch they would be disheartened, because each winter the sunflower seeds are used for stocking the game bird feeding stations. From the appearance of the patch it seems pretty definite that the men will have to find some substitute for sunflower seeds this winter because the yield will be much lighter than usual.

VOTE TO FREEZE PAY ROLL TAX AT PRESENT RATES

Plan Forced Saving Bill in January.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The senate finance committee today acted to freeze social security pay roll taxes at their present level after word was circulated that a drastic bill for compulsory savings—possibly calling for an additional 10 per cent tax on incomes—probably will be introduced in January.

By a vote of 12 to 4 the committee adopted an amendment offered by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] to the pending tax bill providing that pay roll taxes will continue at 1 per cent on both employé and employer instead of doubling automatically on Jan. 1 to 2 per cent on both parties. This stepup would have occurred under present law and have levied an additional 900 million dollars in social security taxes on wage earners and their employers.

Reserves Now Adequate.

Vandenberg had introduced a resolution in the senate last week for the purpose of freezing the pay roll levies at existing levels. He said today that the 1943 increase in rates is "totally unnecessary" because the social security reserve fund now totals between 3 and 4 billion dollars.

This, he asserted, is more than six times the anticipated benefit payments during the next five years. In 1939, he recalled, congress provided that the reserve fund need not exceed three times the anticipated benefit payments during the succeeding five year period. The existing 2 per cent rate on pay rolls will yield as much in 1943—estimated at 919 million dollars—as social security experts estimated in 1939 that the 4 per cent rate would yield, "thus obviating the necessity for any increase at this time," he said.

Favors Compulsory Savings.

The treasury department has already indicated that it would request a boost in the 2 per cent pay roll tax to 5 per cent after the pending tax measure is enacted. Vandenberg said he understands why the treasury wants the levy boosted because it is a "form of compulsory savings" and will get more money into treasury coffers to aid in financing the war.

"But I am against putting more IOU's into the social security reserve fund," Vandenberg said in introducing his resolution last week. "If we are to have compulsory savings, let's have compulsory savings as such, and not disguised as a social security tax."

Contrary to common belief, social security taxes are not set aside to meet benefit payments as they become due, but the treasury spends them to meet any sort of current obligations, and deposits special treasury obligations in the social security reserve fund. These are the IOU's deposited in place of the social security taxes "borrowed" by the treasury.

Plan 10 Per Cent Levy.

Prior to today's action on social security taxes Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the finance committee, said that a compulsory savings bill to supplement the new taxes of 9 billion dollars, provided in the pending senate tax measure, probably will be offered to congress in January. In order to raise 10 or 12 billion dollars a year to help finance the war a compulsory savings bill should take another 10 per cent of all incomes, both individual and corporate, he said.

The senate bill calls for appointment of a joint congressional committee, on which Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau will also sit, to study methods for compulsory savings and report back to President Roosevelt and the congress by Dec. 1.

At the executive session today the committee rejected by a 7 to 6 vote an amendment proposed by Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.] to impose a stiff excess profits tax on individual earnings in addition to regular income taxes. The committee voted to enlarge the group of charities to which corporations may make tax free contributions so as to include soldier and sailor welfare organizations, such as army-navy relief. The total amount of such tax free contributions, however, still is limited to 5 per cent of net income.

CHICAGO RESERVE DISTRICT STORE SALES SHOW GAIN

Department store sales in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district during the week ended Sept. 19 rose 5 per cent from the preceding week and 3 per cent from the corresponding 1941 period, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Chicago volume increased 8 per cent over the preceding week, but declined 6 per cent from year ago figures.

Department store sales for the nation as a whole were 5 per cent larger than a year ago, the federal reserve board reported. Figures for the preceding week were 3 per cent lower than a year earlier.

Bush League Boy Finds Aiding Little Business Is 'Hell of a Job'

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Chairman Lou E. Holland of the Smaller War Plants corporation told the house small business committee today the new agency was off to a slow start because of bottlenecks and official red tape, but "I'm going to see it thru." He said it soon should be operating in high gear.

Holland, Kansas City business man, was called to tell of the progress of the 150 million dollar corporation created by congress last June to help small industrial enterprises share in the war production program.

The cigar chewing midwesterner said he did not seek the job he holds and "shied away from it" before yielding to the request of Donald M. Nelson, War Production board chairman, that he accept it.

Won't Fall Down.

"We're not going to fall down. I'm not going to go off half cocked," he asserted. "I took it and I'm going to see it thru, and it's going to succeed."

Describing himself as a "boy from the bush leagues" who didn't know his way around official Washington very well, Holland said he soon found "some things I didn't anticipate."

He started out, he explained, with the idea of building up an organization of efficient and trained men to help him administer the law and operate the WPB contract distribution offices scattered thruout the country. He sought first, he said, to bring in his own personnel director but discovered that because the man of his choice was a lawyer he could not be employed in a personnel capacity.

Rep. Charles R. Halleck [R., Ind.], a committee member, called this a "ridiculous" procedure.

Holland said he next decided to obtain the services of about 300 topnotch trained mechanics for the branch offices, but discovered he had to resort to civil service rolls to obtain them.

The kind of men he needed, he explained, were highly trained men in industry needed to help train small business men in war goods manufacture. He sought to obtain them thru newspaper advertisements, he said, but was not allowed to run the ads.

"They don't have the men I wanted in civil service. I've had a hell of a job!" he asserted.

Committee members said they would recommend an amendment to relieve "this civil service bottleneck."

Holland said he had been assured of the coöperation of Nelson and the heads of procurement for the army, the navy, the maritime commission, and the treasury department and believed he would get it.

Complaint in Order.

His first substantial result was the signing of contracts for nearly 5½ million dollars for approximately 50 small concerns after the corporation got officially under way just a few weeks ago.

All things considered, he added, "I'm amazed at the progress that has been made."

When Holland said he was "not complaining" but just "didn't know these things when I came in here," Patman interposed.

Seek Billion Loan

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—The conference of American small business organizations tonight sought congressional support for a proposal to create a new federal corporation to lend up to 1 billion dollars to small business concerns imperiled by inability to convert to war production and by shortages of materials for civilian consumption.

The bill was made public by Frederic A. Virkus of Chicago, president of the conference, and later was placed before congressmen at a dinner.

The loans would be used to sustain only the physical plants of nonconvertible industries and tide them over for the duration.

Production Cut for Furniture Forecast Soon

Production of furniture, altho it contains a comparatively small amount of critical materials, will have to be reduced drastically, William A. Adams, chief of the furniture industry branch of the War Production board, told furniture men last night. He spoke at the annual meeting of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers in the Blackstone hotel.

Adams said that the wood working industry has enjoyed an extended period of high production while other consumer durable goods industries were being curtailed or shut down. He added, however, that the situation will change.

Nonessential Jobs to End.

"Nonessential production which hampers war production is so much excess fat," he said. "We must work until we sweat off this fat and get down to hard muscle if we expect to win the war. The output of nonessential items will have to be curtailed, regardless of whether or not critical materials are involved. This will necessarily mean that production of furniture will have to be cut drastically."

This, he said, raises the problem of spreading curtailed civilian production among the existing plants.

"Now that civilian output must be cut more deeply in many industries," Adams said, "uniform curtailment is not an efficient way to get our resources into war work. For most members of the industry it would mean operating at a loss, with eventual bankruptcy for some of the smaller firms, and for many of the workers it would mean part time employment or unemployment. Low volume and high cost production would imperil the maintenance of price ceilings."

Would Close Some Plants.

A solution, he said, is to let certain plants continue to operate in the production of the needed quantity of the civilian product. Other plants would go into direct war production, be used as warehouses, or, in some cases, shut down, which would release workers for war production.

Adams said that plants to continue civilian output would be selected so as to ease the load on the transportation system with sources of materials and markets as close at hand as possible. Those requiring considerable power would be selected from areas where the power supply is least taxed.

Earlier Arthur T. Upson, chief of the lumber and lumber products branch of the WPB, warned that many of the hard woods would be placed under restrictions, altho there would perhaps not be a general freezing order as in soft woods. He said that restrictions would be placed individually as the need arose. He added that nothing has been done about the seizure of inventories.

BANK CLEARINGS AT YEAR'S PEAK; PROFITS DECLINE

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—An upsurge in bank clearings volume to the highest level of the year was reported today by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., for the week ended yesterday.

For 23 leading cities, transactions totaled $8,150,989,000, 28.2 per cent over the aggregate for the comparable week of 1941 and 8.2 per cent over the preceding week, ended Sept. 16.

New York's total was the highest since the week of March 4, at $4,314,950,000, an increase of 33.6 per cent from a year ago. Chicago's $420,100,000 represented a gain of 4 per cent from last year.

National Bank Reports.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—The 5,107 national banks in the United States and possessions had gross earnings of $470,833,000 for the six months ended June 30, an increase of $24,083,000 from the first half of 1941, but net profits of $122,617,000 were $20,167,000 less than last year.

There were 29 fewer national banks on June 30 than a year earlier, Preston Delano, controler of the currency, said today in his report.

COURT UPHOLDS 'DEATH CLAUSE' IN FIRST TEST

Ruling Goes Beyond SEC Contentions.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 24 [Special].—The right of the Securities and Exchange commission to require complete reorganization of an operating company if such action is in line with an equitable distribution of the voting power of the concern has been affirmed by a federal District court, the commission learned today.

In the first contested case under the corporate simplification section of the "death sentence" clause involving an operating company and in the first case anywhere determining the power of the commission under the last sentence of that section, 11 [B] [2], the commission on Tuesday won a sweeping victory in the federal court in Jacksonville, Fla.

Goes Beyond SEC Attempts.

First news of the opinion handed down by Judge Louis W. Strum, upholding every contention of the commission and establishing its powers on a far higher plane than the commission itself for years had attempted to establish, reached the commission today with the arrival of Judge Strum's opinion.

The case was that of the Jacksonville Gas company, a subsidiary of the American Gas and Power company. Judge Strum upheld in its entirety a voluntary plan for reorganization submitted to the SEC by Jacksonville Gas and in turn submitted by the commission to the court for enforcement.

Virtually Unlimited Power.

Judge Strum found that the commission had virtually unlimited powers under the last sentence of section 11 [B] [2], which reads:

"Except for the purpose of fairly and equitably distributing voting power among the security holders of such company, nothing in this paragraph shall authorize the commission to require any change in the corporate structure or existence of any company which is not a holding company, or of any company whose principal business is that of a public utility company."

For years the commission, in passing upon refunding proposals made by operating companies, has operated on the theory that its power under that sentence was extremely limited, and has permitted company after company to refund its debt when its setup was not dissimilar from that of Jacksonville Gas.

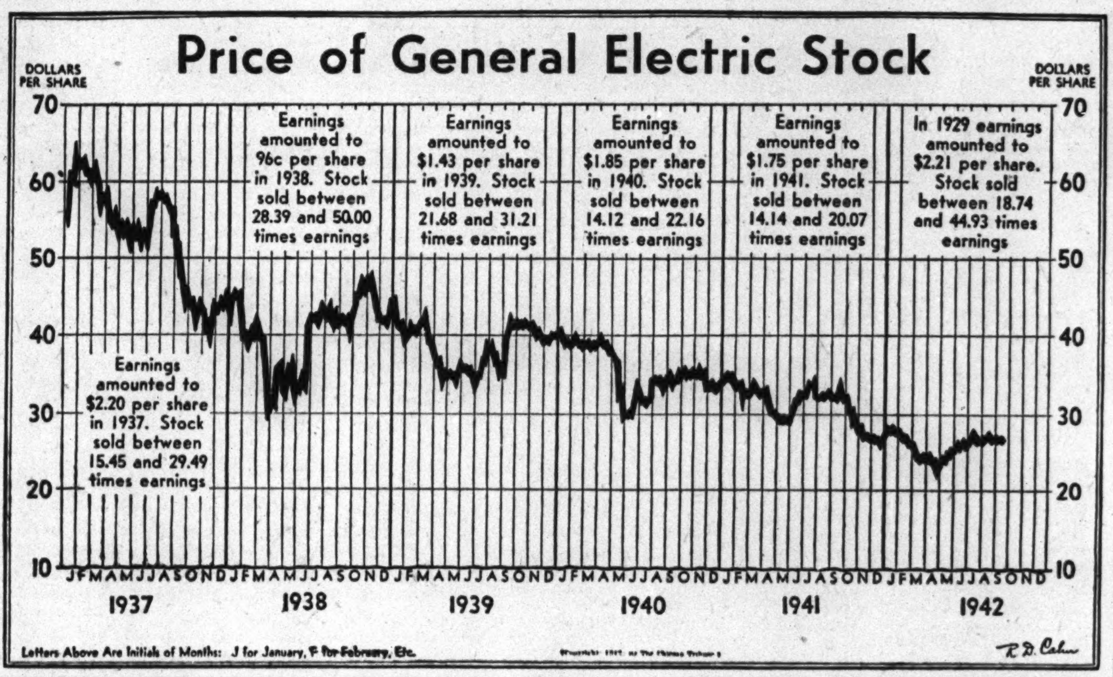
Right "Clearly" Implied.

"When the act says that the commission is not authorized to require any change in the corporate structure of an operating utility, 'except for the purpose of fairly and equitably distributing voting power among the security holders of such company,' it clearly implies that the commission may require such change if it be for that purpose," Judge Strum held.

"Else why was the quoted exception included in the act? If congress intended to withhold such power, that intent would have been evidenced beyond debate by simply omitting the quoted exception. Its inclusion in the act must be given appropriate significance and weight."

PLANT BUILDING IN CHICAGO AREA THRICE YEAR AGO

Construction of plants in the Chicago area during the last month was almost three times that of the corresponding period last year in dollar volume, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said yesterday. Investment in new plants and expansion during the period totaled $25,195,000 compared with $8,896,000 a year ago.



BANKS TO HANDLE RATION ACCOUNTS

Test of Stamp Deposits by OPA Announced.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 [Special].—The Office of Price Administration tonight announced a "ration-banking" plan under which business men can transfer ration credits thru special bank accounts in the same way they transfer money by check. It will be tried out experimentally in the Albany-Schenectady-Troy area for a six weeks' period starting next month.

The plan is similar to that now in use in England. It is expected to relieve local war price and rationing boards of the burden of counting and clearing the hundreds of millions of rationing stamps which come into their hands each month under sugar rationing, and in the east, thru gasoline rationing as well.

Won't Affect Consumers.

As rationing activity expands to cover fuel oil and meats the coupons for those commodities will be included in the coupon-banking program, it is understood.

The new plan will not affect consumers but is expected to be of great assistance to business men who now frequently have to stand in line at their ration board offices to turn in their coupons. In sugar rationing the plan will begin to operate from the retailer up. For gasoline, operation of the scheme will begin with the wholesalers. Cost of the services rendered by the banks will be borne by OPA.

Would Use All Banks.

Leon Henderson, price administrator, said the plan contemplates the use of all state and national bank and clearing house facilities.

Under it, he said, each seller would open a ration bank account at a bank, where he would deposit all ration credits received.

"These credits," said Henderson, "would then be transferred against the movement of rationed merchandise by the use of a nonnegotiable 'transfer-voucher' drawn by the buyer to the account of the seller.

UNION PACIFIC REPORTS LARGE EARNINGS GAINS

The Union Pacific railroad yesterday reported August net income totaled $5,516,106, compared with $2,825,574 in August, 1941. Eight months net income amounted to $24,105,821, equal after prefered dividend requirements to $10.10 a common share, compared with $10,783,497, or $3.65 a share last year.

The Pennsylvania railroad reported August net operating income of $14,917,766, compared with $10,326,497 in August, 1941. Eight months net operating income totaled $74,671,284, compared with $62,778,070 in the corresponding period of 1941.

Stocks Climb as Volume Hits Peak for Year; Bonds Strong

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Inflationary views continued to be a buying argument in today's stock market as leading rails, steels, motors, and industrials extended the rally of the preceding two sessions by fractions to more than a point on the largest volume of 1942.

The apparent refusal of congress to go along with the administration on price-wage controls inspired further bidding in virtually all groups at the start.

Dividend Outlook Improves.

In addition, sentiment again was propped by the stalling of the Nazi drive at Stalingrad and brightening dividend prospects for carriers and others long in the nonpaying class.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 0.3 of a point at 37.7, biggest gain since Sept. 5. Turnover of 851,110 shares compared with 700,900 yesterday and was the largest since last Dec. 31.

Two Five-Year Highs.

Santa Fe and Atlantic Coast Line hit five year peaks. Others at top levels for this year or longer included Southern Pacific, Erie, Southern Railway preferred, Western Union, 20th Century-Fox, American Radiator, Goodyear, Goodrich, and United States Rubber.

It was the broadest market since Feb. 10, 818 individual issues being traded. Of these, 524 were up, 120 down, and 174 unchanged.

American Telephone was up only ½, while minor declines were recorded for International Telephone, International Harvester, Standard Oil [N. J.], Boeing, and Sperry.

CHICAGO RISE IS BROAD.

Prices advanced on a broad front on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 21,000 shares. Of the 92 issues traded, 60 advanced, 17 declined, and 15 were unchanged. Volume leaders included New York Central, Commonwealth Edison, and Northwest Bancorporation, all up ⅛; Zenith Radio, up ⅜, and Illinois Central, up ½.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—The bond market gathered strong momentum in its push to higher levels today with trading the most active in a year and a half.

The new rise of fractions to a point or so for many favored rails and industrials and a few utilities, was not the one-way street it was yesterday, however, especially in the rails, where flurries of profit taking occurred at times. In most cases tho, the effect was negligible as far as the day's final result was concerned.

Action Helps Rails.

An important prop to sentiment favorable to the carriers was the overnight news that the senate interstate commerce committee had approved the McLaughlin bill which would allow roads more lee-way in working out debt readjustments.

Several specifically benefited from this development, including Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s of 1943, which closed up 1⅝ points. A committee has been studying means of meeting this maturity for several months.

Total turnover of $13,070,700 par value was tops for any 5 hour session since April 3, 1941, when it was $19,531,000. Yesterday's volume was $16,927,800.

Average Near 1942 High.

The Associated Press average of rails rose 0.5 of a point to 65, only 20.6 from the high established early in the year when rail bonds rode the crest of a popular wave of buying for several weeks. Nearly 40 separate issues changed hands in excess of $100,000.

United States governments stayed in the background with only small price changes. Good buying in Brazilian issues lifted prices fractions to a point.

PUT PRIORITIES ON TANK CAR USE TO SPEED FATS

Vegetable Oil Rated Over Petroleum.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—The War Production board today directed the Office of Defense Transportation to set up priorities governing all shipments by tank car in order to assure the movement of seasonal and essential vegetable oils, fats, and other products.

WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson directed Joseph B. Eastman, ODT director, to "make all such diversions, as far as practicable," at the expense of transportation of automotive gasoline into and within unrationed sections of the country.

Plan Petroleum "Loans."

In order to make the most efficient use of all facilities and to compensate for any further tank car diversions from petroleum haulings, Nelson authorized the petroleum coördinator's office to order petroleum producers, refiners and distributors to make purchases, sales, exchanges, or loans of petroleum and petroleum products and to arrange for common use of terminals and distributing facilities.

Nelson told Eastman the directive would enable him to "take immediate and effective steps" not only in putting priorities into effect but also in the coördination of tank car shipments with other methods of transportation.

Top priorities—A—went to the transportation of any material for the army, navy, maritime commission, the War Shipping administration or for lend-lease.

Foods Get B Rating.

A "B" rating was assigned for shipment of approximately 390 chemicals, foods, edible and nonedible fats and oils, and miscellaneous products.

Other ratings:

C—For the transportation of petroleum and petroleum products into district 1 [17 eastern states in which gasoline now is rationed] "and into or within the states of Oregon and Washington."

D—For shipment of petroleum and petroleum products other than automotive gasoline, within district 1 and into or within districts 2, 3, 4, and 5, except the states of Oregon and Washington.

E—For transportation of automotive gasoline within district 1 and into or within districts 2, 3, 4, and 5.

WPB said the order likely would have no effect on current efforts to increase petroleum shipments into New England.

WHEAT RETREATS ON PESSIMISTIC VIEW OF PARITY

Rye Also Down, But Corn and Beans Gain.

Apprehension that inclusion of a higher parity formula for farm products in the price control bill would bring only a Presidential veto caused a sharp reaction in the wheat market after futures had advanced about 1 cent a bushel in early trading on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

Prices closed near their lows for the day with losses of ¼ to ⅜ cent. December wheat finished at $1.28¼ after reaching $1.29⅜, a high since last May. Liquidation also developed in rye, and the close was 1¾ to 1⅞ cents lower.

The early bulge was attributed to passage of a price control bill by the house which provides that labor costs be included in determining farm parity prices and reports that the senate would take like action.

Corn, Beans, Independent.

Corn and soy beans developed independent strength owing to expectations of unusually low temperatures for this season developing in the corn belt. Corn closed ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher and soy beans gained ½ cent. Oats were ⅜ to ½ cent lower.

Maturity of the new corn crop varies greatly within relatively small areas, representing the difference in the time of planting and in the variety of seed grain, it is said. New corn is reported to have been delivered at a central Illinois grain elevator on Wednesday, and tested 26 per cent moisture.

Freeze Still Feared.

New soy beans are expected to be shipped from that area within 10 days, with combining now underway. Other reports indicate that a hard freeze would cause considerable damage to the less matured corn and soy beans.

Mills were reported to be in the market for fairly liberal supplies of wheat, with sales at leading markets estimated at 150,000 bushels or more.

The department of agriculture will buy a large quantity of damaged wheat from northwestern farmers and sell it for live stock feed, it was announced.

HOG MARKET RISE HALTED AS FARM SHIPMENTS GAIN

But Average Price Drops Only a Trifle.

A moderate increase in live stock shipments yesterday halted the recent steady rise in hog prices at the Chicago stockyards, but only 5 cents a hundred pounds was shaved off the average price, which had advanced $1.10 during the preceding 10 days. It was the first time the average showed a loss in almost two weeks.

Best loads of hogs sold off 10 cents to $15.20, standing only 20 cents above the $15 average. This was the narrowest spread of the season and among the smallest on record for a late September.

Heavy Hogs Top List.

The lard shortage held all heavy hogs at the head of the price list again yesterday. The top price was paid for prime 293 pound hogs. Butchers weighing 325 pounds reached $15.15, while $15.10 was paid for stock averaging 446 pounds. Such kinds a month ago sold $1 under the top young hogs.

Most young hogs weighing 200 to 225 pounds sold at $14.90 to $15.10, while 170 to 190 pounders brought $14.30 to $14.90.

Even sows were worth more than many of the lighter 1942 spring pigs.

First Increase of Week.

Aggregate supplies of live stock showed an increase over the week ago total for the first time this week. The 20 leading market points received 221,000 cattle, hogs, and sheep, compared with 215,000 a week earlier. The four day total was 972,000 head, compared with 1,132,000 last week.

Commodities

Cotton futures closed yesterday at declines of 40 to 75 cents a bale after hedge selling and liquidation in the final hours pared earlier gains. The decline, traders said, was attributed to talk that President Roosevelt might veto legislation containing higher parity provisions.

BANKS' EXCESS RESERVES DROP BILLION IN WEEK

Government Deposit Rise Is Factor in Tumble.

Excess reserves of member banks in the week ended Wednesday tumbled 1 billion 10 million dollars, or nearly one third, the federal reserve board reported last night. The total was 2 billion 30 million, against 3 billion 40 million a week earlier.

In Chicago, the excess reserves fell to 26 millions, from 68 millions a week earlier, largely because the amount of reserves required was boosted as a result of a rise of 226 million dollars in government deposits in the Chicago member banks. The banks had to provide 22 per cent, or about $49,700,000, of reserves against the additional deposits.

Bookkeeping Indicated.

A jump of 217 millions in the Chicago member banks' holdings of treasury certificates of indebtedness indicated that the bulk of the added deposits resulted from bookkeeping transactions in which the banks, instead of paying cash for the certificates purchased, credited the government with an equal amount of deposits.

The factors which cut the excess reserves nationally were increases of 479 millions in treasury deposits with federal reserve banks, 52 millions in nonmember deposits and other federal reserve accounts, and 79 millions in money in circulation, together with a drop of 276 millions in reserve bank credit.

Ickes to Seek Longer Hours in Coal Mines

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Solid Fuels Coördinator Harold L. Ickes today summoned producers and labor representatives to a conference to consider longer working hours in the nation's coal mines to meet wartime requirements.

Ickes announced that more than 35 persons, representing virtually every wage-negotiating unit in both the bituminous and anthracite industries, had been requested to meet with him here next Tuesday.

Bigger Output "Imperative."

He said expected requirements for 1943 exceeded 1942 production and that it was "imperative" that increased hours of work be considered immediately.

Contracts of the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] generally call for a 5 day 35 hour week in both bituminous and anthracite mines. Anthracite contracts however, allow for a 6 day week 12 weeks a year beginning in November.

UMWA officials said they understood Ickes would ask for a 6 day, 42 hour week.

No Present Shortage.

These officials said there was no shortage of coal at present, but that enlistments of miners in the armed services had created a problem.

Ickes said preliminary estimates indicated requirements for 1943 would approximate 600 million tons of bituminous and 60 million tons of anthracite. He estimated 1942 production at 560 million tons of bituminous and 58 million tons of anthracite.

Mines must obtain sufficient mining equipment and supplies to maintain expanded operations, Ickes said. He again urged consumers to maintain stock piles at present levels and to increase them at every opportunity."
